SOUTHWESTERN PROFESSOR PRAISES JOURNAL IN REVIEW

BY PROF. S. H. MONK

Editor's Note: To give the students an idea of the contents of this year's journal and of its literary value we have secured this review by a member of the faculty.

The 1938 Journal is remarkably good. Its appearance is an event of some local importance, for the fact that at long last a Journal of considerable merit has been published gives us grounds for hoping that what has been done once may be done again. To say this sincerely is a pleasure to one who in recent years has strained both tact and conscience in congratulating previous editors on what has been an inferior magazine. The present issue justifies the work of its planners, Professor McIlwaine and Mr. Holcomb, as well as the subsidy of the Publications Board.

A good deal of care has obviously gone to the making of this year's Journal. There are a greater variety of subject matter and a larger group of contributors than have been customary of late. It was a happy idea to draw not only on students but on alumni, for by so doing the magazine has been made a genuinely representative Southwestern publication. It is pleasant to meet older contributors once more. Erle McGee and Rodney Baine, our most recent Rhodes Scholars, have written articles on Oxford life in strikingly different keys. Henry Oliver is represented by a note on unemployment in the South and by a group of poems of rather uneven merit, some of which (particularly the short and witty observations in vers libre) seem to me to be his best work.

The contributions of the alumni are good, but the undergraduates have done the more distinguished work. The short stories, nearly all from members of the class in Advanced Composition, are almost without exception good, and a few of them are excellent. They are surprisingly free from strained effects and from the temptation to be "literary," the greatest defects in the work of inexperienced writers.

By far the best are the stories by William McBurney, who has exploited the Cajun material of his native state with a skill that at times is professional. Especially fine are Watchers in the Tower and Cajun Woman, the first written with sensitiveness and a mature sense of form, the second with a well-controlled intensity. In all his stories one finds evidence of real talent and originality.

The anonymous Patricia Stone is a vividly realized character sketch of an amusing woman, written with keen insight. Not the least remarkable are two stories by Maynard Dabbs, The Face at Sundown and Last Respects. The first is an almost, if not quite, successful treatment of the difficult theme of the supernatural; the second reveals fully the writer's skill at dialect and his feeling for the rich, coarse humor of the rural South. His play, The Red Earth, is inferior to the stories, for it is a mere anecdote that does not justify its ambitious dramatic form.

If the other contributions are not mentioned here; it is not because they are beneath discussion. Let me repeat: the Journal as a whole is excellent. Perhaps it will encourage other students who have a secret itch for writing to do what is now demonstrably not beyond the reach of Southwestern undergraduates.

Appreciation

This is the last issue of the Sou'wester for the year 1937-38. The editor would like to take this opportunity to thank all the members of the staff for their cooperation.

It has been a pleasure to serve the student body in this capacity. Their cooperation has been all that could be expected. The editor would like to thank them for it and wants to express his sincere appreciation to all those who have striven to make the paper a finer publication.

Finally he wants to wish the incoming editor the best of success and as much peace as possible for an editor.

Reminder to the Students

Last year the attendance at the Baccalaureate Sermon was very disappointing. In past years the college has required attendance at this part of the commencement program but since many of the out-of-town students wished to go home immediately following their exams, exceptions were granted. Finally the authorities decided to make the attendance voluntary. But they still expect and strongly urge students who can to attend.

This is as much a part of the college year as any other activity and the students should support it. To make the service impressive it is necessary for a good percentage of the students to be present.

This year every town student and those from out of town who are able should be at the Second Presbyterian Church for the Baccalaureate sermon.

LOOT . . . From the Exchange Desk

A fourteen year old rural Georgia youth, with but two years of formal schooling, has Emory University professor a bit bewildered. His name is Willis Dysart, and he has the astounding capacity for doing mathematical unbelievables, such as finding the square root of 138,799,961 and adding seven three digit figures—all without pencil and paper. One of his special stunts is to ask your birthdate and then tell your age in the number of seconds you have lived.

Our Cotton Carnival, being on the go now, makes news. One of the dance bands, Clyde Lucas, played at Tulane on May 7 for the Cotillion Club's Paul Dance. They liked him "tres bien".

