

April Fool Revels To Be Ruled By Henry Mobley And Kitty Bright Tipton

Senior, Freshette Win Elections For Two Crowns

McGrady, Fowler To Be Lord And Lady-In-Waiting

FIVE OTHER COUPLES

Carnival Theme Will Be "Today's Dictators"

The election which was held in chapel Monday morning for the court of the April Fool Carnival swept into the limelight as King and Queen Henry Mobley and Kitty Bright Tipton. Mobley's closest successor was John McGrady, who will serve as Lord-in-Waiting, while trailing Miss Tipton by a few votes was Betsy Fowler, who automatically becomes Lady-in-Waiting.

The other couples who were decided by the student body, with the boys voting for girls and vice versa, and who will form the rest of the court the night of the Carnival, are: Billy Kelly and Jo Meux, Sam Mays and Marjorie DeVall, Tom Mobley and Anne Potts, Warren Prewitt and Minna Deen Jones, Harold Falls and Jane Bray.

The members of the court are paired according to the number of votes received and arranged in a descending order. For King, Henry Mobley received 69 votes and John McGrady 39. Balloting for the Queen was very close, with a recount which gave 88 ballots to Kitty Tipton, and 84 to Betsy Fowler. Number of votes cast for the others were: Among the boys—Billy Kelly, 36; Sam Mays, 31; Tom Mobley, 31; Warren Prewitt, 30, and Harold Falls, 29. Among the girls—Jo Meux received 73 ballots; Marjorie DeVall, 67; Anne Potts, 66; Minna Deen Jones, 56; Jane Bray, 56.

The April Fool Carnival is an annual affair which this year is scheduled for Saturday night, April 1, and which will be held in the gymnasium. Ralph Brown, who will be in charge of production, announces that the cast for the play has not been chosen yet, but that it will be by next week, and that rehearsals will begin then.

The theme of this year's Carnival, as has been announced before, is "Present Day Dictators." Mr. Brown (Continued on Page Three)

The Student Says

QUESTION

Do you believe non-fraternity men should be excluded from fraternity dances? This question is being considered by the Inter-Fraternity Council.

ANSWERS

George Humphrey: They should not be excluded. Fraternities have little enough reason for being on our campus without becoming snooty and being of less worth to the college. After all, dances should not be the reason for joining a fraternity or of primary importance to such a group.

Bill Belcher: No. There are numerous reasons why certain men are not able to join fraternities. In a small college like Southwestern it is difficult to draw the line between fraternity and non-fraternity men. To bar non-fraternity men from fraternity dances would create a great deal of ill feeling.

Billy Kelly: Since we do have fraternities on our campus and since it is an expense to be a member, I say non-fraternity men should be excluded. As it stands, there is no distinction, or very little, between non-fraternity and fraternity groups. Incidentally, this is the reason the non-fraternity group is so poorly organized.

Paintings Hung In Band House By Prof. Tuthill

A group of two portraits and fourteen still lifes painted by students of the Memphis Academy of Art have been hung in the recording room addition of the Band House, Prof. Burnett C. Tuthill announced Tuesday. The paintings were executed by Mrs. Paul Lemm, Mr. Jack Segall, Mrs. R. R. Price, Miss Helen Wilhite, Miss Geraldine Presley, Mrs. Harold Burch, Miss Edith Bailey, and Miss Lois Johnson.

Radio Broadcast Given Over WMC

History Of Southwestern Series Will Present Seventh Episode, "Campus Character"

Students who will take part in the seventh episode, "Campus Character," of the Southwestern History broadcast series next Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock over Radio Station WMC will be Ralph Brown as Dr. J. R. Shearer, Selby Bobzien as Dr. Wilson, Randall MacInnes as Dr. William Stewart, Thomas McLemore as Dr. Nicolson, Lieutenant S. K. Baker as Old Barney. Members of the supporting cast will be Sam Mays, Ben Lewis, Mary Ware, O. F. Soderstrom, John Summerfield, Marjorie DeVall, James Cogswell, Kate Weaver, Robert Cogswell, Robert Watts, and Rothrock Miller.

Chief among the characters of the episode will be Dr. Wilson, known as the Father of Southwestern, and an incurable punster, whose witty retorts will be dramatized. Another of the campus characters which will be familiar to many alumni is Old Barney, an Irishman who made Southwestern his home when the college was located at Clarksville. He sold popcorn, chewing gum and candy in the original Stewart Hall there, and became so beloved that he was cared for by the students when he became infirm.

