Course Description: An in-depth analysis of the measurement and reporting of financial information to investors and managers. Conventional accounting methods, asset valuation, and income determination, as well as other current topics, will be explored. The course will utilize current articles to study contemporary research issues in financial accounting. Prerequisites: Completion of core courses.

Textbooks and Course Materials:

Intermediate Accounting, Spiceland, et al., 4th or 5th edition, McGraw Hill/Irwin
Wiley CPA Examination Review: Financial Accounting and Reporting, 2010
Materials from <http://www.fasb.org>.
Articles and readings

Grade Determination:

Problems/Quizzes/Class participation	20
Two tests	40
Final exam	20
Paper/ presentation	20
	100

Format. This course is arranged according to topics in financial accounting. For each topic, articles, problems, and explanatory materials will be utilized to analyze the underlying concepts, as well as the practical applications of accounting principles.

Class preparation: Assignments will include real-world types of cases and problems, as well as problems similar to those on the CPA exam. Students are to complete all problems assigned and come to class prepared to participate in discussing the solutions. Also, students must print out and bring with them all articles, FASB pronouncements, and other reading materials for the day's class.

Paper/presentation: Students will prepare a paper and presentation concerning one of the key issues in the class. Topics on the syllabus marked by an asterisk are those available for selection. However, with the professor's approval, students may choose financial accounting topics that are not shown on the syllabus.

Attendance and participation: Students are expected to participate fully in the class. Failure to attend and participate will affect the grade. The professor may lower the final grade by 3 points for each unexcused absence in excess of 3.

Honor Code: The Rhodes Honor Code is expected to be followed in all aspects of the course. All work is to be pledged.
