TESTS TAKEN BY STUDENTS

Scores Will Be Checked By FERA Students

Tests were given to all regular sophomore students in Hardie Auditorium on Thursday and Friday mornings, April 2 and 3, respectively. Dr. W. R. Atkinson issued the instructions.

The test on Thursday began at 9 A.M. and lasted for approximately three hours. It was composed of questions on English and General Literature acquaintance. Today there is a General Culture Test, which lasts from 9 A.M. until 1 P.M.

SOME AMAZING SUGGESTIONS FOR "GOING AS YOU FEEL" COSTUMES

By NORMAN SHAPIRO

In response to the frantic pleas of the Carnival Committee, many students have decided to attend the fracas in costume. However, much doubt has been registered as to the appropriate type of attire, and it is to answer many requests that this article has been conceived.

Naturally, in carrying out the theme of "dressing as you feel," one may expect a very bright young person to appear dressed in red tights, tail and horns—feeling like Hell. Again it would be no surprise to many if a goody number meandered into the gym apparelled in the latest in angels' wings—feeling flighty.

The demand for original regalia will undoubtedly cause a few benighted souls to appear unshaven—feeling rough and tough, while at least one lonely individual, having been jilted by the "only one in the world," will appear dressed "as blue as blue can be."

Curtis Johnson, left, and Lucille Woods were named King and Queen of the annual April Fool Carnival to be held tomorrow night.

M'INNES NAMED RADIO MANAGER

In Charge Of Southwestern Programs

A. Randall MacInnes has been appointed production manager of the series of radio programs to be broadcast by the student body of Southwestern over Radio Station WMC, beginning tonight at 7:45 o'clock, in Hardie Auditorium.

The program is to consist of a play continued from week to week representing the life at Southwestern of Bob Terry and his chum, Dan Russell. Dr. Diehl will inaugurate the series with a brief talk at the beginning of tonight's program. Dr. Roth from WMC will announce for the first program, with MacInnes probably taking the job for the succeeding programs.

The manager expressed a desire for support from the students as a whole. "This is," he says, "the biggest thing Southwestern has undertaken for some time; people from at least three states, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Alabama, and perhaps more, will be listening to this program, and everyone must work together to make it a success." PLAYERS TO REHEARSE

Three One-act Plays Will Be Presented

Rehearsals for the three one-act plays to be presented by the Southwestern Players will begin Monday, announced Prof. Linton, director, yesterday.

The first one-act play to be presented is "The Valiant," a melodramatic play which centers around the warden's office in a modern prison. Doris Bowden and Randall MacInnes are carrying the leading roles, and are supported by Selby Bobzein, Herbert Bingham, Murrah Gattis and Peyton Sibley.

The second play in this series is a fantasy, "Aria da Capa," in which Charles Taylor, Marjorie Walker, Frank Campbell, Steve Frazier, Chas. Freeberg and Henry Mobley all play prominent parts.

The final selection of the committee is a rollicking comedy, "Sparking." Ralph Brown, as the awkward "hill-billy" in search of someone to "sort of look after him and to keep his house in order," comes into his own as a good comedian.

Herbert Bingham, John Maxwell and Marjorie Walker have been added to the Southwestern Players as promising young thespians.

KA TO BUILD ON CAMPUS

Alumnus Gerald Fay Plans New Structure

Kappa Alpha fraternity will begin work on their house, which is to be erected on the campus, in the next few days, announced Billy Armstrong, treasurer of the alumni, yesterday.

The plans, laid out by the college for the arrangement of the fraternity houses, call for a square of ground, surrounded by the houses, backed up to each other. The two houses already built form a part of the front row. The Kappa Alpha house will begin another row, which will form the side facing the tennis courts. A road will eventually be built in front of the house.