"Forensic Frenzy" was the title of yesterday's episode describing life in the classrooms of the old college. Lectures were demonstrated, notably the case of President John Shearer whose horse fell through thin ice, and the students were made to figure logically the problem from the viewpoint of the horse. Another incident dealt with the Indians, who suddenly went on the warpath.

Stylus Chapter Of Sigma Upsilon Selects 3 Men

Ruffin, Jackson And Bobo Chosen By Literati

MEMBERSHIP IS LIMITED

Short Stories Treat Age, Insanity And Death

The Stylus chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national honorary literary fraternity, announces the selection of George Jackson, Jac Ruffin and William Bobo for membership. Chosen from a group of six contributors, these men were named for the excellence and promise of their literary contributions. Winning papers were, "That's What They Said," an ironic short story dealing with insanity, by George Jackson; "Mother's Day Musings," a short story of a condemned criminal and the woman who had adopted him as a child, by Jac Ruffin; and "Museum Piece," a biographical character study of an old lady, by William Bobo. Others who submitted papers were Billy Murphy, John Kier and Bill Lowe.

Sigma Upsilon is a national honorary literary fraternity with chapters in the leading colleges of the country. The Stylus Chapter, at Southwestern, was organized in 1920 by a group of students and members of the faculty to stimulate authorship and criticism. It is purely an honorary society, and requires a high standard of scholarship, marked literary ability, and a certain congeniality. Membership is limited to twelve, chosen from the faculty, seniors, juniors, and sophomores; but sophomores must have completed three semesters. At the bi-monthly meetings a program is given consisting of original writings and studies of works by contemporary authors. This year the club is sponsoring the Journal, yearly literary publication.

Present members are Fred Thomas, president; Thomas Pappas, vice-president; Maynard Dabbs, secretary-treasurer; H. R. Holcomb, William McBurney, George Gage, Robert Watts, and Thomas McLemore. Prof. A. S. McIlwaine is faculty adviser of the group.

Lynx Talent Night To Rival Bowes, Says Freeburg

A show of campus talent to rival Major Bowe's Amateur Hour—music, songs, dances—is being prepared for discriminating dance-goers, Charles Freeburg, in charge of the Southwestern Talent Night and Dance which is to be held in the Gymnasium next Saturday night from 8 until 12 o'clock, announced yesterday.

Henry Mobley, the old maestro of the chapel rostrum, will be master of ceremonies for the intermission exhibition. Among the latest additions to the program is Miss Joye Fourmy, Lynx danseuse, who will, naturally, dance. Other local talent to be presented is Tom White and his Lynx Cats, Jane Bray and Jack Conn, chapel songbirds; and a rhythm trio composed of Alec Cortner, Billy Bobo, and Anne Tuthill. Bill Taylor and his orchestra will furnish incidental music. Tickets will be on sale Monday morning and may be secured from Charles Freeburg or William McBurney.

Interfrat Group Holds Meeting

Delayed Rushing, Non-Frat Relations Discussed By New Council

The second meeting of the newly-organized Interfraternity Council was held Monday night at 9 o'clock in the Sigma Nu fraternity lodge with Sam Mays, Sigma Nu representative, presiding. The purpose of this group is to bring together leaders of the six social fraternities for discussion of common problems and an exchange of ideas and solutions.

Topics discussed in the open forum were payment of back dues, the possibilities of delayed rushing, the exclusion of non-fraternity men from the Panhellenic dances and the fraternity formal. This last topic is to be taken up at the separate fraternity meetings and a definite plan will be drawn up.

Representatives of other fraternities who were present were Harold Falls, Tom Mobley, Ewing Carruthers, and Charles Keed—Alpha Tau Omega; George Griesbeck, P. S. Weaver, Eugene Hardison, and William McBurney—Kappa Alpha; Malcolm Hooker—Sigma Alpha Epsilon; William Kelly and Johnson Rhem—Kappa Sigma. Pi Kappa Alpha was not represented for the second time.

The Council will meet on March 20, one week from next Monday night, at 9 o'clock in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house. All groups are urged to have representatives present.

New Course Of Jiu-Jitsu Adds Spice To Gym

Coach Paul Hug, versatile professor of physical education, has added still another course to the schedule of physical education for men. The new course is Judo, the modern science of jiu-jitsu. Textbook used in the course is "Jiu Jitsu," by Doctor T. Shozo Kuwashima and Ashbel R. Welsh. Coach Hug asked the classes in jiu-jitsu to "take it easy," because he didn't want any broken arms or necks lying around the gym. Attendance in the jiu-jitsu classes has been good so far, and this indicates the growing popularity of the course.

