Course Description
The experiences of African American people in the United States can be described as a continuous quest for empowerment; this quest has been affected by myriad factors (e.g., gender roles, class divisions, secular and non-secular ideologies, regionalism, etc.) in addition to racism. This course, through the use of primary and secondary material, historical documentaries, and critical analyses, will chart the historically complex journeys of African Americans, from the impact of slavery on colonial America to the Black Freedom Struggle of the 1960’s and beyond.

Course Requirements:
Books:
• William Chafe, Remembering Jim Crow (Jim Crow)
• Tera Hunter, To ‘Joy My Freedom (Joy)
• Hasan Jeffries, Bloody Loundes (Loundes)
• Walter Johnson, Soul by Soul (Soul)
• Martin Luther King, Jr. Where Do We Go From Here? (King)
• Roger Wilkins, Jefferson’s Pillow (Pillow)
• Unless otherwise indicated, all other readings can be found in my public folder on the academic server.

Reaction Paper and Blog Posts - 30% of final grade:
Students will submit one 4-5 page reaction paper due on April 9. A note on the paper: when I say it should be 4-5 pages long I mean it. Papers that do not have at least four full pages of text will not be graded. Although this should go without saying, I’ll put it in here anyway: a title page does not count as page one of your paper!

Blogging: In this course, a portion of students’ writing assignments will be completed on a blog (“African American History @Rhodes”) that has been set up especially for this course. The URL for “Af-Am History @ Rhodes” is www.blackrhodes.blogspot.com. Each student is required to complete 2 independent “posts” (of no less than 400 words) and 4 “comments” before the midterm, and 2 independent posts and 4 comments after the midterm. Contributions to the blog will be graded in the same way that formal writing assignments would be graded, so students should pay attention to the technical aspects of their writing (spelling, grammar, punctuation) as well as the compositional aspects (clarity of thesis, style, organization of argument, relevance, etc.). Students who participate on the blog in excess of the requirements will be rewarded in their final grade.

In-class discussion/participation – 20% of final grade
I expect you to attend every class, arrive on time and come ready, having done the assigned reading and/or written assignment. Since there will be a very high premium on class discussion, it is imperative that everyone comes to class ready to contribute with comments, questions and insights. Remember though, class participation is not a contest. The people who talk the most do not necessarily “win.” What really counts is your ability and willingness to bring something valuable to the discussion that your colleagues and I can build upon in our efforts to bring some clarity to the issues that we are discussing. Of course, this level of participation will require full reading of assigned work. Also, to ensure the best possible experience for all of us, let’s refrain from using inappropriate language, or any other activity that may make our classroom less than open and engaging. Also, coming to the office during office hours to discuss material covered in the class also counts towards your class participation grade.
Discussion days and Discussion page:
On many Fridays throughout the semester, we will have in-class discussion (these days will be in bold on your syllabus). On those days you will submit a discussion page at the end of class. This page will consist of at least five well thought out questions and five fully formed discussion topics that you would like to discuss with the class. You will come to class with this page, and use it engage your classmates in an informed, thoughtful discussion of the dominant themes and ideas that have presented themselves during the week. I will call on students randomly to begin discussion on these days. Please note that a fifth of your grade is based on your participation in class. While in-class discussion days represent a significant opportunity for you to shine, it is in your best interest to come to class throughout the semester ready to contribute to the intellectual give and take of the class. Note: at the end of the period, you will turn in your discussion page, so please regard it as you would any other written assignment for this course.

Examinations – 25% each of final grade:
There will be two in class examinations, a midterm and a final. Both of these will consist of short answer questions and essay questions. The midterm exam will be held on March 12. The final exam will be a take home essay due on May 4. We'll discuss this towards the end of the semester. These dates are fixed. Please inform your travel agent/mother/rich uncle or whoever else is in charge of making your travel plans that these test dates will not be moved.

Please do not hesitate to come by my office to discuss any of these requirements.

Honor Code:
All work turned in for this course is to be completed in accordance with the Rhodes College Honor Code. To demonstrate your commitment to the Code, each student must write “pledged” and sign his/her name on every assignment. If you have questions about plagiarism you should talk to me directly.

Policies:

Note on written work:
All written work must be composed on a computer, double-spaced and in 10 or 12 point font. Papers should be written using the Chicago citation style. This style may be viewed at http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html. If you have any questions about proper citation, please refer to this site, and then contact me. Students who feel that they need assistance with written assignments should feel free to contact me so that we can discuss whatever challenges you may be facing.

Attendance:
Students will be allowed three unexcused absences. All other absences after the third one must be excused. Each unexcused absence after the third one will cost you 5% of your final grade. If you miss three weeks worth of classes, you can be dropped from the class or flunked. Valid excuses for missing class include but are not limited to religious observances, college-sanctioned academic or athletic travel, personal illness or injury, family illness or injury or bereavement. Excuses after the allotted three should be accompanied by a note from the Dean’s office.

Paper/test grades:
As a general rule, grades are not negotiable. However, I will gladly discuss the grade on any assignment 24 hours after the work is turned in.

Late Papers:
Papers are due at the beginning of class. Papers that are one day late will be penalized one letter grade. “My computer crashed the night before the paper was due” is not an excuse for a late paper; rather, it is a testament to poor time management on your part. Papers over one day late will receive an F. However, please note that you must turn in all of the assigned work in order to pass the class.
Missed Tests:
Make-up exams are available for students who miss class for an excusable reason (see above). Students should contact me and arrange a mutually convenient time within a week of the student’s return.

Learning Differences:
I am strongly committed to accommodating students with disabilities, and ask your cooperation in making sure that I’m aware of any such accommodation you might need. For more information, please contact Student Disability Services to alert them of any needs you may have.

Additional Information:
- Please turn off all cell phones, pagers, games, and any other object that can beep, buzz, ring or vibrate. These devices are extremely disruptive when they go off in the middle of class.
- The readings for the week should be done by the beginning of each week.
- I reserve the right to amend this syllabus as necessary.
