Subject: [PRAYERS AT WORK] Feb 8-12, 2010

Monday, February 8, 2010 -- (Meditation: Matthew 6:34) God, I pray for those who are getting older and who know younger people are waiting in the wings for their jobs. I pray for those who are running out of energy . . . for those who are running out of ideas . . . for those who are running out of excuses . . . and for those who are running out of time. God, restore to them the joy of their salvation. Renew their minds, and restore a right spirit within them. Through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Tuesday, February 9, 2010 -- (Meditation: I John 3:24) God, sometime when I pray, it's truly heart-to-heart. I feel Your holiness. I sense Your love. I feel in accord with what You want. I sense Your will, and I want to do it. My own wants recede. God, it's like being hidden in Your heart, swept by the tide of Your love, wanting Your will to be done. God, thank You for Your nearness. Through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Wednesday, February 10, 2010 -- (Meditation: Psalm 145:17-18) God, rarely do I notice the light that lights my work area. I notice it mostly on cloudy, dark days, or when I work late. On beautiful days I forget about it. Sometimes I treat You like that, God. When things are cloudy and dark, I want to feel Your nearness and Your light. But when things go right, I rarely think about You. Forgive me. Like my light at work, You are always near, even when I am not aware of Your nearness. Thank You for being with me always. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Thursday, February 11, 2010 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 5:17) God forgive my shallow prayers of thanksgiving. I often thank You for my blessings without sharing my blessings. In my mind's eye, I picture my blessings as health in my body, money in my bank account, and gourmet food on my table. Rarely do I thank You for the blessing of having compassion for others, or for being repentant. God, may my prayers never stop at thanksgiving without sharing, health without serving, or having without giving. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Friday, February 12, 2010 -- (Meditation: Psalm 46:10) God, I get more phone calls than I did a year ago . . . more text messages than a year ago . . . more catalogs and junk mail . . . more trivial e-mails . . . and more messages on my pager. My information overload is spiraling out of control. God, help me to simplify, and learn to say no. Help me follow YOUR agenda for my life. Through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen
