Mr. Russell H. Scott of Akron, and Mrs. Russell H. Scott of Cleveland, were among the hundreds of delegates and participants at the annual Ohio State Teachers Association meeting held here Wednesday. The convention, which was attended by almost 3,000 teachers and educational administrators, is the largest of its kind in the state.

Among the events featured at the convention were workshops, seminars, and panel discussions on a variety of topics related to education. The keynote address, delivered by Dr. John D. Higgs, was titled "Innovations in Education for the 21st Century." The address focused on the importance of technology in the classroom and the need for teachers to stay current with the latest developments in educational technology.

The convention also included a reception and banquet, where teachers were able to network and socialize with colleagues from across the state. The banquet featured a keynote speech by Dr. James E. Cleveland, who discussed the importance of teacher retention and the need for better pay and working conditions for educators.

The convention concluded with a tour of the city's main attractions, including the historic museum and the city's famous zoo. The tour provided participants with a unique insight into the city's rich history and cultural heritage, while also allowing them to relax and unwind after a long week of learning and networking.

Overall, the Ohio State Teachers Association meeting was a success, providing teachers with valuable information and resources for their work in the classroom. The convention was a testament to the dedication and commitment of Ohio's educators, who work tirelessly to provide the best possible education for the state's children.

Appointed to the first term of the new administrative faculty of Le Moyne-Owen College will be James E. Polk, a former associate professor of history and government at Tennessee State University; and Dr. Albert L. Robinson, photog rapher, Glens Falls, N.Y. Also appointed is Rev. V. R. Johnson, pastor of the Shepherd United Methodist Church in Nashville, and Rev. E. C. Smiley, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Columbia, Tenn.

The appointment of the new faculty was announced by Dr. J. H. Le Moyne, president of the college.

Dr. Le Moyne said the appointment of the new faculty will be a step forward in the development of the college. He said the new faculty will be a step forward in the development of the college.

The college has been in operation since 1898 and is one of the oldest and most respected institutions of higher education in the South. The college is located in the heart of the city of Nashville, Tenn., and is attended by over 1,000 students from all parts of the country.

The college offers a wide range of courses in various fields, including business administration, education, engineering, fine arts, and humanities. The college also offers a variety of extracurricular activities, such as music, drama, and sports.

Dr. Le Moyne said the college is committed to providing a high-quality education to all students, regardless of their background or economic status.

He added that the college is working hard to ensure that all students have access to the latest technology and resources, as well as the best teachers and facilities.

The college is currently enrolling for the fall semester, which begins on August 19. Interested students are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.

Our P. T. A. Served Well

Washington—The corner stores in a large number of the smaller towns have recently been surveyed for fire hazards and sprinkler systems, and the task was far from easy. The surveyors were assisted by a team of fire protection engineers, who were able to identify potential hazards and recommend remedies.

The surveyors found that many small towns had not made adequate provision for fire protection, and that the majority of the stores were not equipped with sprinkler systems. The surveyors also noted that many stores were not properly protected against electrical fires, and that the fire prevention measures in the towns were not adequate.

The surveyors recommended that the towns implement better fire prevention measures, and that the stores install sprinkler systems and other fire protection devices. They also recommended that the towns establish fire prevention programs, and that the stores be required to comply with the recommendations made by the surveyors.

The surveyors noted that the towns had a responsibility to provide adequate fire protection for their citizens, and that the stores had a responsibility to comply with the recommendations made by the surveyors. They also noted that the surveyors had performed a valuable service by identifying potential hazards and recommending remedies.

You are right to fight pollution now.

With the only lead-free premium gasoline that's ready now.

Lead-Free AMOCO

There is more to Lead-Free AMOCO than meets the eye. Many experts say that lead-free gasoline is the best answer yet to automobile air pollution. And AMOCO is the only lead-free premium gasoline you can buy. Right now. But there's even more to it than that. Lead-Free AMOCO can double spark plug life. That alone could save you up to 1! And double tailpipe life. That's another 20 or so. And double muffler life. That's maybe 40 more. And give you better mileage than leaded gasolines. Lead-Free AMOCO is right for your country. Right for your car. Right now. It's time to try it.