The house will be built of the familiar stone and in the same Gothic style used in all Southwestern buildings. There will be four rooms, including a kitchen. The entrance-way will lead upstairs to the balcony, which will hold a ping-pong table. The main room will be large, with a big fireplace at one end. The walls in this room will be of polished stone.

Gerald Fay, an alumnus, is the architect. He hopes to complete the work within six weeks.

SOUTH TO ROMAR BEACH IS AIM OF VACATION-MINDED STUDENTS

By JOE STUART

Four Southwestern students are going to survive on beans and fish (if they have any luck) during the Easter Holidays.

Tom Mills, Glen Gates, Walter May and Leon Jones are going to rough it at Romar Beach, on the Gulf of Mexico, about 14 miles from Foley, Ala.

Leaving Wednesday afternoon, the quartet plan to drive all night and arrive early Thursday morning. They will occupy the same cabin that Drs. Monk, Davis, Johnson, and Raford Herbert used last summer.

Their sole purpose in going is to fish, swim and lie around (in the sun if there is any).

There is a chance that five or six other Southwestern students will meet them there. Driving in Jones' car, they hope to arrive back in time for classes the following Tuesday.

Good Ideas—Action

The newly formed Inter-fraternity Council—if it is to be called that—has, already in the short time of its existence, proven its value as a campus organization.

The suggestion to all fraternities that they enact within their own groups, rules requiring a 75 per cent passing average of all members was an excellent one, and good results have been derived.

Also, the movement to reorganize the present intra-mural set-up throughout is commendable. However, there is a hold-up somewhere. What is the hitch?

The hitch seems to be that the coaches, who have in the past been in charge of intra-mural activities, and the representatives of the Council are unable to get together. It is hard to say who is to blame but it is evident that both the coaches and students are not doing their part.

Interest in this needed change is waning purely because of the inactivity of both groups concerned in the intra-mural problem.

The reorganization of the intra-mural program has been UNDERWAY for some weeks. Why not finish up the job?

This Thing Of A Union

On more than one occasion, the local division of the Musicians Federation has caused college dance promoters and Southwestern dancers no little inconvenience and annoyance.

The present grievance was caused by the union's action in regard to the "S" Club dance on tomorrow night. As was advertised, the promoters of this affair contracted for the services of Cecil Golly and orchestra. But will the students hear Golly and company tomorrow night? They certainly will not.

Fay Anderson's band has been substituted by the local union, to be led by director Golly.

Another similar instance occurred in the fall of last year, only on this occasion the union was unsuccessful in their efforts.

Joe Venuti was booked by the "S" Club to play for a dance following the Southwestern-Howard grid contest. The local union disliked the idea of an out-of-town band working for a Memphis dance. As the result, serious complications arose and the Lynx were lucky to dance to the music of Venuti.

Several good non-union bands are available in the city and college groups could easily limit themselves to the music of these bands. If this is done, there would be no trouble from union leaders who pay no attention whatsoever to agreements and understandings.

Thanks For The Letter

A "letter to the editor" will be found in this issue from John W. Spence in regard to the marking of library books.

The letter is well written and shows reasoning. However, it is doubted that his plan will work here. We are certain our Librarian would adhere to no such plan, and would possibly be in the right because of reasons unknown to library users in general.

We thank Spence for using this medium of making known his ideas. We also hope that more students will, in the future, follow his example.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Thomas C. Fuller, Editor, The Sou'wester, Southwestern.

Dear Editor: "Well, you have your new books now. I see some of them are already marked up. Well, go ahead. I have found that marking, underlining, dog-eared corners is the best way to learn what's in a book. I do it myself. It does help. It makes your books more personal, and, after all, since the purpose of this course is to teach you to love books for what's in them. I say again, go ahead and mark 'em up. I don't care."

These are the words of an instructor of mine in prep school. The man spoke as one who had taught for seventeen years and watched the treatment of books all that time.