K. A. ELECTS RUFFIN

Jac Ruffin was elected president of Alpha Epsilon chapter of Kappa Alpha Monday night. He will serve for one year. William McBurney and Eugene Hardison were named first and second vice-president. Other officers will be appointed by Ruffin in the near future, and installation will take place in April.

Outgoing officers were George Griesbeck, Warren Prewitt, and P. S. Weaver.

E. B. LeMaster Is Named As Honorary Member

Frank Campbell, Randall MacInnes, William McBurney, George Jackson, and Virgil McCraney were selected for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity, in its bi-annual tap service this morning in chapel. The O. D. K. cup awarded to the most outstanding sophomore was received by William Murphy.

Mr. Edward B. LeMaster, one of the directors of the College, and president of the H. L. Guion Real Estate Company of Memphis, was named honorary member and Prof. Robert S. Pond, associate professor of mathematics, was made faculty member, replacing Prof. C. G. Siefkin.

William Kelly, president of the group, conducted the service. Other members are H. R. Holcomb, vice-president; Sam Hill, Herbert Bingham, Gaylon Smith, George Humphrey, Steve Frazier, Thomas McLemore, Henry Mobley. Faculty members are Prof. Ogden Baine, Prof. W. R. Cooper, Prof. Ralph C. Hon, and Prof. C. G. Siefkin.

Pi Chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa was established at Southwestern in 1927. The purpose of this national organization is to recognize the leaders in college activities to bring together representative men from the student body and faculty, and to promote the best interests of the college and the student body.

Election to Omicron Delta Kappa is limited to three per cent of the men students. The members must be chosen from the junior and senior classes, and must have distinguished themselves in scholarship, athletic, publications, or other forms of leadership.

Council Studies Hospital Plans

Appropriations Made To Care For Carnival Expenses And To Niftist Club

A new plan providing for hospitalization for all students of Southwestern was presented to the Student Council last Monday at their meeting in the Bell Room of Neely Hall. The plan as explained by Mr. William McCrary of the Methodist Hospital would provide all hospital expenses except physicians' fees during the nine months of the school year and would be included in the college fees. Other offers are being studied, and the findings will be presented to the student body soon.

The Council also voted appropriations to take care of expenses of the annual April Fool Carnival and to help the Niftist Club send representatives to a conference of International Relations Clubs to be held during the Easter holidays. The Panhellenic Council was allowed to receive the proceeds from the dance following the April Fool Carnival.

Those attending were Henry Mobley, president; John McGrady, vice-president; Marjorie DeVall, secretary; Warren Prewitt, Betsy Fowler, William McBurney, Billy Kelly, Betty Wells, George Jackson, Bernard Lockridge, J. P. Cavender, Bob Black, Herbert Bingham, Frank Campbell, George Humphrey, and Harold Falls.

Professors' Theses Range From Circles To Cyanide

Having wondered several times what one wrote a thesis on in order to obtain a Ph.D. it seemed that a good way to find out would be to get in touch with the Ph.D.'s here at Southwestern and discover what subjects they wrote on. The first thing I found out was that Southwestern can boast of 22 professors possessing such degrees. Next these professors were interviewed, and the results herewith presented.

In the English department, Dean Johnson, who received his degree at North Carolina, wrote on "The Supernatural in Epic." Dr. Monk chose as his subject "The Sublime: A Study of Critical Theories in 19th Century England," receiving his degree at Princeton. Dr. McIlwaine, a Ph.D. from Chicago, prepared a thesis on "Southern Poor White, from Lubberland to Tobacco Road."

Dr. Shewmaker, Bible professor and Ph.D. from Hartford Theological Seminary, submitted a thesis on "The Training of the Protestant Ministers in the U. S. A. before the Establishment of Theological Seminaries." At Edinburgh Dr. Liston wrote an original paper on "The Idea of the Sovereignty of God in the Writings of Calvin."