Off the Cuff:

It costs the government $14,000 to train, at Annapolis, an officer of the U. S. Navy. . . . The largest R. O. T. C. unit in the U. S. is at Ohio State University. It forms a company of over a half-mile long. . . . College students of today are heavier and taller than they were twenty years ago. Also they spend approximately five hours a week in bull sessions. . . . A contest is being held on the University of New Mexico campus to find the male student with the ugliest legs. . . . Sixteen thousand mirrors lighted up the Green Key prom at Dartmouth College. . . . The youngest university in the U. S. is that of Newark, founded in 1934.

Next fall's Michigan State College freshmen will arrive already oriented. At least they will be if they listen to a new series of radio programs the college is sponsoring. The programs will tell all about registration, payment of fees, and other formalities. This is believed to be the first time radio has been used in this type of work.

Germans are naming their new battleships after jokes, so the English can't catch 'em.

Five essentials of a good date:

1. She doesn't eat in between meals.
2. She is good looking.
3. She doesn't eat too much.
4. She talks well.
5. She doesn't eat.

At last the fair ones who proudly display the fraternity pins of their male friends have gained the protection of the courts! At least they have the protection of a University of Oklahoma student lawyers' practice court whose jury ruled that "hanging a pin" is promise of marriage and the basis for a breach of promise suit. In its first case on the subject, the jury awarded damages of three cents to the suing female, with the side suggestion that the money be used to write to Dorothy Dix for advice about men in general.

Lynx Chat

Carnival Week:

With the Cotton Carnival in full swing, several of our social butterflies deserted the local campus to come back with rather drooping spirits Saturday. . . . Marjorie DeVall was certainly having a gay time at the ball Friday night with a blond stranger. . . . Also saw Betsy and George sitting out with Ann Eckert and escort. . . . Several of the dormitory boys were there but most of them were too tired from the night before. . . . Despite a good deal of competition the K.A.'s really gave a grand party. . . . The Purdue boys caused quite a flutter among the co-eds as they snapped their pictures on the campus. . . . Bernadine looking her cutest in black and Harriette Hollis wearing her best smile for Boydston. . . . Several of the high school girls were there and having a good time. . . . guess this will interest Kite though he seemed quite interested in Ila Joy. . . . P. S. back on his old stomping grounds with Carolyn though we still think Henri Watson is number one with that party. . . . Disregarding half dozen rivals, Richard Chauncey ventured out with GERALYN Allen while his erstwhile flame, Betty Jane Stitch came with Hamp Morrison.

Reverse Party:

We couldn't resist dropping in on the K.D. backward dance and see the fairer sex seeking their revenge on about 100 scared boys. . . . Erskine quite the belle of the ball though Mobley and McGrady gave him a little competition. . . . Little Ricker and Paine mourning for their O.A.O.'s who were in lab. . . . Barney Gallagher sporting a vegetable corsage, while Clois Neal was very dignified despite his sweetheart corsage. . . . Charlie King coming in with Martha Forrest and Jane Gilfillen. . . . Also Pat and Beverly still at it.

Book Review

Brooks Too Broad for Leaping, by Flannery Lewis.

Professor Shewmaker has often said that college students are still mentally and emotionally children. If this is true, Flannery Lewis' novel of the life and impressions of a seven-year-old boy should be very interesting. There is a freshness and simplicity about the book that can only be described as charming. In unadorned language is told the story of young Mark, who, his father being in the medical corps in France, regards himself as protector of his beautiful young mother. His impressions of his world and that of grown-ups, sometimes confusing to the lad, are seen throughout only through his eyes, with no attempt to pry out underlying psychological motives. Written in truly delightful fashion it will bring back fond but half-forgotten memories of our own childhood.

Red Star Over China, by Edgar Snow.

Edgar Snow, renowned foreign correspondent, has given us a record of much importance, covering the life of China during the past nine years. For those who want to really understand what is happening in China today, this book offers an admirable opportunity to get behind-the-headline information. Correspondent Snow penetrated deep into northwest China for this story, bringing back the only photographs taken behind the lines of the Red Chinese army, and with them he has profusely illustrated his book.