On the strength of this and my own experience I have undertaken the seemingly absurd and preposterous task of justifying the marking of library books! I am attempting this because I have observed that about three-fourths of the students mark up their own books. Furthermore, to stop and copy very sentence and paragraph that one considers important, makes reading immeasurably slower, and less enlightening since the task of copying breaks the train of thought that the author is trying to create.

The tendency to mark library books is even stronger than to mark one's own books because library books are not constantly at hand as are one's own. Of course, I realize that the dog-eared, underlined and indiscriminate marking of library books, books which perhaps dozens of others must use, cannot be condoned. What then? You will notice that I have said I would attempt to justify the marking of books. I did not say anything about justifying the use of fountain pens, the heavy under-scoring of line after line, etc.

I would like to suggest that the students who wish to mark passages use a pencil lightly. A check could be put in the margin beside the line which contains the important statement. Longer passages could be bracketed. The student might keep beside him a piece of paper on which to jot down the page numbers. When the student has finished reading, in going through the book to copy his notes, he would erase the marks.

Are library assistants going to be saddled with the duty of going through every book looking for marks after a reader has returned a book? No! The next reader will simply report it. To check up from the point would be the matter of a moment. There need be no thought of being a "tattle-tale." The student reporting such an inconspicuous use of abuse of a privilege is rendering a service to the future readers of the book, and he need have no fear of the dire consequences to the culprit. The punishment would be a 10 cent fine. The matter is as simple as that.

Sincerely yours, JOHN W. SPENCE.

What, No Graduation!

How would you like to turn up after four years at college without a degree all because of cuts?

According to announcement emphasized this week by Dean Johnson, all cuts two days previous and two days following holidays are counted double.

These cuts are then added to chapel cuts already taken and when the total exceeds fifteen one hour of credit is deducted.

THE DIAL

Rhaps and Rhapsodies: Rhap to Johnny Hamp (Peabody) for the unheralded announcing of his programs (world famous band, some stuff!)... Rhapsody to Lucky Strike for its consistently smooth programs weekly. Rhap to Ray Noble (this hurts) due to his continuous chatting in introducing numbers on his program.

Chit-Chat: Too much hill-billy music over local stations is becoming obnoxious... to settle a much argued question, to the best of our knowledge, the Lombardoes, not Jan Garber, first introduced the off-key, wailing saxophones into their orchestrations. Garber picked it up in 1928... let's all be patriotic and listen to Southwestern's initial appearance on the air lane. Considerable time and effort has been put into these coming programs. Dial WMC at 7:45 tonight.

Happenings of '35—

The ATO's and Sigma Nus are tied for top position in interfraternity basketball with two victories each.

The Kappa Sigs, ATO's, and Sigma Nus were victorious in the first of the interfraternity basketball games played this week.

Plans are being completed for the second Mississippi Valley High School Press Convention, to be held at Southwestern, probably the second week in April, it is announced by Professor C. Gordon Siefkin, advisor to the Press Club.

Southwestern's track team will be built around two of the best track stars ever to perform for the Lynx: John Barnes and Herman Davis. The first meet will be here, with Sewanee furnishing the opposition.

At a recent meeting of the Men's Panhellenic Council it was decided to make the editor of the Sou'wester an ex-officio member of the council. This move was made in order that the Sou'wester could get the news of the council from direct observation.

Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m., the third annual Vesper Service of the year will be held in Hardie Auditorium.

His friends call it madness but he calls it golf. Young people today are alike in many disrespects.

Potter's Clay—

Editor's Note: This column, submitted by a "free-lancer," does not necessarily comply with the policy of The Sou'wester. You may answer him, however, in "Letters to the Editor."

Well! Well! Well! Potter's Clay is happy to announce that the wildest dreams of Lewis Carroll have come true, and that the marvelous drinks which made Alice (of Wonderland fame) grow either small or large have been rediscovered. They utilized one day last week to allow the writer to become very small, crawl under the doors of the chapel and then to resume his normal stature. Once inside, the writer decided that, inasmuch as he had taken quite a bit of trouble to secure admission, he should survey critically the scene he was privileged to look upon.