In the field of languages we find Dr. Townsend who, at Harvard, submitted a paper on "The Industrial Conflict as Depicted in the Modern Drama;" Dr. Strickler, from Harvard, whose paper was on "The Tenses of the Homeric Metaphor;" Dr. Bassett, writing at Michigan on "The Lives of Macrinus and Diadumenianus," a Roman emperor and his little son; Dr. Porter, who received his degree from Princeton by turning in a paper on "Authorship of the Second Battle of Babylon in the Old French Roman d'Alexandre;" Dr. Paulsen, whose degree came after a thesis on "Expressionism in German Literature."

Going now to mathematics, there is Dr. Hartley, who got his degree at Pennsylvania with a work on "Determination of Colineation Groups in G (2k);" Dr. MacQueen, Chicago, with a paper on "A Projective Generalization of Metric Parallelism of Surfaces;" and Dr. Pond, Kansas, who turned in a thesis on "Outline of Colineations in Space of Four Dimensions."

Dr. Hon, economics professor, received his degree from North Carolina with a paper on "Railway Efficiency, 1920-29," and Dr. Davis, history professor, wrote on "Robert Harley, Secretary of State, 1704-08" at Chicago.

Now to the Science Building. Here we have first another Dr. Davis, Ph.D. from Chicago with the subject, "The Vegetation of the Black Mountains of North Carolina." Then there is Dr. Baine, N. Y. U., who wrote on "The Toxicology of Cyanide;" Dr. Rhodes, writing on "Time Intervals Between the Appearance of Certain Spectrum Lines of Helium and Mercury;" Dr. Meadow, Johns Hopkins, whose thesis was on "Studies in Organic Sulphur Compounds: Reactions of Polymethylene Halides with Polymethylene Dimercaptans." There is also Dr. Baker, who wrote on "Cytology of Euglena Gracilis Kleka" at Columbia, and finally, Dr. Atkinson, with a Ph.D. from George Peabody for his work on "Interrelations of Learning and Intelligence."

Wanted: Oasis For Literary Desert

This week the Stylus Club received papers from six of the ten whom it had invited to submit original work, and after deliberation and criticism, has chosen three for membership in the organization. The Stylus Club, may we explain, is the college chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national honorary literary fraternity. The chapter here was organized in 1920 for the purpose of stimulating authorship and criticism, and requires for membership the assets of scholarship, literary ability, and congeniality.

The Sou'wester extends its sincere congratulations to the new members, and while we would not be so trite as to say "To you is thrown the torch; may it be yours to hold on high," nevertheless, we do believe that you are faced with a heavy responsibility and an opportunity to do real service which will be of high value both to yourselves and to Southwestern.

For we would like to call attention to the serious lack of interest and participation on the part of the student body in this form of activity in college life. Whether or not student indifference is as widespread as has been charged, it is indisputably evident as far as literary composition and criticism is concerned.

As an example, consider last year's edition of The Journal, the student literary magazine which is published to stimulate interest in writing. Of the students enrolled in college at the time of publication, the work of only five appeared in the issue. Of these five, four are in school at present and of these, two are seniors. The work of only one freshman appeared.

Or consider the Sou'wester. There is a really serious lack of persons who are qualified to serve as reporters, or else if they do exist, they have failed to make their appearance. As for persons who are capable of turning out enjoyable features and who are available, they may be counted on two thumbs.

Or the Stylus Club itself. This year the club has been composed almost entirely of seniors, with only one junior class member at the beginning of the second semester.

To the present observer who can personally remember or has heard of some of the literary figures who have graced this campus in the past, and who can sadly view the really serious condition that exists at present, it would appear that literary interest is about to undergo a quiet demise.

We realize that naturally not all of the students' abilities and talents lie along literary lines, and let it not be thought that we are trying to shift the emphasis from quality to quantity. But we do feel that more students should engage in such work and that all students should have a great deal more interest in this line of endeavor than they do. Allow us to suggest the class in literary criticism and composition which will be offered next year. Or the Journal, which will be published this spring, the Sou'wester, which is crying for people who can write news stories or feature articles, or the Lynx, the college annual.

Although the future is not very promising, there is still some sign of life, and while there remains life, there yet remains hope. Who knows but that the near future will see the apparently forthcoming Dark Ages thrown back by the exhibited talent and enthusiastic interest of a Southwestern Literary Renaissance. We breathe a prayer.—B. M.

A Word to the Wise

Dean Johnson has called our attention to the matter of chapel cuts, and so we pass the admonition on to the students. The previous arrangement, as you know, provided for 15 cuts per semester, with extra cuts to those with good grades, and make-ups during examination week. Under the new system there is allowed a flat number of 25 which applies to every student, with no additional cuts to anyone because of grades, and no make-ups during examination week. In addition to this, Dean Johnson declares, there will positively be no excuses accepted. Attention is being called to the existing arrangement, because many students have already taken a dangerous number of cuts, apparently in ignorance of how chapel attendance is now being regulated.