HOW TO VOTE TWELVE TIMES DESPITE ELECTIONS COMMISSION

How to Vote Twelve Times and Put your Cigarette Butt in the Ballot Box without being Detected—by George Jackson, recently chosen "The Nation's Ideal Voter" by the Politician's Weekly Digest's nation-wide survey: "The vote in the ballot box is worth two somewhere else" and "The hand is quicker than the eye" are two old adages that will repay careful study by the amateur ballot-box bull dozer", said Mr. Jackson, being interviewed in his palatial hotel suite. Flicking the ash off his Corona-Corona, he continued, "I will outline completely in brief what I consider the most devastating essentials of my profession. I feel that by printing this I will be doing a great, great service to the youthful voters of the nation and to the world in general, plebicides excluded. The most effective method is what I call the Cave Man or Dog-Eat-Dog method. This is simply to mow the poll keepers down with a sub-machine gun and calmly vote twelve times for your candidate, escaping under cover of night. Especially good for Supreme Court decisions and county elections. Then comes the more subtle "Why Can't My Goose sing as well as thy Goose" method. To carry this one off you must be very witty, versatile, naive, blase, and suave. Dressed in morning clothes, you nonchalantly stroll into the room, wittily remarking, "Lovely weather, isn't it?" With which you passionately embrace the woman who is handing out the ballots, all the time edging toward the box. Then spring up on the table you go into a hot-cha tap routine, flash two flashlight bulbs in her face, sing a chorus of the "Ballot Box Blues" from the picture of the same name, beat her over the head with your cane, and likewise escape under cover of night. P.S. This does not work if a man is giving out the ballots, unless he has astigmatism. Third and last and most difficult is the Man-of-a-thousand-faces or "Has anybody here seen Charlie" method. To work this one the amateur ballot stuffer should be adroit, clever, sly, crafty, glib, and superficial. I conceived this method after a lively game of Button, button, who's got the button, and the disappearing bean bag, and therefore employ the use of many disguises. Suggested disguises for men are Ra, the sun god; Timotheus Fastidious, unheard-of Latin poet; Icky McEcky, Hitler's unheard-of brother; Philip of Macedonia; Homer; or in very difficult cases our own Franklin D. (That one always slays 'em.) For the gels, suitable make-ups might be Lady Godiva; Garbo-Garbo, alluring siren of Slocum Corner, North Africa; Queen Elizabeth, who is now thought to have been a man; Cleopatra, that naughty little serpent of the Nile; and then of course there is always, at the sacrifice of one's arms, the role of Venus de Milo to fall back on. How one would mark the ballots with no arms is a problem for one to figure out by oneself. I trust that these handy, household, and polling hints will help you in later years. And I do mean you.

Down Broadway

By Mel Adams and Fred Whitner
Swing to Symphony:

Success story of the week is that of North Carolina's genial batoneer, Hal Kemp, who since his graduation in '26 has been playing dance music keyed to collegiate flavor. Hal has been invited to conduct the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for three concerts in July—the only dance band leader to be so honored. And it's all the more an honor when you consider that the genial southern maestro is a mere youngster of 33. To our way of thinking, there's real versatility in a man who can play a swingeroo like Raymond Scott's "Powerhouse," a sweet, sentimental bit like "Heart of Stone," and wield a baton through the intricate scores of Sibelius and Stravinski. Our vote of admiration to Maestro Hal. Though we hope he won't desert his dance public.

Date Bureaus vs. Divorce:

College date bureaus which have been springing up spasmodically on campii throughout the country have been cited as a step towards reducing the number of divorces in the United States. On that score, take the word of Mrs. Evelyn Millis Dowell, executive director of the Chicago Association of Child Study and Parent Education. Mrs. Duvall declared that the college date bureaus promote wholesome social contacts, and tend to give both men and women the broadening of acquaintanceships with the opposite sex, thereby making them better fitted to select their respective life partners.

When is a strike not a strike, and when is it a demonstration? That is the question that bothered University of Minnesota peace rally-ers recently, and they found the answer to be something like this: "A strike is a demonstration when the university administration calls the names." So, with great hurry and bustle, rally planners scurried about the campus to change all signs advertising the affair from "strike" to "demonstration."

Frosh Reveals Spirit He Found in College

By A FRESHMAN
On the verge of having completed one year at college, it is interesting to consider what there is about Southwestern that causes it to occupy the place in many lives and hearts that it does.

