Woods Is Found Alive In Home Of Alabama Minister

MIAMI, Fla. (SBS) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has announced that Jesse Woods, missing from the Wildwood, Florida jail since last Sunday has been found alive, it was disclosed yesterday.

Woods was found in Andalusia, Alabama at the home of a minister and his wife.

The FBI is reported to have questioned Woods for more than two hours, but failed to reveal the results of the questioning according to C. B. Weeks, FBI agent. Federal authorities will also talk to the United States attorney and local authorities in Florida.

The missing man was alleged to have been taken out of a Florida jail last Sunday by a group of hit men.

George Altman, a 30-year-old procer was arrested Thursday in Wildwood and formally charged with kidnaping in connection with the disappearance of the 39-year-old farm hand.

Sumpter County Sheriff M. H. Bowman said an investigation led him to believe that Altman and at least seven other men had kidnaped Woods from his jail cell Sunday.

Held On Attack, Man Hangs Self

Arrested on a charge of allegedly attempting to criminally assault a 14-year-old white girl, 39-year-old Sam Williams of Corinth, Miss., hanged himself in the Jackson, Miss. city jail Saturday.

Detective Chief M. B. Pierce said the city jailer found Williams hanged with his belt in his cell at 6:20 a. m. He was rushed to a hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Letter theft charged To Carrier; Held For Grand Jury Action Friday

John Wesley Ayers, 28-year-old letter carrier of 333 Harrell, Friday was held by the Federal Grand Jury after allegedly admitting stealing a letter containing a $112 check which he tried to cash.

Police said Ayers was arrested Thursday at Gayoso and Main after attempting to cash the check at Goldsmith's under a false name.

Goldsmith's employees became suspicious when Ayers, claiming he was a Mr. B. Ford, to whom the check was endorsed, asked them to cash the check and called the police, police said.

Ayers, a carrier since October, 1953, said he stole the check because he was having domestic trouble and needed the money.

He, at press time, was being held under a $2,000 bond following a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Leslie Nicholson.

Driver Dead; Car Crashes

A traffic mishap occurred Friday night on Capital near Bellevue caused by a car "driven" by a dead man.

Charles B. Powell, 61, of 1802 Lamar, apparently suffered a fatal heart attack shortly after letting a passenger out of his car and the weight of his foot on the accelerator caused his car to crash into a parked automobile, police reported.

Supreme Liberty Gives One Share For Each Three Held

CHICAGO — Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company has designated November as Stockholders Appreciation Month. The firm also began sending out additional shares to stockholders under a provision voted last August by which each stockholder receives an additional share for each three held.

On this basis, stockholders will receive cash at the rate of $10 per full share for each fractional share caused by the dividend.

Earl B. Dickerson is president of Supreme Liberty, largest Negro business in the North. It has more than 350,000 policyholders and 4,200 stockholders, he said.

Dwight D. Eisenhower

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER, who had to cut short his political campaign due to the Middle East crisis, seemed to have picked up more support according to a recent New York Times national poll. Other polls including political leaders from both parties forecast victory for the President on Tuesday.

Leaders See Ike Victory Tuesday

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

Chief, Washington Bureau International News Service

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Most Republican and many Democratic political leaders believed Saturday that President Eisenhower will be re-elected next Tuesday by reduced majorities but with a Democratic Congress.

Some democrats and a few republicans foresee Adlai Stevenson, the democratic nominee, winning the presidency in an upset that would pale President Truman's victory over Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Adlai's supporters base their judgment on a belief that Ike's star is sinking and that the public has tired of a "part-time president," to put it gently.

Each side cites many incidents to support its conviction. Ike's friends point to his tumultuous reception, wherever he has appeared, in this campaign. They say the present Suez crisis helps him because the average voter will want his record of military leadership in the White House until the Middle East problem is solved. His backers frankly declared he will carry state after state "by reduced majorities" while conceding democratic victories in other contests.

Friends of Adlai say he will win on a great democratic tide that swept America in 1954 to win congress and which is still going strong. They add he has captured the minds of thinking people and great groups who regard Ike as a "fallen military hero" who has shown only ineptitude as the president.

They contend, too, that the Suez crisis only serves to prove Ike's weakness in the White House.

Then there are a few leaders—in both parties—who "feel" some change is sweeping America but can't quite figure out what is really going to happen. One of this group, an "old pro" of the GOP, warned his colleagues of the danger of a Truman victory in 1948.

Over Million Negroes Are Registered In Eleven States

The Southern Regional Council said today that at least 1,239,500 Negroes are registered to vote in the 11 Southern states.

This represents an estimated increase of 210,000 since 1952. The estimates were made in a preliminary release of a detailed study of the Negro vote in the South being made by the Council.

An interracial organization of Southern workers in the field of human relations, a full analysis of the findings will be released later.

Texas led the region in the number of Negroes registered—214,000. Georgia was next with 163,825.

The Council emphasized that in most instances the figures are estimates, based on county-by-county reports, on checks of voting officials, registration records, or on interviews with informed observers.

The most incomplete figures came from Mississippi, where the latest estimate of Negro registrants was made in 1954, when 23,000 were listed. The consensus of observers was that at best, the number has not increased, some felt the figure remained constant and others that there had been a drop to as few as 8,000. (The 1954 figure was used in computing the current 11 state total.)

While the Negro vote in the South has grown steadily since 1944 and the outlawing of the "white primary," the percentage of Negroes of voting age registered remains comparatively low.

This was due, field reports to the Council indicated, to four major factors:

1. Discriminatory practices against potential Negro registrants—for example, unusually severe literacy and constitutional interpretation tests and difficulty in securing registration certificates.
2. Lack of political consciousness

DR. RALPH BUNCHE NAMED HEAD OF UN CEASE FIRE COMMITTEE

Ralph Bunche Is "Mr. Peace" Of United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (INS) — Ralph Johnson Bunche is the United Nations' "Mr. Peace."

The grandson of a slave, Bunche fervently toiled to silence the guns in the troubled Middle East in 1949.

Now, the chain-smoking U. N. undersecretary has been summoned for a familiar role. The Negro scholar and diplomat has been named head of a three-man U. N. "Watchdog" Committee to check compliance with the Middle East cease-fire ordered by the U. N.

BUNCHE CONFIDENT

Bunche is confident that the dispute can be settled by talks rather than guns. His skill, tact and patience as U. N. Mediator won in 1950 for the orphaned son of a Detroit barber an honor no other Negro has ever received — the Nobel Peace Prize.

No armchair "general," Bunche worries about trifles — but never loses sight of his target.

On the Palestine mission, Bunche worked 18 hours a day, insisted on doing nearly every piece of drafting himself, including routine messages, though he had a large staff at his disposal.

FATHER OF THREE

The father of three grown children and the holder of 40 awards for his peace work, Bunche is an ardent champion of racial brotherhood.

He turned down an offer of Undersecretary of State in 1949 to protest dramatically the existence of racial discrimination in the Nation's Capital.

Bunche was born in Detroit on Aug. 7, 1904. When he was 14 his parents died, and he was sent to live with his grandmother in Los Angeles.

CARPET LAYER

He worked his way through high school as a carpet layer and then attended the University of California, working as a janitor and winning letters in basketball, football and baseball.

The U. N. Undersecretary carried on fellowship studies in Europe, England, Africa, Malaya and the Netherlands Indies.

He taught political science and then entered the State Department, as associate chief of the Division of Dependent Territories.

Now, the man President Eisenhower recently called "one of the greatest statesmen this country has produced," is about to embark on a new mission he hopes will bring peace through statesmanship.