Missing Lynx

... From the Campus Chain

There is an old journalistic adage, "Write a better column than anyone else and the world will make a pun about it." Granting the truth of this, Missing Lynx is slowly but surely coming into its own. Only the other day Miss Nancy Kathleen Caradine (pronounced "Cadadine" by her "English" friends) was draped over the bookstore counter eating macaroons when we came up. "I just made up a funny joke," she remarked to the macaroon artlessly. We waited. "If Prof. Siefkin is gone," she continued, "he is the Missing Lynx." The macaroon laughed uproariously and tried to nudge us in the ribs. But such is the price columnists have to pay.

Sustained Position Department:

Miss Louise Droop Jennings, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi (phone number 2-5522), reports thus: "There are two girls that sit in front of me in chapel that haven't stood up since January." Now, now, Miss Jennings, that stretches even our imaginations slightly.

Wanted by the Government:

Those people who take the Scribner quiz in the library and mark their answers with indelible pencil.

Department of Utter Confusion:

A wedding announcement, a notice of a public auction sale, and a jug of hard cider resulted in the following contribution clipped supposedly from a rural publication:

"William S. and Miss Lucy A. are to be disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milch cows, six mules, and one bobbed. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay wire and the bridal left on one good John Deere gangplow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchaser. They will be at home to their friends with one good buggy and a few kitchen utensils after date of sale of responsible parties and some fifty chickens!"

Why Professors SHOULD Die Young:

Prof. H. J. Bassett to Mythology Class: "And what did the Greeks make out of olives?"
Unidentified but sincere voice from H. C. Robertson's direction: "Palmolive Soap."

As we have stated before, our policy is a peaceful one. Not often are we as roused to righteous indignation as we were yesterday when a reliable source (see Plug of the Week in March 3 issue) informed us that Prof. Marion Edward Porter, professor of Modern Languages, called the New Yorker, our first love, an "ill-famed magazine." For more elevating reading may we suggest the Philological Quarterly.

Corny Joke of the Week: (No one would submit, so we must take the blame for this one.)
First Prof: What did you say?
Second Prof: Nothing.
First Prof: I know, but how did you express it this time?

"Campuscene" Discusses The Average College Man's Views

(This week we are presenting a reprint of a clipping from "Campuscene," a weekly column written by Jim Caldwell, the University of Kentucky student publication. We feel that this analysis of the mind of Joe College is both interesting and accurate.—Editor's note.)

It is good, we are told, for one to stop occasionally, check up on oneself, and see what the score is. If this be true of one individual, why shouldn't it also be true of a group of individuals? It is with this reckoning in mind that we pause at semester's end and attempt to make note of the average local campus-treader's outlook on life. We shall try to list the student's opinions, ideals, beliefs, and ideas—as we have gathered from conversations encountered during the term just past. This formulation of convictions is not the result of any extensive polls or sweeping surveys; it is simply a general impression of student opinion as gleaned from participating in bull-sessions, over-hearing conversations, and listening to class discussions. We sincerely believe these ideas to be the ideas of the majority—or at least of the thinking majority. They are not necessarily the beliefs of this column (indeed with several we disagree heartily), and you may take them or leave them.

Curriculum

Joe College honestly and sincerely believes that there is more good, sound, commonsense knowledge to be gained in an intelligent bull-session than in all the classrooms in the world. . . . He wants to take courses which will supply him with technical information and which tend to make him skillful in one particular line of work. . . . Going to college merely to acquire culture for culture's sake he deems a waste of money, effort and time. . . . He naturally wants to take a course he likes, but if it comes to the point of choosing between the course of his tastes and the course which is likely to net him the largest income in the future, he chooses the latter.

His favorite athletic interest is football, a thing which he sincerely hopes will go places around these parts in the near future. . . . He holds very little interest for the sport of baseball. . . . As his sport for personal participation he chooses tennis.

