COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

Surveying the art form known as musical theatre from its multiple origins through contemporary trends, we will use music, film, librettos and scores, and local productions to gain a broader understanding and appreciation of this performance genre. While we will look at the development of the musical as an art form (Kenrick), we will also explore musicals “as a way of illuminating broader social and cultural themes of the times (Bush)”. Open to the general student, the course serves as an elective for the major/minor in Theatre.

COURSE POLICIES

ATTENDANCE

- You are allowed three absences without penalty, regardless of the reasons for the absences. Each subsequent absence will reduce your final grade by 1/3 of a letter.
- Three instances of tardiness (arriving after roll call and class has begun) will count as one absence.
- Missing the final project performance at the end of the semester automatically reduces your final grade by a full letter.

GRADING

If you

- Attend, are prepared and participate in all classes
- Attend all required performances
- Have all projects and writing assignments completed on time you will be doing satisfactory work for this course.

If you

- Accomplish ALL the above
- Make an honest commitment to challenge yourself
- Exhibit active engagement with the subject matter

you will be doing good work for this course.

As published in the current college catalogue:

"In official recording of academic work, the following symbols are employed:
A, excellent; B, good; C, satisfactory; D, passing; ...F, failure...." (p. 74)

COURSEWORK

Class Participation: Worth up to 25% of your final grade, participation is an essential part of this course. Class discussions, exercises, general attitude, general involvement, initiative and attendance contribute to the class participation grade.

Quizzes: There will be ten unannounced quizzes throughout the semester, covering the readings scheduled for the particular class session. Combined, quizzes contribute to 20% of your final grade.

Show Essays: You are required to write two 5-page critical essays on selected musicals, one of which must be seen in person (there are six musicals being produced in Memphis this semester – a list will be provided). The other musical may be viewed as a film or recording, or you may read the libretto and listen to the cast recording. Specific due dates are variable in consideration of the due date of the Composer/Librettist Biography below. Guidelines for essays will be provided and further discussed in class. Shows critiqued may become components of your final research paper. Each essay is worth 10% of your final grade.

Composer/Librettist Biography: You will write one 5-page biography on a composer and/or librettist. The subject will be determined in consultation with the instructor, and the due date determined in consideration of the due dates of the Show Essays above. The biography of the composer and/or librettist may become a component of your final research paper. The biography is worth 10% of your final grade.

Final Research Paper: Your final 15-page paper is to be researched on a topic determined with the instructor. Examples of possible topics will be discussed in class. There are five deadlines as laid out in the syllabus: topic submission, bibliography, outline, “first” draft, and final draft. This final draft is due at the beginning of the final exam period for the course as noted in the syllabus. Additional parameters will be provided during the course of the semester. The final research paper comprises 25% of your final grade.

A word about Plagiarism:

Article VI—SECTION 3 (of the Student Constitution):

Also defined as cheating, plagiarism is the act of using another person’s words or ideas without documenting them properly (footnotes, bibliography, etc.). This includes, without limitation: using information from any sources (including the class textbook(s), other books, journals, newspapers, magazines, etc.) without proper reference, getting ideas or words from a classmate’s paper, failure to properly punctuate direct quotes, and obtaining a paper from someone else. Ignorance is not an excuse for these violations. It is the student’s responsibility to consult the professor, an Honor Council member, or writing handbooks for the procedure for properly acknowledging sources.