It is the spirit which accompanies the pursuit of learning and the acquisition of knowledge. Generally speaking, we do not find on the part of our teachers any high and mighty attitude of pride in great knowledge, no academic strutting like a human peacock.

The more he learns, the more he feels how much there is to be learned, and yet the more he is inspired to learn. These years in college are the only years when the pursuit of an elusive truth seems infinitely more important than the increasing of economic gain or the necessity of making a living.

Again, it is the spirit of ambition which is in the students. Many times hidden by an air of carefree nonchalance, it is almost always there, deep-rooted and firm. It is an ambition not necessarily to secure worldly goods and wealth, but to find a means of using one's talents, and to experience the satisfaction that comes from this.

The college campus offers ample opportunity for this outlet of talent—in athletics, extra-curricular activities, and fraternity competition. The college campus is not an unworthy place for the development and use of talent, because college is not preparation for life, college is life itself.

But probably primarily, it is the spirit of friendliness and good fellowship that pervades the campus. This spirit underlies and, I believe, supercedes all the varied pursuits and interests of the students. Somehow it seems, that deeper than fraternity or sorority allegiance, there is a realization that although training and tradition may have cast us in different molds, the basic stuff of our humanity is the same.

And so we feel toward Southwestern,

Buffalo University Begins New System In Business Research

Buffalo, N. Y.—(ACP)—Subordinating the study of statistics to the study of business in action, the University of Buffalo school of business administration has developed a new observation plan for the training of the future business leaders of the nation.

Outlining the purposes of the new plan, its originator, Dean Ralph C. Epstein asserts that "business research must be realistic as well as intellectual, qualitative as well as quantitative, specific as well as statistical. The business man's decision at any one time may be wise or unwise, wholly beyond his control or partly within his control, deliberate or unconscious. But they need to be studied at close range by impartial observers."

So, under the new plan, two students are assigned to each business cooperating with the school. These "observers" spend considerable of their time in the establishment they are studying, consult often with the firm's executives, learn by asking questions of workers and bosses.

and we are glad to write in the pages of its history our small message, to know the college as a friend with whom we may spend a few bright hours before we travel on. And some day, in the years to come, we will be filled with human warmth as a thousand flashing moments and familiar scenes of happy days in college come tumbling into memory.

Lynx Play Host To State Meet Starting Today

Intercollegiate Tourney For College Netmen

FINALS FOR SATURDAY

Alex Guerry, Of Sewanee, Is Favorite

Southwestern plays host today and tomorrow to the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Association tennis tournament. Some twenty colleges have been invited to send teams, but only four colleges had formally entered squads when the Sou'wester went to press Wednesday afternoon. Sewanee, Cumberland, Maryville, and Southwestern were the only entries at the time.

The tournament, held at Knoxville last year, was expected to draw an entry from Vanderbilt, but the Commodore squad was involved in an accident several days ago and will probably not enter since their star, Tommy Todd Brown, was cut about the legs and severely shaken up.

Sewanee will be led by Alex Guerry, who was runnerup to Southwestern's Dunlap Cannon in the singles championship last year. Guerry will probably be favored to capture this year's crown, with Estes of Cumberland and Tom White and Macon Smith of Southwestern given outside chances to come out on top.

Southwestern is defending champion, but should have a tougher battle than last year when the Lynx netmen made a clean sweep of the tourney.

Lynx Netmen Beat Ole Miss

Southwestern's tennis team rang up its fourth straight triumph Monday afternoon by turning back the Ole Miss netters, 7 to 2. The Lynx won all six of the singles, but lost two of the three doubles played.

SINGLES—Tom White (Lynx) defeated Miller (Ole Miss), 7-5, 6-2; Macon Smith (Lynx) defeated Shelton (Ole Miss), 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Charles Floyd (Lynx) defeated Baker (Ole Miss), 6-1, 6-2; William Murreh (Lynx) defeated Wilkinson (Ole Miss), 6-4, 6-7; Waddy West (Lynx) defeated Ross (Ole Miss), 6-1, 6-2; George Futris (Lynx) defeated Harvey (Ole Miss), West-Futris, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

DOUBLES—Miller-Shelton (Ole Miss) defeated White-Murreh (Lynx), 7-5, 6-3; Smith-Floyd (Lynx) defeated Baker-Wilkinson (Ole Miss), 6-2, 6-1; Ross-Harvey (Ole Miss) defeated West-Futris, 6-4, 6-4.