Work

He expects, upon graduation, to find a job and go to work. . . . It matters not how hard this work may be, so long as it is justly compensated, gives him a fairly decent living, is not too distasteful, and offers some prospects of promotion. . . . However, he goes about choosing this work just about the same way he went about choosing his course of study—if he must choose between doing the thing he wants to do and doing the thing that will pay him most, he again will choose the latter. . . . The girl may outwardly plan for the pursuance of a career, but down deep in her heart she has an ambition to hold down what is supposed to be one of the hardest jobs ever created—that of a housewife.

Sex

Sex he looks upon as his own business, and the self-styled "reformists" who insist upon investigating his sex life he regards as annoying busybodies. . . . If he chooses to "go astray," that is primarily his own affair, and he wishes people who would protest to know this and act accordingly. . . . He honestly feels that he is no more immoral than were his forefathers—on the contrary, he considers himself more honorable than they because he is honest and aboveboard about the thing, and does not allow himself to become hypocritical by adhering to narrow-minded "taboos."

Politics

By background and upbringing, Joe College is a Democrat, but he is rather inclined to be opposed to the Rooseveltian New Deal. . . . Mr. Roosevelt himself he regards as a powerful, influential, magnetic personality—his intentions were good, but somehow he got off the track about 1935. . . . Our foreign policy, however, he okays; and he possesses a marked admiration for Secretary Hull. . . .

International Affairs

His pet hate is dictators, whether they preside over fascism, nazism, communism, or voodooism. . . . He is presently engaged in despising the fascist nations and their leaders, and tends to be sympathetic toward the persecuted Jews. . . . He would like to see Loyalist Spain and China win their respective wars, but has about come to the conclusion that his desire is hopeless. . . . Chamberlain he dislikes, and would like to see the dashing, less compromising Anthony Eden take his place. . . . Munich to him was a sell-out; Lima a noble attempt, but actually just so much hot air. . . . He believes that a war in Europe is inevitable and that the U. S. will eventually be drawn in.

CHOIR TO SING SUNDAY
The Southwestern Choir will present the third in a series of programs at Evergreen Presbyterian Church, Sunday afternoon, March 12, at 5 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to defray expenses on a choir trip this spring. The choir has also begun work on two new numbers, "The Lee Shore" by S. Coleridge-Taylor and "Beautiful Saviour" by Christiansen.

There are several other possible topics for enumeration, but the above with the possible exception of people, are the most important subjects of discussion. However, discussions of people are too trite and too specific for making note of, so the question is dropped without further mention. You may not agree with all the opinions expressed above; we certainly do not. But it was not our intention to state our beliefs which we thought everyone would unquestionably embrace. It was simply to state the things which we have found, from personal experience, to be the composite outlook of the greater part of the student body. You may take it or leave it, this audibly-assembled version of the Mental Campuscene.

SAE Celebrates Annual Founder's Day

Tennessee Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity celebrated Founder's Day on March 9 at a banquet, followed by a dance. The affair was held at 6 P.M. at the University Club.

The feature of the banquet was the presentation by Dr. Fred Turner, eminent supreme herald of the fraternity, to the Zeta chapter of a portrait of the four Bunting brothers, known as the second founders of S. A. E. and prominent characters in the history of Southwestern. Shepherd Tate, president of the chapter, accepted the gift.

The banquet tables were decorated with bowls of spring flowers, connected by bands of purple and gold, the fraternity colors, running the length of the tables. The lighted fraternity pin and crest hung above the main table.

Music was furnished by Bill Taylor and his orchestra.

Historic Fraternity Painting Received By SAE Chapter

An event of importance to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was the unveiling of the group portrait of the Bunting Brothers at the S. A. E. lodge on Southwestern campus yesterday, March 9.

This painting by the eminent Austrian artist, Johannes Waller, was presented to Tennessee Zeta chapter by the National Fraternity of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in commemoration of the splendid part played by the four Bunting brothers in building the fraternity into the great national organization it is today. The group portrait, nearly life-size, is a replica of the original which hangs in the National Temple of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at Evanston, Illinois, which faces the campus of Northwestern University. It pictures the Bunting brothers, Frank, William, Harry and George, as of the year 1892, in conference, mapping out and executing the extension of the fraternity into the northern, eastern and western states.

This program of expansion and development was conceived, initiated, planned and directed from the old Southwestern campus at Clarksville, Tennessee, during the five years that the Buntings were in college. While the Southwestern chapter was not actually the seat of official government of the order, yet the destinies of the fraternity were actually decided upon and its renaissance was launched between the walls of old Southwestern.