To begin with, the students (at least 42 1/2% of them) arose and gave voice with extreme reverence to the strains of the Dology. It must be that the presence of a guest speaker was conducive to order, for the frantic grubbing through books in preparation for the 9 o'clock class was confined to about 16 1/2% of the audience. The remainder (100%—42 1/2%—16 1/2% equals what?) really should not have been classified as audience, for they were totally unable to hear a single word. Morpheus, the god of sleep, had continued to reign over Jehovah. Outside of eight mispronounced words the singing was acceptable.

Then the speaker arose and began his dissertation. The writer is not able to give an adequate criticism of the speech, for unfortunately one young lady nearby was busily engrossed in trying to find out from a neighbor the content of the discussion. Owing to the negligence of the speaker, mimeographed copies of the sermon had not been provided, and consequently her quest was fruitless, and the lecture was totally lost, as far as the writer is concerned. However, one must admit that this was not the only offender. A wax wrapper from a bar of candy, and a bit of loudly popping chewing gum shared honors with the fair damsel, and rattling pages of books contributed greatly to the general hubbub. In general, however, the influence of the speaker held, and the book-users refrained from their usual activities, although the audience became rather restless toward the end of the period and even showed signs of returning to former practices.

The student assembly seemed somewhat better, either from the fact that the students were somewhat tired, or from the fact that the writer did not expect as much as he did during the religious(?) portion of the period. Of course, conversations among the members of the audience (practically everyone was awake now) disrupted the proceedings a great deal, but nothing out of the ordinary occurred. In fact, probably an all-time low was reached in announcements of meetings with only twelve recorded. Wise cracks were reduced to a mere sixteen, and personal insults to three.

As a result of the more or less scientific study presented herein, the writer suggests that the American missionary societies spend at least one-half of their budgets for the next ten years to found missionary societies in foreign countries, so that these so-called heathens can send their missionaries to Southwestern to spread the benefits of their civilization among our much less cultured associates.

Heed The Shrubbery

Students have been asked to take care of the new budding shrubbery so much in evidence on the campus.

Heed this request when walking from one building to another and permit the shrubs to grow.

Mrs. Diehl has been untiring in her effort to beautify the college grounds and deserves the aid and cooperation of the students in attaining this goal.

Inconsiderate Chapel Attitude

The extremely annoying and inconsiderate attitude of a number of students while in chapel has been noted of late. For the most part, the offenders are confined to the freshman section, and to them this editorial is addressed.

It is not an uncommon practice for a small number of you "fifth year high school students" to remain seated during the entire devotional period. You are often heard—not only seen—talking and otherwise causing disturbance while some well-meaning faculty member is struggling through the Scripture or a prayer.

Such action on the part of the student shows very bad taste and is irreverent to the nth degree.

It has been suggested that all students not standing and joining in on the program be marked absent by the chapel monitor. Such a suggestion is not out of line with the "force" policy carried out in regard to our student assembly attendance and could be used to good advantage.

COLLEGIATE GLEANINGS

THINK OF OUR OWN The second meeting of the Tennessee College Press Association held here last week was the most successful meeting in the history of the organization. Delegates from other schools were accorded a real southern welcome, and everyone seemed to enjoy the meeting. By THOMAS McLEMORE

The epic of the railroad in the building of the Dominion of Canada, and in particular, the romantic history of the Canadian Pacific, with historical background dating back to the time of Marco Polo, is the central theme of "Steel of Empire," by John M. Gibbon, probably the most outstanding new book in our library this week. Mr. Gibbon traces the story from the legend of a Northwest Passage to the Orient down to the modern commercial Northwest Passage in the form of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Incidentally, this book refutes the possibility of a trade war between the United States and its northern neighbor, and aids in an intelligent understanding of the railroad problems of the United States. And above all, it makes interesting reading.