Mrs. Sampson spoke to local Democratic Party members and interested spectators at Clayborn Temple AME Church during a highly interesting and informative program which got underway at approximately 7:40 p. m.

DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL

With deftness, simplicity and clarity, the renowned lady's talk touched upon her analysis of the social legislation which she said originated during the Democratic Party's 20 years of control of our government.

Mrs. Sampson went on to explain that the Republican administration had merely succeeded in carrying out the program originated by her party. She demonstrated how a pattern showing that the Republican Party was and apathy, demonstrated by the fact that in some cities where registration was comparatively easy, the number of Negroes registered remained low.

3. Dependency of many Negroes on members of the white community and the resultant fear of incurring economic pressures.

4. Violence and threats, still reported in some areas, although generally replaced by more subtle forms of intimidation.

Estimates by state:

ALABAMA: 52,000 Negroes registered, an increase since 1952 of 26,775. Negroes represent 30 per cent of the voting age population and six per cent of the total registration.

ARKANSAS: 69,877 Negroes registered, an increase since 1952 of 8,264. Negroes represent 21 per cent of the total population of voting age and 12 per cent of the total registration.

FLORIDA: 149,726 Negroes registered, an increase of 26,886 since 1952. Negroes represent 20 per cent of the voting age population and nine per cent of the total registration.

GEORGIA: 163,825 Negroes registered, an increase of 18,990 since 1952. Negroes represent 29 per cent of the total population of voting age (18 and over in Georgia) and 12 per cent of the total registration.

CHICAGO ATTORNEY AND DELEGATE BLASTS GOP DURING DEMOCRATIC RALLY

BY ALYSON E. WISE

Scoring what she called the controlled-Republican Press, bitterly blasting the Dixiecrat-Northern Republican coalition in the Congress and Senate, extolling the "terrible growth" of the South from what she termed its former sectionalism, highlighted the address of Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago attorney and former UN alternate delegate here last Friday night at the rally sponsored by the Shelby County Independent Democratic Club.

Mrs. Sampson spoke to local Democratic Party members and interested spectators at Clayborn Temple AME Church during a highly interesting and informative program which got underway at approximately 7:40 p. m.

With deftness, simplicity and clarity, the renowned lady's talk touched upon her analysis of the social legislation which she said originated during the Democratic Party's 20 years of control of our government.

Mrs. Sampson went on to explain that the Republican administration had merely succeeded in carrying out the program originated by her party. She demonstrated how a pattern showing that the Republican Party was still the "big money" party, unlike, she disclosed, the Democratic Party which had been and always would be, the party of the common man.

"Touching upon such controversial political figures as Eastland, Talmadge, and others of the same ilk, Mrs. Sampson said that it was such Northern Republican Senate and Congressional Representatives like as Jenner, McCarthy, Durkin, Nixon and other GOP reactionaries which prevented civil rights legislation whenever such bills were brought up for committee hearings. Mrs. Sampson termed the coalition, "unholy reactionaries."

"SUFFERING AND POVERTY

As a member of the world touring team and as representative of the 650,000 National Council of Negro Women Clubs, Mrs. Sampson told how the Lord aided her in securing over $11,000 in order to make the world wide trip in 1949.

She related of visiting countries where people had never tasted fresh water, milk, had never worn shoes, where schools had never been established.

"PIONY SUPERIORITY

The noted lecturer spun a most moving picture of the depressing scene of enslaved peoples, many whom she said were the basic factors of our national unpopularity.

Britain, France, Israel Urged To Comply With UN

UNITED NATIONS, NEW YORK — (INS) — Dag Hammarskjold urged Friday that Britain, France and Israel comply promptly with the emergency U. N. Assembly's call for a cease-fire and withdrawal of their forces from Egypt.

The U. N. Secretary-General had ended to armed intervention in Egypt, approved by a 64 to 5 vote in a pre-dawn assembly session early Friday, saying it greatly strengthened the 76-nation world organization and gave "new significance to its principles and purposes."

Hammarskjold at the same time appointed a U. N. three-man "watch dog" committee headed by Nobel peace prize winner Dr. Ralph Bunche to report on compliance by the warring parties in Egypt with the assembly resolution.

Bunche won fame as acting mediator during the Palestine conflict in 1948 when he took over the task of negotiating the Arab-Israeli armistice agreement following the assassination by Israelis of U. N. Mediator Crunt Folke Bernadotte of Sweden.

The other two members of the committee are Undersecretary Ilya Tchernychev, a Soviet national and Constantin Stavropoulos, legal counsel of Greece.

DAILY REPORTS

The Bunche committee will present daily reports to Hammarskjold regarding the Egyptian situation and the state of compliance with the assembly's cease-fire resolution presented to the emergency session last night by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hammarskjold, urging all efforts to reach a lasting Palestine solution, expressed hope that "concrete proposals" will be submitted to the assembly "aiming at progress toward peace with justice or all of the harassed peoples of the region."

At the same time, he cautioned against use of "propaganda" which might further inflame the situation. He said:

"I do not believe that propaganda is the way to friendship. I do not believe that it is by invoking it later while forgetting the spirit of the law you build a future of peace."

AGAINST VIOLENCE

"I do not believe that acts of violence, for whatever reason, lead to cooperation.

"I do not believe that victories bought at the price of violations of treaties create confidence among neighbors. But I do believe that that respect for decisions of the U. N. earns those concerned support from the world community which every nation needs."

Sixty-four nations, including Russia, Nationalist China, the 24-Nation Afro-Asian bloc and the Latin-American group among others, voted for the U. S. resolution, calling for a cease-fire, withdrawal of Israeli forces and the halting of further armed intervention in the area.

Jackson National Baptist Head Delivers Address

OUR CAUSE MUST BE BIGGER THAN OURSELVES' HE WARNS

BY RAYMOND F. TISBY

Negro Americans were warned not to be overemphasize integration and lose sight of the need to grow with America by Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the 4 million member National Baptist Convention, Inc., U. S. A. in a speech here Friday night.

Dr. Jackson, principal speaker for the climax meeting of the Regular Tennessee Baptist annual conference, warned that Negroes "must not limit our cause to just obtaining civil rights. Our cause must be bigger."

"We as people must not limit our cause to the matter of simply getting our rights. We can fight our battle only to find that America has grown while we stand still," Dr. Jackson felt.

Challenging Negro Americans toward greater self respect and to prepare for greater responsibilities, the leader of the largest Negro religious group in the world asserted "We must set our task to make America a true and great democracy not for one set of folks, but for all."

God sent the Negro to America as "a tester of what a democracy can become" and to help America "become the abiding place of freedom," Dr. Jackson believed, declaring that "if we fail, the day is dark for America."

Speaking on the subject "A Greater Cause For A Greater Life" Dr. Jackson told the 1500 persons in the audience that Negroes could overemphasize integration and "miss the other things."

"If we are to have a larger life, we must embrace a greater cause," the baptist leader contended.

Lauding the work of the Urban League and the NAACP, Dr. Jackson expressed his support of "every organization that works for racial uplift" and believed that "every citizen ought to go to his limit to test what the constitution offers."

Referring to the election picture, Dr. Jackson urged his audience to "pick your party and candidates and be loyal to them."

Dr. Jackson, who recently returned from a speaking tour in Romania, the first American "missionary to do so in 15 years expressed hope that "America will

Skunk Breaks Up Councils Meeting

HENDERSON, Ky. — (ANP) — A pro-segregation leader here was yelling "foul play" last Thursday night after someone threw a skunk in his car and broke up a rally of a white citizens' group at nearby Roberts.