It is singularly appropriate that a portrait of Doctor Bunting will hang permanently on Southwestern's campus as he was one of the men responsible for the existence of the college today. When the Civil War broke out Doctor Bunting was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at San Antonio, Texas, which he had founded and built into a flourishing congregation. While his Texas command was bivouacked at Nashville, Tennessee, for several months during the war, he filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church there, preaching in his army uniform. After the war he was called to that pulpit and remained there as pastor until 1869 when he resigned and returned to Texas.

In the dark days of 1885 Doctor Bunting quit his pulpit at Rome, Georgia, to become fiscal agent of old Southwestern Presbyterian University and raise an endowment for the Palmer School of Theology. For four years he traveled constantly throughout the six synods of the church responsible for the college at that time, extending from Tennessee and Alabama to Texas, preaching twice every Sunday and addressing as many other church groups as could be called together to hear his message about S. W. P. U. all through each week.

As a result of his efforts, the college experienced a temporary rejuvenation and the enrollment grew from eighty students to one hundred and fifty. By selling "Christian Education" to Presbyterian parents, Doctor Bunting was able to secure many outstanding students for Southwestern who otherwise would have entered State universities or other colleges, among these being William R. and Robert F. Craig, as well as other prominent alumni whose influence has meant so much in the molding of the Southwestern of today. Those familiar with the history of the institution realize that but for this rejuvenation of the old college, her doors must have been closed early in the 1890's. Doctor Bunting died in 1891 and is buried at Gallatin, Tennessee, where he had his last ministerial charge.

Old graduates coming back to visit their Alma Mater will be interested in viewing this group portrait which now hangs in the Tennessee Zeta Lodge of S. A. E., designated at its dedication as a memorial to the Bunting brothers.

Lynx Cagers Bow To Howard Team In Semi-Finals

Defeat Chattanooga And Spring Hill Earlier

TOURNEY IN JACKSON

George Blakemore Chosen As All Star Forward

By DOROTHY McGEHEE

Led by rangy George Blakemore, Southwestern's mighty Lynx blasted their way into the semi-finals of the Dixie Conference Basketball Tournament at Jackson last week, but failed to get any farther. After defeating the Chattanooga and the Spring Hill basketeers in two rounds of the double elimination tourney, the Lynx cagers were finally pushed out of the brackets by the stronger Howard team.

Howard was defeated in the finals by the Mississippi College Choctaws, who received the Dixie Conference crown for the third straight year.

In the initial game of the tourney, Southwestern got off to a good start by downing the Chattanooga Moccasins 42 to 34. Blakemore tallied 17 points to be high-score man of the game, but Peck of the Moccasins was close behind with a total of 15.

Gaylon Smith led the Lynx Cats to a brilliant 50 to 33 victory over the Spring Hill Badgers in the quarter-finals by ringing up 24 points. Blakemore was second on the scoring list with 18 points and Carlos Amiguet third with 16.

Southwestern held Howard on even terms in the last half of the semi-finals, but the Bulldogs had piled up an 18-point lead in the first period and the Lynx were never able to catch up with them. Blakemore was again high-scorer with 15 tallies. Smith was held to nine points, but his floor work was outstanding.

The championship Mississippi College Choctaws placed two men on the Dixie Conference All-Star first team; runnerup Howard got two berths; and Southwestern got one place.

Forwards named were Howard Burks, Howard, with a 16.25-point per game average, and George Blakemore, of the Lynx, with a 16.66 average per game. Joel Hitt, Mississippi College, 14.25, was named center with Clovis Carroll, 13.75, Mississippi College, and Dave Telford, 12.75, Howard, selected guards.

Second team members were Keyes Currie, Millsaps, and E. V. Walls, Mississippi College, forwards; Cannon Herron, Millsaps, center; Gaylon Smith, Southwestern, and Charlie Ward, Millsaps, guards.

Seventy U. S. colleges and universities have provided scholarships for refugee students.

Tennis Courts Ready For Play After Repairing

Mr. J. A. Rollow, superintendent of buildings and grounds, announced Tuesday that the tennis courts 1, 2, 3 and 4 will be ready for play this afternoon unless rain delays the work. The courts have been graded and leveled off with new clay. All are now approximately even and will not drain off on each other as has been the case before, Mr. Rollow said.

The lower courts, 5, 6 and 7, will be repaired as soon as enough N. Y. A. students are available. Mr. Rollow asks that all students be careful about playing on the courts too soon after rains, and that no one play on the concrete or clay courts without tennis shoes.

