The Collective

Last year’s production of Antigone was an exciting experience for cast and crew because, in truth, there was no one director. There was an ensemble effort from day one. Wishing to explore other ways of collective work, some of our recent graduates and present students took on the role of “collective director” for Midsummer. Although time and schedules could not allow for the complete collective experience, the show has benefited from the additional guidance of Stacy DeZutter, Anjeanette Kittrell, and Chris Davis.