James Balze, chairman of the Henderson County Citizens' Council, later drove the car to the sheriff's office to protest the incident.

The skunk, apparently in bad temper over his rough handling, expressed his feelings by sending the several hundred people attending the meeting on their ways.

Brother, Sister, Charged With Killing "Healer"

MISSISSIPPIANS INDICTED ON CHARGES OF MURDERING MEMPHIS "FAITH HEALER"

A Mississippi man and his sister were indicted here Friday for the shotgun slaying of a Memphis "faith healer."

Lee Tolliver, 23, and his sister, Miss Gracie Lee Tolliver, both of Coldwater, Miss., were indicted by the Shelby County Grand Jury for the October 22 slaying of George Webster 46, at his home, 1683 Kantas.

It is reported that the accused pair told police that they came here from Coldwater to shoot Webster after having received guidance from God to commit the act.

"KILLED MY MOTHER"

Tolliver, a plantation worker, previously reported that "Webster killed my mother."

In an interview, Tolliver is reported to have stated that, "Daddy took five stones to go kill Goliath." Tolliver further related that he took his old shotgun and five shells and came to Memphis to kill "Goliath."

According to facts relative to the incident, Tolliver said that Webster treated his mother nearly a year ago here in Memphis. He said that his mother died later in an insane home near Whitfield, Miss.

VOODOO CURSE

"Webster killed my mother thru voodooism," Tolliver stated during an interview. "I jumped on Webster about killing my mother," Tolliver went on to say, "he put a voodoo curse on me and my sister."

The Shelby County Grand Jury returned an indictment of first degree murder against the pair.

WASHINGTON HIGH NEWS

BY FRED GAITHERS

Dear Readers: Especially Manassites! I sympathize with Robert "Rudy" Allen and Janice Day, editors of Manassas High School News for the most undignified way you presented yourselves to the public in your deplorable column. It appears to me that you are covetous of the merited honors lately bestowed upon Booker T. Washington.

You have proven that Manassas is a poor loser in and every way. I may not be a Gloria Lockerman in my spelling but when it comes to books, I am second cousin to Einstein. As far as my column is concerned I can boast of being one of the first schools to publish a column this year. And in my column I included the Top Ten. Spotlight student of the week, of which you have proudly copied.

Just as you have imitated our "graduations and hiptwisting motions" of the past, you are at liberty to do so now. Maybe that will help your team improve.

Sure our Jive Band performed. They know how. And how! And, now don't be so hurt because our "Presleyettes" beat your "Presleyettes" by your "Presleyettes." You will have another chance at it. It is true that the spectators were stunned. However not at any "ideal," but the actual incompetent performance of the "Great Northsiders." Better luck next time. — Don't whine!

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY
In the spotlight this week we have a very attractive young lady from the Senior Class in the person of Miss Earlie Walls.

She is an active senior where she is a member of the N. H. A. L. A. L. Miss Earlie Walls, library staff and Chramexes Club. She is a member of the Mount Pisgah Church where she sings in the Junior Choir.

Her hobbies are cooking and reading. She likes to attend a good movie or go to dances. She plans to attend Wayne University and take some courses that will enable her to become an efficient secretary.

MELROSE STUDENTS AND ALSO TEACHERS
If you read the Memphis World you probably know what I am talking about. The paper is sponsoring a contest for the best Back, the best Linesmen, and the best Coach. So you know that all three of them are right here at Melrose. Will you please fill out the ballots that appear in the paper you are now reading and send it in to the Memphis World or turn them over to your reporter Willie Rounds. Thank you very much and I am sure when the next tabulation of the ballots Melrose will be right up there where they belong.

THE GOLDEN WILDCATS TOO TOUGH
The Melrose Golden Wildcats defeated the Washington Warriors 33-6 Friday night in their own backyard. The Wildcats led by halfback Calvin Moore, fullback James Armour, and halfback Arion Hackett took the field with all intentions of winning this one.

Although the Warriors put up one of the best fights of the season the Wildcats line and backfield were at its best and they proved it by stopping the Warriors three times at their own ten yard line.

The game was tight all the way until the last quarter when Moore broke the ice with a 35 yard run around end. Then moments later Armour broke through center for a untouched 30 yard run, that broke the game wide open. Then Wilson a Junior halfback, broke away for a 22 yard run for another touch down. The final touchdown came in the last moments of the game on a pass from halfback Arion Hackett, who had been getting the Wildcats out of trouble all night, to end C. Hicks who skated all the way.

FIRST DRIVER SAFETY PROGRAM
A very informative film emphasizing Safe Driving was shown to a very attentive audience of present and potential drivers in a recent assembly. Mr. J. I. Taylor is in charge of the SD programs. The film was based on the facilities deriving from faulty brakes, impatientness, souped-up motors and worry while driving.

THE GLEN MILLER STORY
The Helm Film Enterprise recently premiered "The Glen Miller Story" at that plush and ultra modern Douglass Theatre. Many celebrities were present on the opening night and one night stand of this moving, humorous and affable story of one of America's most noted musicians.

Those of you who say the "Eddy Duchin Story" have raved about this motion picture, but the Miller Story surpassed it and more, we thought.

Meet me on the colossal set of the H. I. and I will brief you on their next film.

MEMPHIANS were honored over the week-end to have ATTY. EDITH SAMPSON, a prominent Chicago lawyer and former United Nations alternate delegate during Mr. Truman's administration in Memphis to speak for the Democrats in an invitation extended by Dr. J. E. Walker. Mrs. Sampson, who in private life is the wife of the prominent Atty. Clayton, was the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Julian Kelso and Dr. Wallace. Mrs. Sampson graces the circle of her high position, that has given her many walks with the United States President, with Senators, Representatives and even a luncheon engagement at Hampton-Clayton residence with the stately Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt spending the evening with Mrs. Sampson who is admired around the entire world for her courageous and able leadership. As a world traveler and a great orator. It was through the trip that she made around the world as representative of the United Nations that she became internationally known.

Organizations of which Mrs. Sampson too is a member went all out to plan for her entertainment. The accomplished orator and stateswoman left the Mississippi mansion just before 8 P. M. with her hostess Mrs. Kelso and "Your Columnist" who was driving off for Clayborne Temple. We were graciously escorted by Mrs. Hattie Foster who along with Rev. pastor of the church, held a special service for our parking. The democratic ladies, headed by Mrs. Jana Porter and Foster pinned a white orchid on the speaker. We took her directly from the church to Tony's Inn where the Links, Inc. (national organization of which she is a member) awaited her arrival. During her hours chat with the group (who were entertained by Mrs. Caffrey Bartholomew) she had cocktails before dinner in the next room at Tony's with the Democrats. Among those in the group were Mrs. Porter, Mrs. W. W. Walker, Mr. Frank Kilpatrick, Sr., Mrs. Dorothy Curry and Mr. Jimmy Walker. Enroute back into the city we made a short stop off with Mrs. C. C. Sawyer. By this time the international figure had extended herself as far as she could go. She was anxious to attend the Pan-Hellenic dance for sorors especially Mrs. Bernice Calloway and Miss Gloria Callan, basileus of the local Zeta's awaited her arrival. With us never have I seen one so gracious and so apologetic about not feeling up to every activity of the evening. Flowers were extended Mrs. Sampson by Mrs. Frankie L. Robinson

PANHELLENIC GIVES ANNUAL HARVEST SUBSCRIPTION BALL

A large group of Greeks and friends enjoyed the gay ball planned by members of the Pan-Hellenic Council on Friday evening when we danced until 3 at Club Ebony. Responsible for arrangements were three representatives (in most cases) from each organization who were Miss Gloria Callan, Mrs. Bertha Ray and Mrs. Bernice Calloway from the Zeta Phi Beta sorority; Reverend H. M. Nelson, Mr. Thomas Doggett and Mr. Harold Osborne all Alpha Phi Alpha men.