Golf Team Plays Select Schedule

One Out Of Town Game And Five Home Games Included, Waring Announces

Harry Waring, captain and manager of the Lynx Golf Team, announced Monday the schedule and plans for the 1939 season. The schedule includes five home games and one out-of-town game; the season terminating with the Dixie Conference Golf Tournament at Spring Hill College at Mobile, Ala. All the home matches will be played at Galloway Park.

Four rounds will be played at Galloway this week and next to decide who shall make the team. In golf there is no distinction between freshmen and varsity.

Probable candidates for the team are Rex Wilson, William Tyson, Billy Belcher, Bob Stites, and Billy Kelly. Any others interested in trying out for the team should see Harry Waring.

The complete schedule is as follows: March 18—Ole Miss (there).

March 24—Ole Miss (here).

April 7—Alma College of Michigan (here).

April 8—Illinois College (here).

April 10—Washington University of St. Louis (here).

April 12—Spring Hill College (here).

April 21, 22—Dixie Conference Golf Tournament at Spring Hill.

Non-Sorority, Chi Omega Win

Girls' Basketball Tourney Continues; Rhea, Ware Make High Score

Rangy Irene Rhea led the Non-sorority basketball team to a 37-8 victory Tuesday when she tallied 22 points against the Tri-Delta team. The Tri-Delt pass work was good but they were unable to stop the stronger Non-sorority cagers.

Line-ups were: Non-sorority Team—Marjorie Moorhead, right forward; Irene Rhea, left forward; Maxine Allen and Meredith Moorhead, centers; Rachel Beasley and Dorothy McGehee, guards.

Tri-Delta Team: Celeste Taylor and Elizabeth Scarborough, forwards; Marjorie McElroy and Margaret Ragsdale, centers; and Kathleen Fransioli and Martha Miller, guards.

The Chi Omegas took another easy victory over the Zeta Tau Alphas when they defeated them 49-9 Tuesday afternoon. Mary Ware led the scoring with 31 points and Margaret Jones was next with 18. Butler (as usual) provided the entertainment.

Line-ups were: Chi Omega—Margaret Jones and Mary Ware, forwards; Barbara Dean and Elizabeth Paine, centers; Catherine Walker and Anne Eckert, guards. Substitutes were Adair Tate and Mary Heath Butler.

Zeta Tau Alpha team: Iris Pearce and Irma Hill, forwards; Elizabeth Nesbitt and Bennie Corinne Joyner, centers; Marie Palmer and Dorothy Steuwer, guards. The referee was Alec Streete.

Just because the basketball season is over for the men students, do not think that it is over for the coeds of this institution. Very much to the contrary, there is still a week left of scheduled games, and even after that a playoff between the top three teams will take place.

Next week's schedule opens with two games on Tuesday. At one-thirty the Chi Omega play the Kappa Deltas and at two-thirty the Tri-Deltas play the A. O. Pi's. Thursday's games include the non-sorority and Zeta clash at one-thirty, and the Kappa Delta-A. O. Pi tilt at two-thirty. On Friday the Tri-Deltas play the Zeta Tau Alphas at three-thirty and the Chi Omegas play the non-sorority group afterwards.

Cecil New, municipal champion, is ineligible for the tournament and because of this, Lloyd Parker is favored to win. New was ruled ineligible because of a technicality regarding his completion of the physical education requirements.

An all-star team was selected, including Bader of Non-Frats, Smith of Sigma Nu, Griesbeck of Kappa Alpha, Dawson of Non-Frat, Hunter of Sigma Nu, and Black of Kappa Alpha. Coach Hug, William Nakajima and Paul Buchanan officiated in the meet.

Badminton Champ Wins Exhibit Game

Match In Gym Is Sponsored By Intramural Board And Hotel Claridge

Ken Shedd, professional badminton champion, easily won over Jack Lever in an exhibition game Wednesday afternoon in the gym. The match was jointly sponsored by the Intramural Board and Hotel Claridge. The score was 11 to 8.

Jack Lever, youthful Missouri State champion, offered a stubborn defense to the veteran star. Shedd maintained a lead throughout the game and his accurate backhand shots won the majority of points for him. Both Lever and Shedd used every conceivable stroke during the game. Shedd's placements kept Lever constantly running all over the court.

Both Shedd and Lever are now appearing at Hotel Claridge in the 20th Century Room where Shedd is billed as "the world's most foremost badminton exhibitionist and second ranking player in the world."