Southwestern Golfers Lose Drop Contest to Washington Univ. in Match in St. Louis

Southwestern's in-and-out golf squad journeyed to St. Louis last Friday to take a 14½ to 3½ drubbing at the hands of the Washington University niblickers. The Lynx were far off their game and though the course was in excellent shape could do little to head the Washingtonians.

Because of approaching examinations, the Lynx golfers have disbanded for the year. Student Manager Vernon Kerns announced Wednesday. A scheduled match with Louisiana State University was cancelled for the same reason.

Results:
Twosomes—Jonas Weiss (Wash. U.) defeated Carl Roth (SW), 3 to 0; Jim Black (Wash. U.) defeated Vernon Kerns (SW), 2 to 1; Harry Waring (SW) tied Bud Alexander (Wash. U.), 1½ to 1½; Jack Lich (Wash. U.) defeated Eddie Craven (SW), 3 to 0.
Foursomes—Weiss-Black (Wash. U.) defeated Kerns-Roth (SW), 3 to 0; Alexander-Lich (Wash. U.) defeated Waring-Craven (SW), 2 to 1.

The University of Virginia alumni association will request that Congress give the university the $3,000,000 fund available as a monument to Thomas Jefferson for an "educational, living tribute."

Lynx End Fourth In Carnival Meet

Indiana, Florida And Oklahoma Take First Three Places; Winfrey, Smith Shine

Southwestern's highly touted cinder squad met unceremonious defeat in last week's Cotton Carnival meet, finishing fourth behind Indiana, Florida, and Oklahoma A. & M. The Lynx scored 24 points to nose out the Mississippi State Maroons by one-half point. Indiana's Hoosiers, beaten out by one point by Southwestern in last year's Carnival meet, practically ran away from the other teams this year to score 53 points. The Florida Alligators with 31½ points and Oklahoma A. & M. with 30 markers followed in that order.

The Lynx proved woefully weak in the track events and only mediocre in the field. The defeat was the first the Lynx have suffered in two years.

Will Rhea Winfrey and Gaylon Smith did most of the work for Southwestern. Winfrey gained a second place in the shotput and a fifth in the discus. Smith garnered points with a third in the discus and a fifth in the shotput. Red Bergfeld took second place in the javelin and Orley Nettles placed third in the same event to add a few more points to the Lynx total.

John Smith of the University of Florida won the shotput with a 47 foot, 2 inch toss, with Winfrey's best being 45 feet, 9 inches.

Charlie Magg of Ohio State University, but competing unattached, took discus honors with a heave of 135 feet, 9½ inches. Smith's best was about 133 feet and Winfrey's high mark was three feet shorter.

Clarence Odell, Oklahoma A. & M., set a new Carnival record in the javelin, breezing the slender spear 184 feet, 10 inches. Bergfeld, in placing second, propelled the weapon 156 feet, 11 inches. Rain and a wet field hampered the contestants considerably.

McKay Boswell wound up his Southwestern cinder career by running third in the fourth heat of the 220-yard low hurdles. The heat was won by Ike Stevens of Florida in 28.3 seconds. Stevens finished third in the finals.

New York City (—ACP)—To remove the barriers to a broad liberal education which, as a result of the rigid requirements of the states, have hampered the training of secondary school teachers, a new five-year program has been organized by Columbia University and its Teachers College.

The new plan, as announced by Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, will provide students with greater opportunity for the study of the liberal arts, and will enable them to work on a broader front when they enter the field of secondary school teaching.

"Teachers no longer occupy watertight compartments, in which they are restricted to a narrow field of scholarship," the dean explained. "Rather, they must be prepared to function in fields other than those of their greatest interest, and to cooperate in the administration of the school curriculum as a whole."

The new program will bring into a new relationship the problem of training future teachers what to teach and how to teach.

College and university enrollments form 15 per cent of the youth of the nation of college age.