Mrs. Frances Duval, Mrs. Fay Parker and Mrs. Jennie V. Woods Kirby. Alpha Kappa Alpha representatives: Miss Geraldine Diamond, Miss Marilyn Watkins and Mr. Elmer Henderson and Mr. Robert Wynn Kappa men Mrs. M. L. Adams, Mrs. Charles P. Roland and Mrs. Minnie Echols Sigma Gamma Rho representatives; Mr. A. B. Bland, Mrs. John Cutlay and Dr. E. A. Witherspoon. Phi Beta Sigma representatives and Mr. John Parker, Chairman of the Pan-Hellenic Council and Mr. Willard Bell representing the Omega men.

MRS. JENNIE TARPLEY ENTERTAINS NON PAREIL CLUB

Highlights of last week-end was the dinner-bridge given by Mrs. Jennie Tarpley on Saturday afternoon when she entertained members of the Non Pareil Club of which she is a member at her swanky modernistic ranch style home on South Parkway East. Guests gathered early in the basement rumpus room where the bar and the spacious room formed a lovely setting for the hors d'oeuvres table. However, they mingled to the all aqua dining-living area that peeps out through glass doors on a back terrace. A full course dinner was served. Mrs. Tarpley was assisted in receiving her guests by her daughter-in-laws, Mrs. Marvin Tarpley and Mrs. "Buddy" Tarpley, and Miss Gerry Anderson.

Guests invited included Mrs. Estelle Erixston, Mrs. O. B. Braithwaite, Mrs. Rivers King, Mrs. C. M. Roulhac, Mrs. Alzona Haste and Miss Jim Ella Cotton. Members there were Mrs. Ann Stribling, Mrs. Lella Flagg, Mrs. A. L. Plaxico, Mrs. Belle Pettigrew, Mrs. Mamie Pamphlet, Mrs. Beale Burton, Mrs. Theresa Perkins, Mrs. Bertha Stigall, Mrs. Nettie Reeves, and Mrs. Laura Westley, Mrs. Elsie Owens was the only member unable to be present.

MRS. IDA MOORE IS WED TO HOUSTON MINISTER OF WIDE SPREAD CHURCH AND SOCIAL INTEREST

throughout the South and throughout the nation is the recent announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Ida Moore, daughter of the late Mr. Henry Tate and Mrs. Viola Tate of Memphis and wife of the late Bishop Moore to the Reverend C. N. Reed of Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Moore was graduated from LeMoine College after attending the Columbia University in New York City. Work towards the masters degree was done at Northwestern University. For several years she has taught in the Memphis City School system and at present is a member of the Hampton High School faculty. The bride is a member of the A. K. A. society.

Reverend Reed is pastor of Porter Institution C. M. E. Church in Houston. He is a graduate of Texas College at Tyler and was of the very few Negroes to attend S. M. U. Southern Methodist University graduating with honors. The prominent Texas minister formerly stood at the head of the Theological Department at Ten-

College.

MRS. LUCILE WASHINGTON arrived here from her home in Pittsfield, Mass. (just out of Boston) for a visit with her father a sister and a brother and his wife, Mr. George Toles, Sr. Miss Elizabeth Toles and Mr. and Mrs. George Toles, Jr. Mrs. Washington is spending much of her time in Jackson with her daughter Jean Washington who is attending Lane College. Jean was a Freshman last year at LeMoine.

MR. AND MRS. MACEO WALKER attended over the week-end at Fisk University where he is an alumnus and Trustee and where they also visited their pretty young daughter, "PAT" a freshman at the university.

MRS. KATHERINE PERRY THOMAS had as her house guest last week MRS. JIMMIE BURDINE of Dallas. Mrs. Burdine attended the Home Coming at the Universal Life Insurance Company with over a hundred other members of the Universal family who were rewarded for their outstanding work.

LAUDS GOV. CLEMENT

"We salute your Governor of all the people, and give credit where credit is due," Mrs. Sampson disclosed in lauding Tennessee's chief of state in his courageous step during the tempestuous recent school integration problems. Sen. Kefauver was labeled a great humanitarian and liberal American in world affairs, the noted speaker declared.

CIVIC LEADERS PRESENT

IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM

The program got underway with Dr. J. E. Walker, chairman of the Shelby County Independent Democratic Club, bringing the event to order, and introducing Rev. DeWitt Alcorn who delivered the invocation. Memphis Mayor Edmund Orgill, in officially greeting the guest in behalf of the city, reminiscently told of how as a young boy, he was a member of the now Clayborne A.M.E. Temple Church.

Mr. Judson McKellar, in introducing Mrs. Sampson, presented a colorful biographical sketch of her activities from the time of her birth in Pittsburgh, Pa., up until her selection by the Truman administration to the coveted position of UN alternate delegate.

Others on the stage as principals during the program were Prof. Blair T. Hunt, and J. T. Walker, program chairman, who climaxed the event with a stirring get out vote plan on Nov. 6.

PRE-PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Prior to the start of the evening's main event, the audience was entertained by the B. T. Washington High School Band under the direction of W. T. McDaniels, conductor, and the Manassas High School Choir, directed by Mrs. Bobbie Blakely Jones, senior director and Mrs. Bennie Westbrook Sueing, junior director. The Clayborne A.M.E. Temple Choir offered several pleasing numbers.

The two high school musical groups showed discipline, verve and mature dexterity in their handling of difficult assignments.

LATE ARRIVAL-MOTORCADE

Mrs. Sampson's plane arriving late at 4:55 p. m. at the airport, was met by a large local Democratic Party delegation including: Dr. J. E. Walker, chairman; Rev. Alexander Gladney, vice chairman; Mrs. Jana Porter, chairman of the receiving committee, and J. T. Walker, program committee chairman.

The party, in motorcade police escorted, motored through Memphis' principal thoroughfares and then to Dr. Walker's residence where Mrs. Sampson was house guest.

FETED LOCALLY

During the program Mrs. Sampson was presented a beautiful floral gift from the four local chapters of Alpha Gamma Chi Sorority, Mrs. Frankie L. Robinson made the presentations.

Mrs. Sampson, following the program, was feted later by the Links and Democratic Ladies, respectively.

GET 'EM WHOLESALE

The guest watched with amusement as the young son of the house amused himself by driving nails in to the furniture. Recovering a bit from the shock, he turned to his host and asked: "Joe isn't that an expensive pastime your son has? How can you afford it?"

MY WEEKLY SERMON

BY BLAIR T. HUNT
PASTOR
MISSISSIPPI BLVD. CHRISTIAN CHURCH, MEMPHIS

THE LAYMAN IS A PREACHER TOO

TEXT: "Noah, a preacher of righteousness." II Peter 2:5.

Many churches are observing laymen's day at this season of the year. This brings forward the question, what is a Layman? Webster states, "A layman is one of the clergy, a person not belonging to some particular profession." In the church world we may say, "A Clergyman is paid to be good, a Layman is good for nothing."

In many churches the laymen are banded together for the purpose of undergirding the total program of the church. In some churches this band of men is known as laymen league, christian men's fellowship, the brotherhood, etc.