Foremost among new biographies is the life of Don Juan of Austria, the man to whom the contemporary pope, Pius V, applied the New Testament passage, "There was a man sent from God, whose name was John." Where heretofore this dazzling figure has been to modern students only as the winner in the great naval battle of Lepanto against the Turks, Mr. Slocombe in this work has publicized the events of the rest of his adventurous life, which have been little known. Who, for instance, thinks of him in connection with Mary Stuart, in conjunction with whom he was intriguing to seize the throne of England? This book, by an authority on the affairs of the sixteenth century, should be read by anyone at all interested in the period, and further, by everyone who likes a romantic biography.

There is a book of well written short stories in our library this week called "The White Horses of Vienna and Other Stories," by Kay Boyle. Several stories originally published in magazines are reprinted in its pages. The characters in these stories seem almost ready to come to life; you may open the book at any page, and become instantly engrossed in the story, so skillfully and realistically is it written.

Pearl S. Buck, in her new book, "The Exile," gives the life story of her mother, an American woman who spent the greater part of her life in China, and who, though in exile, remained completely American, and also taught her children to be so. This story is written with fictitious names, but the characters are from real life, based on the diaries and words of Miss Buck's mother, and her own recollections.

"Paraguayan Interlude," by C. W. Thurlow Craig, describes life in Paraguay, the sanctuary of political refugees and criminals of all descriptions. Paraguay is at present much the same as our own West was in the latter part of the last century. Mr. Craig tells of his own residence in Paraguay as a ranch foreman for three years. He tells of the friends he made in the Chaco, all cattle-rustlers, thieves and murderers, but, according to Mr. Craig, good fellows almost without exception. He indeed succeeds in throwing a glamor over a very disreputable and uncivilized mode of life.

"I Was a Soviet Worker," by Andrew Smith, pictures communism as it really exists in Russia, rather than as the Russian government would have outsiders believe it exists. Mr. Smith and his wife were enthusiastic American communists, who went to Russia intending to live there the rest of their lives, and who actually spent three years in Russia as a part of the communist regime. The result of this period of residence was that Mr. Smith wrote this book to discourage others from following in his steps. In so doing he has presented a valuable inside picture of the Soviet government, and the actual facts about it, as opposed to the propaganda.

Other new books in our library this week are "Destiny Bay," by Donn Byrne, fiction dealing with Ireland, and a book containing numerous illustrations of African Negro Art.

TRACK EVENT TO HAVE NEW RULES

Preliminary Meet To Be Last
Of April

The Intramural track meet this spring will be governed by new and entirely different rules, as decided by the Intramural Board at a recent meeting.

Only three men from any one group will be eligible to enter any one event. A particular man from any one group will be eligible to enter only three events. If any group does not enter at least one man in every event, that group will forfeit ten points.

Each man entering an event will get one point which counts for his group towards the Intramural cup. If he places in the event he will get those points added. The group whose team wins the meet will receive 25 additional points that count toward the cup.

Last year every man from each group had to enter every event; otherwise points were forfeited. Two additional events have been added.

Preliminaries in the events will be held on the last Saturday in April. The finals in each event will be held on the first Saturday in May.

The events in order in which they will be run follow:

Pole vault, 100-yard dash, shot put, 880-yard run, discus, 220-yard run, high jump, 120 low hurdles, 440-yard run, broad jump, mile relay.

As Usual—She Bit

Effie Reid says she was "terribly mortified" this week.

It all happened when she invited Mrs. Townsend to ride with her to the juvenile court for a sociology assignment. Suddenly she realized that she hadn't a driving license and decided the risk was just too great with the Dean of Women in the car.

So down to the police station she went and asked for a license. A lengthy questionnaire called for a series of "yesses," so Effie in her usual effervescent manner proceeded to mark the entire list in the affirmative.