Isaac, Jacob, Abraham and Noah were great laymen of the Old Testament. In a New Testament the apostles were at first great laymen who earned their living as tax-collectors, fishermen, laborers and tradesmen. Noah was a great layman, he was a shipbuilder and an architect but he was a layman who was a great preacher of righteousness.

Today in our pews are some great preachers of righteousness. They don't preach from a pulpit. They are men whose lives are sermons. After all we would rather see a sermon than hear one. For "what you do speaks so loudly I can't hear what you say."

Some mighty good sermons are preached from the pulpit; some mighty good sermons are preached from the pews. Likewise some mighty rotten sermons are preached from the pews. Brother Laymen, that was a mighty rotten sermon you preached when you filled your stomach with alcoholic liquor, that was a mighty poor sermon you preached when you enjoyed your self in needless fun chasing on Sunday, forsaking church attendance. What an ugly sermon you preached Brother Layman, when you sat at the card table. Some one heard that sad sermon when you gambled, when you cheated, when you stole. Brother Layman, who sits in the pew remember you are preaching as well as the clergyman who stands behind the pulpit. Probably more people see your sermons than hear the preachers' sermons from the pulpit.

Noah was a layman who preached "righteousness." See Peter 2:5. May the Laymen of today preach Jesus Christ by lifting up Jesus Christ to a sin-cursed world. Jesus said, "and I will be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." Yes, Brother Layman, lift up Jesus Christ, God's son, who in his infancy startled Kings, who in his childhood puzzled the doctors of philosophy, who in his manhood

HER SUGGESTION PAID OFF

One of the largest cash awards for an employee's suggestion at Mallory Air Force Station in recent months has been presented to Mrs. Dorothy Bowen, Material Control Division. Her award of $235 is based on a suggestion which is estimated will save the Air Force $8,304.96 annually. Mrs. Bowen's suggestion was relative to new methods in handling non-listed stock items. Col. W. P. Sloan, commander, said, "Interest you have shown in the Suggestion Awards Program is commendable in that it denotes not only a genuine interest in your job but an interest in your government and the increase of efficiency in its operation."

Miss Lincoln Is Chosen During Homecoming

By JAMES A. SAUNDERS
One of the outstanding features of the Homecoming celebration set for November 10 at Lincoln University this year, will be a half time performance by the Fabulous Pirates Drum and Bugle Corps of Kansas City. In her freshman and junior years, Miss Bradshaw served as an attendant to the queen and last year, she was chosen as sweetheart of Company B of the campus ROTC unit. When informed of her election victory Miss Bradshaw said: "This is the one title I dreamed of, but never thought I would get." A coronation-ball honoring the new queen will be held in the gymnasium immediately after the coronation program. On Wednesday at the regular conference received from Mr. Sharp indicates that he is very pleased with the course and the he is getting much needed information. The entire Universal Family is wishing for Mr. Mr. Sharp the best of everything, because it believes very firmly that the future belongs to those who prepare for it.

stilled stormy billows, and put the sea to sleep. Who in his love died for sinners. Ours is a world in deep distress. Many men of science but few men of God. Men of brilliance but without wisdom. Ours is a world of Nuclear plants and ethical infants. Men have grasped the mystery of the atom and rejected the sermon of the mountain.

Laymen, Jesus Christ is the only panacea for the world's ills. Remember every layman should be a preacher of righteousness undergirding the total program of the Church. Layman, you can go where the clergyman can't go. You go daily into the shop, the factory, the office. Daily you reach multitudes that the clergyman cannot reach. Like Noah, a Layman of old, be a preacher of righteousness.

Esker Harris Is Profiled In Los Angeles Newspaper

A Memphis youth who is making good athletically and scholastically at the University of California, Los Angeles Branch was the subject of a recent column by Dick Hyland in the Los Angeles Times.

Esker Harris, a graduate of Melrose high school here where he was an all-around athlete as well as an honor student, was profiled in the "Hysland Fling" feature by the Times columnist Mr. Hyland.

Esker Harris

"There is a 20-year-old at UCLA who will play against the Cougars in the Coliseum, whom any man would be proud to call 'son.' He is a very soft-spoken individual. In high school he was named to the National Honor Society, which is based strictly on scholarship. He is majoring in chemistry and specializing in quantitative analysis at UCLA.

"During the football season and throughout the school year he studies from 7 P. M. to midnight, and all day on Sundays. This last summer he worked for Douglas Aircraft in the chemistry department.

"ATHLETICALLY, his coach, Jim Myers, says of him, 'Last year he was one of our most outstanding sophomores. This season, he is bigger, stronger, shows more poise and gained confidence in his ability to do a job.'

"Athletically, too, Bruin Guard Esker Harris is our Los Angeles Times Golden Gloves Heavyweight Champion. At 20 years old, he has been boxing for seven years.

"Esker Harris went to Melrose High School in Memphis, Tenn. His father started him boxing in grammar school so that he could learn to 'take care of himself.' It is suggested that Chemist Harris has learned to do just that. His record as an amateur boxer is astonishing.

"1954, eighth grade, 14 years old: Won Tri-State 118-pound championship. 1951, ninth grade, 15 years old: Won Tri-State 135 pound title. 1952, 10th grade, 16 years old: Won Tri-State 147 pound title and was runner-up in the AAU tournament. — 1953, 11th grade, 17 years old: Won Tri-State 147-pound title, won AAU (Southern) title, was semifinalist in St. Louis Golden Gloves.

"1954, 12th-grade, 18 years old: Won Tri-State 160-pound title, won Jackson AAU, finalist at St. Louis Golden Gloves, 1955, UCLA Fresh, 19 years old: At 170 pounds, finalist

"Harris reported to Freshman Football Coach Johnny Johnson weighing 170 pounds. Today, two years later, he weighs 201. There is not an ounce of fat on him. He explains his weight gain by saying, 'When I was in prep school, I did not gain weight naturally like other athletes. I had to stay in training for boxing. Now that I am a heavyweight I don't have to worry. I expect to go to 210-215 next season and believe my best playing weight sometime in the future will be about 225.'

"While Harris was doing that prep school boxing, he found time to letter also in football and track and make senior class president. He is third in a family of seven and says, despite his own record, that his younger brother George, who is quarterback for Howard University in Washington, D. C., has all the brains in the family. He, too, is a chemistry major.

"When he was graduated from Prep school Harris wanted to go to some college that had a good chemistry department. Tommy Prothro, now Oregon State's coach was in Memphis and told him about UCLA. 'I considered the opportunity to come to a school such as UCLA would more than make up for the extra money I could have gotten for going to other schools.'

"Harris is supposedly one of the Bruins who received $10 a week at Westwood to equalize different conference cost of living levels. While the list of those who received this amount is unknown and unpublished, the Pacific Coast Conference has taken the peculiar stand that everyone at Westwood is guilty until proven innocent.

"Harris says that his idol and the greatest football player he has seen is Jim Salabury, Bruin All-American guard in 1954. Characteristically, he says his greatest athletic thrill came last year when Jim Decker kicked a last-minute field goal to win the Washington game. Harris had nothing to do with this. He was on the sideline at the time. "It's my greatest thrill, just the same," he says.

"A team player, a great boy, is Harris. If he can just develop Salabury's drive and consistent aggressiveness on the football field, he could become as good as his idol."

Wilkins Challenges Eastland On Latter's Free Election Plea

NEW YORK — Mississippi Senator James O. Eastland has been challenged on his expressed desire for free elections in Poland by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary.

Sen. Eastland recently released a statement proposing that the United Nations press for free elections in Poland. The following day, Mr. Wilkins telegraphed the Senator to ask for free elections in Mississippi. He pointed out that a half-million potential Negro voters are disfranchised in Mississippi by "fraud, trickery and terror."

"We are convinced," Mr. Wilkins told Sen. Eastland, "that you can do far more than urge free elections in your home state. You can use your influence as a United States Senator to open the polls. The need for action in Mississippi is even more urgent than in Poland."

On Oct. 24, an official of the U. S. Department of Justice said that qualified Negro voters by the thousands are being cut off the election rolls of at least five southern states, including Mississippi. Warren Olney, III, Asst. Attorney General in charge of the criminal division, said the justice department intends to prosecute the denial of voting rights.

It was reported by a press association in August of last year that the Democratic Executive Committee of Mississippi had named a special committee to find ways of cutting down the number of Negro voters. Committee Chairman Tom Tubb was quoted at that time as saying, "I'm concerned about Negroes registering to vote."

In September of last year, U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. announced an investigation into the reported intimidation and rejection of Negro voters in Mississippi. In some Mississippi counties, Mr. Brownell said, the indications are that ballots cast by Negroes were apparently not counted and that Negroes were kept from the polls by threats and intimidation.

Also in 1955, two Negro men were killed and another seriously wounded in Mississippi because of their determination to register and vote or to get other Negroes to do so. Two of the victims were known to have been warned not to try to vote.

Changes in Your Social Security

BY J. W. EANES
 District Manager of the Memphis Social Security Office (Sixth of Ten Articles)

Under the old social security law, benefit payments to a child ended when the child reached age 18. For most children, this provision still holds. A change in the law, however, now provides for the payment of benefits under certain conditions to a disabled child after age 18 if the child became totally disabled before age 18.

To be eligible for child's benefits after age 18, the child must be unmarried, and be dependent on a parent, step-parent, or adopting parent who is eligible for old-age insurance benefits, or who was insured for the purpose of survivors benefits at the time of his or her death. The mother of the child is also eligible for monthly benefit payments as long as she continues to have the disabled child in her care.

I say "child" because the child's benefit payments under this provision in the amended law are based on a disability which became total before the child's 18th birthday. However, the benefits continue indefinitely into adult years as long as the beneficiary remains totally disabled. Moreover, it is not necessary that the recipient of disabled child's benefits have any work record at all under social security in order to get these monthly payments.

In writing the provision for disabled child's benefits into the amended law, Congress gave recognition to a well-known fact. Disabled children are as dependent on their parents after attaining age 18 as before and therefore it was felt that it was important to fill this gap in the Federal insurance program by providing benefits for children who would not be able to support themselves.

We all realize the distressing and serious situation faced by people who have the care of a child who because of a mental deficiency never grows up, or who because of a physical impairment requires constant care throughout life. The concern of these parents is the more acute because they are constantly haunted by the spectre of uncertainty—what will happen to the child when the usual family income is cut off by the death or retirement of the family breadwinner.

Parents of children who are disabled should get in touch with our social security office after September, 1956. The first payments to disabled children or over, whose disability became total before they reached age 18 will be for January 1957. However, no monthly payments for the child and for the mother with the child in her care will be lost if application for the benefits is made before the end of January 1956, because payments can go back as many as 12 months before the month in which an application is made.

In my next article, I shall describe provisions in the new law as they affect people who work and live on a farm.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

Two football games of tremendous interest to local fans are scheduled for the week-end at the Washington and Melrose Stadiums. Both are arousing a great deal of enthusiasm among football lovers of the Bluff City and surrounding territory.

One is the Prep League game between the St. Augustine Thunderbolts and the Manassas Tigers on Friday night at Washington Stadium, and the other is the college game on Saturday night at Melrose Stadium between the Tennessee A and I State Tigers and the Alcorn Braves, Lorman, Miss. in the sixth annual Bluff City Classic.

Several Memphis boys who were outstanding during their prep school days here are included in the Tennessee squad's roster. Among them are Andrew Earthenman and Jesse Wilburn, halfbacks, and Robert Crawford, quarterback from Melrose; halfback Faye Mitchell, former Douglas High star, and end Ernie Mayes, former Hamilton High, "All Memphis" end.

All these players are making football history with the Tennessee Tigers. Wilburn, who was a whiz of a ball carrier at Melrose High School, has just about reached his peak, and enjoying, perhaps, his greatest year. Known as "Mr. Inside" he has been a ball of fire all season. Faye Mitchell, the former Douglas wonder, has caused many an opposing coach to wonder what makes him tick. All of the Memphis first stringers are likely to see action against Alcorn.

In the Alcorn lineup will be such outstanding performers as quarterback Buford Magee, 180-pounder from Greenville, Miss.; Teddy Davis, 240-pound guard from Jackson, Miss.; Wardell Davis, 230-pound end from Ackerman, Miss.; Charles Turner, hard running fullback from Brookhaven, Miss.; and Johnny Clay, 190-pound tackle from Laurel.

The game is the sixth annual Bluff City Classic with the Tennessee team as host. In former years, Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo., furnished the opposition. This will be Alcorn's first appearance in the Classic.

Kick-off time will be 8 p. m. The Prep League game at Washington Stadium on Friday night between the Thunderbolts of St. Augustine and the Tigers of Manassas will have a direct bearing on the undisputed possession of the league title.

The Thunderbolts, with a 4-0 record in league play will be out to stop the Tigers and capture the league championship. They have been impressive in their triumphs over Washington, Melrose, Douglas and Hamilton. So, now the only obstacle between them and the league title is this game with Manassas.

On the Manassas record of 1-3 it would seem that the Thunderbolts might be in for an easy victory, but sometimes there could be more with which to contend than what appears on the surface. Although the Manassas' only victory was against Hamilton, there is such a thing as a so-called underdog rising up and turning on their tormentors with disastrous results for the over-confident.

Many times a team that appears to be going no place fast, suddenly becomes aroused and all-fired up and play like champions for a day. At such times, their opponents can be taken by surprise, or caught off-guard and when they realize what is happening it is too late. What was behind the Hamilton victory over Popper Washington?

From where we sit it appears that the Thunderbolts will take the league championship. A victory over Manassas will insure it, a defeat at the hands of the clawless Tigers will leave them in a tie with Melrose, four victories and one defeat. Over confidence, the element of surprise or under estimation of their opponents should stop the Thunderbolts from capturing the league championship.

So, all in all, a full weekend for football lovers is in store for the local fans. The Prep League championship encounter at Washington Stadium on Friday night and the Tennessee A and I State University-Alcorn game at Melrose Stadium Saturday night.

Unbeaten Tennessee State Rips Southern Cats, 52-6

BY EARL CLINTON

NASHVILLE — Tennessee's Memphis-born total offense leader Jesse Wilburn ("Mr. Inside"), 170-pound halfback from Melrose prep school and circus-catching pass receiver Atlanta-born Leon Jamison led the way for their teammates as Tennessee State Tigers thrashed Southern University 52-6. Next Saturday night undefeated Tigers tackle Alcorn in Memphis Bluff City Classic.

The Howard C. Gentry — coached blue and white tigers had a field day winning their sixth start of the season before 4,700 miscellaneous homefolks in W. J. Hale Stadium last Saturday afternoon. The near-capacity stadium crowd included many southern rooters, marching bands cheer leaders, ROTC Drill Team and Baton Rouge bonafide, club members who journeyed to Nashville for the game. Coach Gentry displayed the Tiger's full fury on A. W. Mumford's Jaguar cats scoring in every stanza. Alternating between a jet-like running attack and timely accurate passing the Gentry-mentored lads chalked up 198 yards on the ground in 31 sorties and 387 via the airwaves completing 14 of 23 attempts. Mr. Inside Wilburn and Jamison shared scoring honors with two each.