"Umm," said the officer, scratching his head perplexingly, "so you drive your car while intoxicated?"

Poor Effie! One question in the whole list needed a negative answer, and as usual, she bit!

Murray Rasberry is of the opinion that some other people besides Jimmy Durante have good noses. Razz recently got a box of food from home and opened it up one night for the benefit of his roommates. According to Razz, everybody that came in Calvin Hall that night sniffed at the door and tried to get in. He avers that from now on he will have his rations deodorized.

We were sorry to hear of the departure from school of Mulherrin and hope that he will come back to see us again soon.

There are only two things that will make the "Deacon" Barnes sick: the missing of a meal, and the decrease in his use of nicotine.

This is my first attempt at writing this column and if I live long enough I might write it again next week. Maybe!

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

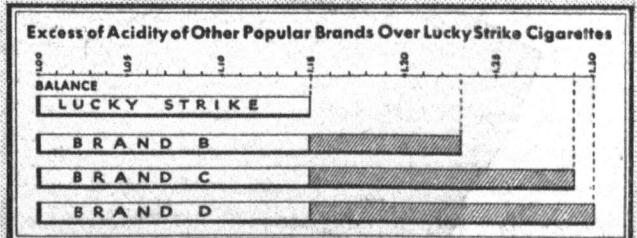

Although the constituents of cigarette paper are, in themselves, unsurpassed in purity and wholesomeness, it may, if crudely fabricated, contribute a marked degree of irritation to cigarette smoke. Cigarette paper not only envelops the tobacco in forming a cigarette, but through its physical properties may exercise a favorable or detrimental influence upon the products of combustion.

Paper for Lucky Strike Cigarettes is made under our own supervision. Samples of each lot of cigarette paper manufactured are subjected to the most rigid analysis before it is used in making Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

LYNX PREPARE FOR JONESBORO

Will Compete In Tennessee And A.A.U. Meet

During the past month the Lynx cindermen have been getting into shape for their first meet which is to be with Arkansas State the first Friday after students return from the Easter holidays. The meet will be on Fargason Field.

The team will probably be composed of the following men: Marion Cobb, Wave McFadden, Herman Davis, Erskine Falls, Sherman Kelly, and Murray Raspberry.

Coach Harold High announced that the team would go to Sewanee for the state-wide meet of all four year colleges in the state of Tennessee. He

The Intramural track meet has been changed around until it should finally suit everybody—if that is possible considering the groups concerned. We realize that if that state of theoretical perfection was reached where each group had its every wish, someone would still rise and gripe—it's gotten to be a habit.

But to get back to the track meet. The new rules, which appear in this issue, seem absolutely fair. The Intramural Board passed them. That is, the Intramural Board was supposed to pass them. Actually Coach Propst, the Intramural Director, and the assistant director passed them because for some reason or another, the representatives, most of them, after they had gotten off their little "gripe" about how things had been done up until then, left the meeting.

Of course it isn't likely that the Intramural Board will like the rules. We'll hear all about their disadvantages at the next meeting.

Besides the Intramural Board the Intramural Director has had another "stumbling block" strewn in its path. The Interfraternity Council has taken upon itself to run Intramurals. That is, that's what they want to do. Well, there's just one thing to say. Southwestern pays a man to give us an athletic program and direct it. That man was Coach Miller, who recently resigned. Coach Propst will take his place during the Spring, after which a new man will be given the position.

Now this man is supposed to know his business. It is up to him to give the boys here, as a whole, an athletic program. He gets paid to do that.

It is logical to suppose that he would know more than either the Intramural Board or the IFC about sports!

Now the Coach who handles these sports activities appoints a director who should be enough of an athlete to know what it's all about. The director, in turn, appoints an assistant.

The IFC demands that this coach of Intramurals just take a back seat and turn the whole program over to them or their representatives. Naturally such a demand is almost unworthy of consideration.