Freshman halfback, Memphis, Andy Earthenman scored the first TD in Tennessee's 11th straight win over a two-season period when he scurried around his left end from the three-yard stripe, capping a 44-yard pay dirt drive, early in the first quarter. Percy "Mr. Outside" Hines, who moved into the number two total offense spot with his ground gaining, piling up 68 yards in 11 carries, streaked for pay dirt from the 6 to complete the season's longest TD drive 81 yards in the second quarter.

Scoring almost at will, quarterback Bob "Fancy Dan" Crawford's well oiled throwing arm connected for two touchdown passes while hitting 12 of 18 attempts. Fancy Dan, who came to Tennessee from Memphis' Melrose High School, chalked up the game's third score when he hit Jamison for a 27-yard touchdown pass play. Again in the fourth, Fancy Dan Crawford unrolled a 25 yard pass play to halfback Wilburn that scored setting up the TD. Tennessee intercepted a Jaguar cats pass on Southern's 38. A nine yard pass set up Wilburn's pass catching score. Gentry's grant-like forward walled by captain James Buford, senior guard tackle Charles Gavin limited the Jaguar cats to 26 yards in the air and 80 on the ground. Captain Buford and Gavin, the only two members of the Tiger's sixty minute club — Both played the entire capitol classic 6-0 victory over Maryland State game. Opened the way for tiger speedsters to pick up 22 first downs and holding southern to 12. Thomas Mable, Gentry's first string left guard was disqualified late in the fourth stanza.

Mr. Outside Hine's 49-yard punt return on a reverse, taking the ball from Wilburn who maced the match. Set up the TD drive that ended with Wilburn taking the ball over from the six. Also in the third quarter, Jamison took a 15 yard pass from quarterback Wilbur Sweeney. Gentry's number two signal Bauer from Dayton, Ohio, and leaped into the end zone. Fullback William "Oogie" Griffith and all-conference halfback Fay Mitchell turned two southern fourth quarter miscues into Tennessee tallies. Griffith bulled his way over from the one to ice a 38 yard drive after Tennessee recovered a cat's fumble. Tennessee kicked off after scoring, and on the very first play, southern fumbled and Tennessee recovered on southern's five. A 15-yard penalty moved the ball to the 30 from where Mitchell turned his right end and out-sprinted southern's defenders to score.

Southern's only score came in the fourth period Mumford's lads took the ball inside Tennessee's 20. Two consecutive penalties move the ball to the one and Clinton Duckworth, Manassas' 207-pound senior fullback blasted to pay dirt to become the first opponent to score on the tigers from scrimmage this season.

Score by quarters, Tennessee 6-12-14-29. Southern 0-0-0-6.

Veterans Benefit, Inc. Is:

SOMETHING NEW — SOMETHING DIFFERENT BY T. J. JOHNSON

In an age when the painful purchase of the Dollar is Order No. 11; in an age when the philosophy of Cain shrouds through the reach of centuries "Am I my brother's keeper"; in an age when mind too often succumbs to matter, and the spirit of Jesus is remembered only for a day — the Sabbath; in such an age it is refreshing to run across a man who says he is going to use his training and talents for the benefit of others.

Whether inspired or not, the man in question James F. Estes, organized Veterans Benefit, Inc., about a month ago, and today it is the most vocal, coupled with the most active, and the fastest growing organization "Bronze Memphis" has ever known. Not a year old, yet already it has a home and a family of more than two thousand members. It has sixteen paid workers and a Directorate, honored by the names of some of the best informed and enthusiastic of Memphis's ex-service men.

The organization fills an exigent need. Out of the thousands of our boys and girls who responded to the call of their country in the last three wars, only a few are qualified to interpret the meaning and fitness of legislative enactments passed by state legislatures and congress for their benefit and protection. Veterans Benefit has been organized to meet and fill this need. It's something new — something different.

Sometime ago we ran across one of the throw-away circulars used by Veterans Benefit during the period of organization. It listed fifteen provisions which we herewith present: (1) Welfare, sick and unemployment benefits, (2) A protective plan designed to meet the distinctive needs of veterans and their dependents, (3) A death benefit payable to the beneficiary of a deceased member, (4) Complete claim service and benefit service of all veteran affairs, (5) Means for building up protected savings against which a member may procure a quick personal loan in event of an emergency, (6) A central repository service for valuable papers and documents, (7) A real estate loan to save veterans homes from foreclosure, (8) A rest-home for disabled and convalescent veterans, (9) Lodging for veterans seeking over-night stay in the city (10) Job placement service, (11) Provisions for business opportunities, (12) Cash benefits for veterans who have subscribed to its financial undertakings, (13) Free income tax return preparation, (14) It provides complete protection for members in event of trouble (15) Its memberships are open to all veterans of the Navy, Army, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard including Active Duty servicemen on active duty, regular duty or obligated service at time of Application.

Tuesday's Important Election

Hardly has there been an occasion in the last several years which bore more significance than that of the coming presidential election which will be this Tuesday. When the curtains go up on that memorable day there will begin the drama of the age — the trek of citizens going to the polls to cast ballots to decide possibly the fate of the nation.

Of major importance will be the election of a President to continue to guide the nation through the serious crisis in which the balance of peace hangs.

At this very moment in the midst of the closing days of this campaign the President of the United States has cancelled some of his important speaking engagements in order to address himself first to the duties as president with the campaign being secondary. Thusly the administration can safely rest upon the laurels of obvious achievements. The sentiments of the country are to the effect that the President should be reelected; that this is no time to experiment with green hands and for the swapping of achievement for promises.

Tuesday is the day, the day of opportunity — the day when the nation will return to the altars of sacred trust for an expression of eternal gratitude for their great leader by the simple token of a vote.

The records are written; the country is enjoying a record employment with its fiscal agencies sound and there are no sane reasons why Eisenhower and Nixon should not be returned to the custody of office so gracefully administered at their hands.

So, the day of decision arrives. Americans have always met those challenges that have come into the life of this Republic with calm, sober and sane judgment. They will meet this one and beyond the shadow of a doubt they will enlist every eligible voter about them to get on the job this Tuesday and not rest until every vote has been cast.

Having met this challenge before, those who on this occasion are charged to carry on in the tradition of our heritage come to the serious threshold of decision which cannot be anywise bypassed nor compromised with those less essentials, the mere abstracts of the great objective now before the American people and the world.

Tuesday, November 6th, 1956.
This will be a date inscribed on marble and gold or else one to be ruled by those who come after us, whose misfortune will be that of having been the children of those who failed them in a simple duty of honor.

We are here on this important occasion to lay party regularity and partisan friendship aside and seize the whole armor of faith and that belief in a free nation proclaimed by Washington in his farewell address and rededicated by Abraham Lincoln on the commons of Gettysburgh — when he exclaimed:

"Fourscore and seven years ago, our forefathers brought upon this continent a NEW NATION conceived in Liberty and dedicated — to the proposition — all men are created equal. Yea — Tuesday, November Sixth Is The Day.

SOUTHLAND FUTURE IN DOUBT

There appeared on each ballot in Arkansas in the General Election two proposed constitutional amendments. These proposed amendments afforded an opportunity to voters of this state to determine whether they wished a continuation of horse and dog racing or either of them. One proposed amendment would eliminate all legalized pari-mutual betting and was called Proposed Amendment 49; the other would wipe out all pari-mutual betting except that in Hot Springs and was called Proposed Amendment 50.

If a majority of the Arkansas voters for Amendment 49, the effect will be to eliminate Southland Greyhound Corporation at West Memphis, regardless of the vote on Amendment 50, which was put on the ballot by Hot Springs interests to protect themselves in the event there should be greater hostility to dog racing than the horses. An affirmative majority vote on both proposed amendments can pose a conflict affecting only Hot Springs since under both amendments Southland would be barred. However, if a greater majority of votes have been cast for amendment 50, Hot Springs will definitely be able to continue its racing.

The only chance for Southland depended upon a majority vote being negative on both measures.

INSURANCE PAYS MOST OF HEALTH BILLS

Voluntary health insurance pays 89 per cent of the hospital bills and 75 per cent of the surgical bills for more than half of the American families with such coverage. Dr. Odin W. Anderson, research director of the Health Information Foundation, reports in a new book: "Family Medical Costs and Voluntary Health Insurance: A Nationwide Survey."

ENCHANTED HARBOR

By DOROTHY WORLEY

CHAPTER 31

WHEN Rita joined Bill at the park a few minutes later, he said "Who were your friends?"

"What friends? The surprise in her voice was genuine.

"The couple in the gray Packard."

"My! You really do get around, don't you? You weren't by any chance following me, were you?"

"I get around. And I saw them speak to you."

"They did? They asked me the way out of town. Now I'll ask you, who are they and why are you curious?"

"I don't know who they are. Are you sure they left town?"

"Certainly not. I didn't watch them. I was merely being accommodating in giving them information."

"Rita said abruptly, 'I have a job to do tonight. And you can help me if you will. I don't know whether Alvarez really intends missing the breakfast party or not, but if he asks you, please go. And see that the others go, too.'"

"You'll have to trust me. The party may develop things that may break before then. It's all right now, but he's wary."

"You ask me to trust you, you haven't acted as though you trust me."

"I trust you now."

Their eyes met. Rita said laughing a little, "I think you're trying to, Bill. I really do. But I believe there's still a small doubt in your mind, even if you don't realize it yourself."

"There isn't," Bill insisted. "But I do hope you will do as I say. Get a crowd on that boat. And if you happen to see the gray Packard again, tell me. I have someone watching it, but those people are slick."

One of the men from the government boat walked up and said to Bill, "Did you know the gray Packard has gone?"

"Yes," Bill said. "I saw them leave."

"You didn't follow."

Bill glanced at Rita and said briefly, "They're being followed."

The man said, "I supposed so. A girl in a green Dodge spoke to them as they came out of the hotel. Did you check on her?"

Before Bill could answer, Rita said, "If you mean the stout man in the brown suit and the dark woman, they asked me which way out of town on Highway Ninety."

eight. I told them that was all. It would be a sort of adventure for you."

"Adventure?"

"We're going over to St. George's now—in another boat."

"Really?" Priscilla's voice was tremulously with excitement.

"Want to go?"

"I—I suppose so. I'm not afraid, if that's what you mean."

"There isn't any danger, but I had a little difficulty in persuading them to let me bring you along."

"Persuading whom?"

"The government men."

"Oh—we are going on the government boat?"

"No, we're going on a small cabin cruiser they've borrowed from the owner."

"Why are you taking me, instead of Rita?"

"I thought you might get a kick out of it as the owner—my mistake—as the former owner of Lookout House. Thought it might be something for your memory book."

When they boarded the little cabin cruiser Priscilla's heart was beating faster than normal. She felt that she was in an Arabian Nights tale. One of the men said, "We're not expecting any trouble, but be sure you do what Duval tells you to. Presumably, we're just one of the boats going home from the Harbor Day celebration."

Bill, watching her standing there on the little deck in the golden path of moonlight, hands thrust deep in the pockets of the white coat she had brought along, her hair blowing away from her face, thought, she's a sweet kid. She has no idea what this is all about, but she came without question. It had been an impulse, asking her to come. He knew there was no chance of things going wrong now, at least not one in a thousand.

"Alvarez had a reason for planning the breakfast party and swim in the surf, didn't he, Bill?"

"He certainly did. He's done everything he could today to throw suspicion away from himself. And this party on his yacht tonight is the climax. It diverts attention from other activities and the real reason he's making the trip to the island. I'm sure this wasn't his original idea, but we've made it a little hard for him to follow through as he had planned."

"I should have asked you whether you wanted to go with me, before just telling you to come along, Priscilla. I thought,

Britain, France Object To U.S. Cease Fire Order

LONDON — (INS) — Britain and France rejected the United Nations 'cease-fire call Saturday, and sent bombers and jet fighters against Egyptian military and port defenses. An Anglo-French invasion of Egypt appeared imminent.

A British official said privately tonight that he believed the British and French troops would go ashore "within a few hours" and certainly sometime during the week-end.

The evening communique said allied bombers destroyed or damaged tanks, communication facilities, railroads and military installations in raids on targets and Egyptian troops convoys in or near the Suez Canal zone.

The communique made no mention of any landings and denied a report transmitted by Beirut radio that Anglo-French naval units attacked Suez at the Southern entrance. (Continued on Page 6 Column 6)

UNIVERSAL LIFE HOLDS HOME-COMING CELEBRATION

Because of outstanding achievements in a summer-long contest, 125 Universal Life field representatives made an all-expense paid trip to the Home Office October 26th, to participate in the SECOND HOME-COMING celebration. Members of the field personnel winning all-expense paid trips represented the following districts: Texarkana, Los Angeles No. 2, St. Louis No. 2, Nashville, Dallas and Wichita Falls. They included agents, assistant managers, managers, clerical personnel and special agents. Using cash bonuses won in another contest to make the trip were Beaumont and Tulsa, and Jackson, Tenn. Not having the will power to stay home with such promising happenings in the making at the Home Office, a part of Little Rock came on their own. The first Homecoming was in 1949 when the new Home Office building was dedicated.

The festivities began Thursday evening with a "get acquainted" dinner in the Company's cafeteria, after which the recreation room was opened for dancing, and other forms of recreation. Bridge and dancing were the order of the day, with many old friends meeting and reminiscing. The gracious Home Office hostesses and other members of the clerical personnel lingered long after the office closed to help foster the get acquainted movement.

Friday, the day long awaited — Homecoming — began with assembly and greetings by the officers. An organized tour of the building acquainted the guests with the beautiful, newly decorated home office building, modernly equipped and efficiently staffed. Lunch was served and then their time was their own until 2:30. At that time, the visitors were guest attendants at the regular Home Office Monthly Forum which had been planned especially for them. The day ended on a festive note.

The Halloween Buffet Dinner-Dance was an enjoyable affair. Mrs. Jana Cox Porter prepared a most delicious dinner of turkey, shrimp and all the trimmings, and Turf Green's orchestra was at its best. Intermission entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Posey and Mr. S. Lambert of Los Angeles, both rendering very beautiful vocal selections.

A three-bus tour of the city Saturday morning ended the celebration, and at 12:00 noon the weary but extremely happy guest departed for home and more progressive work which will enable them to come again in 1957.

For most of the visitors, this was their first trip to the Home Office and their first meeting with many of the officers of the Company.

The contest was promoted by the Company under the direction of the Agency Department headed by H. A. Gilliam, Vice-President-Agency Director.