To say the least, the IFC has gone

KS HORSESHOE DUO WINS TOURNAMENT

Kappa Sigma fraternity won the annual intra-fraternity horseshoe tournament Monday afternoon with Sigma Nu, A. T. O., and Kappa Alpha tying for second place.

Andy Myers and David Flowers composed the Kappa Sigma team. The horseshoe tournament is one of the minor tournaments of the intramural program, therefore the winners received only 245 points and second place received 200 points.

about it in the wrong way. It schedules a meeting with Coach Propst, and nobody shows up.

Rather than discussing the situation over with Coach Propst, it comes out with demands. These, incidentally, it will present if the coach can arrange his time to suit the council.

No one is more willing to accept suggestions than Coach Propst. He said so himself: "They can give all the suggestions they want. If they're good, that's what we want. But as for putting things in their hands—well, every thing will be alright until politics enters in. Then the foot comes down."

But, of course, the IFC would never think of the little thing, politics. Such a thing would never enter into their scheme of affairs! Oh well—

It seems that the "S" Club is running into a bit of trouble on its own hook in trying to make a few greenbacks in order to build a club house. A hundred dollars, they say, would do the trick. It would be one of the best investments they could make.

Their trouble was in getting a suitable orchestra. Cecil Golly, as you know, was the first choice. But due to orchestra union regulation this orchestra cannot be used. Instead Fay Anderson and his orchestra will play. Incidentally tickets have been reduced to $1.10 per couple.

TENNIS PLAYERS TO MEET VANDY

Weekly Ranking Of Locals To Continue

The Southwestern net men will continue their schedule Saturday when they meet the Vanderbilt team on the Lynx courts. It is possible that some freshman matches will be played in addition to the varsity competition.

Last year the Lynx defeated Vanderbilt nine matches to none. It is not likely that they will be able to repeat this season, but the Lynx are favored to win.

A "round-robin" tournament will be held this week to determine the ranking for the matches Saturday. This system is to be used throughout the season in order to obtain the best weekly ranking of the players.

SUPERIOR LYNX BEAT CHOCTAWS

Defeat Mississippi Team By Seven To None

The Southwestern tennis team began its season Tuesday by defeating Mississippi College seven matches to none on the Lynx courts. It was an unimpressive victory and was no real test of the team's strength.

In the first match Woody Butler defeated Sam Lawrence 6-0, 6-0. Dickie Dunlap defeated Burt Lawrence 6-1, 6-2. Dunlap Cannon defeated Howard Morris 6-0, 6-0.

In the most interesting match of the day, David Flowers defeated Ham Rogers 6-4, 5-7, 6-3. Dorsey Barfield won over Bill Beswick 6-0, 6-0. With the exception of the Flowers-Rogers match the singles play was rather slow and unexciting.

The doubles matches were more closely contested. Dunlap Cannon and Dickie Dunlap defeated Sam and Burt Lawrence 6-1, 6-1. In the second doubles match Woody Butler and David Flowers defeated Howard Morris and Ham Rogers 6-2, 6-1.

STUDENT WORKERS PLANTING HEDGES

N.Y.A. workers have been working on a system of hedges that will encircle the campus, announced Mr. J. R. Rollow. The first one was built behind Calvin Hall past Mr. Rollow's house to the fence and then to the gate.

Workers are now preparing a place for a hedge to be built along the west side of the Science Building across the road, and from the North end South to the walk beside Robb Hall.

DEMERE CHAMPION PING PONG PLAYER

Showing the same steadiness throughout the entire tournament, Mac Demere captured the Freshman Ping Pong Championship by defeating Andrew (Dewdrop) Myers 6-2, 6-0, and 6-4. Myers gained admission to the finals by consecutively defeating Pope, Flippin, Quinn, and Huber.

Demere went to the finals by defeating Hodges, Johnson, and Leake. The latter was seeded No. 1 and enabled Demere to score his greatest upset.
