MEMPHIS SAILOR - Airman Apprentice Alvarno Ashby, 18, a former Naval Reservist, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Ashby, of 988 Lenox Mall, Memphis, Tenn., is being sworn into the regular Navy for a period of six years in an impressive ceremony by Lieutenant Commander C. M. Younger, Jr., Recruit Training Command, United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md. The young sailor attended Booker T. Washington High School before being called to active duty. He was prompted to ship over for the longer tour of duty because of the career opportunities offered by the Navy. After spending a 14 day leave with his family, he will report to his next duty station, Sanford, Florida, where he will receive on the job training in the field of his choice.

Brownell Asks Rights Bills To Curb "Haters"

WASHINGTON - (INS) - Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., yesterday urged prompt passage of administration Civil Rights bills to protect Negroes "from haters and opportunists, from those with sick minds."

The attorney general told a national press club audience the "critical" time has come for action on the proposals, which have met opposition from southern lawmakers. Brownell said members of the Negro race must be "safeguarded" from extremists and "those who have so long been exposed to the poisonous force of untruths that they would deny inalienable rights to other citizens."

In another field, the attorney general warned he would have to ask for increased funds for the FBI if the administration decides to welcome large numbers of Soviet visitors to this country.

He said the iron curtain tourists pose major problems of internal security and that the money would be needed for "investigations."

Presumably Brownell was referring to the possibility of keeping the Red visitors under surveillance.

On civil rights, Brownell warned "we need to face up to the ugly fact that irresponsible action left uncurbed, tends to become progressive, more violent, chain reaction that tends to get out of bounds, one that callously tramples on every-hug-life, liberty or property—in the way of its force."

Meanwhile, Rep. James Roosevelt (D) Calif., launched a move to force a house vote on civil rights legislation before Congress adjourns.

He filed a petition with the House in an effort to bring to the floor a bill which the House Rules Committee has apparently pigeonholed. He did so on behalf of twenty-member.

Roosevelt's petition would discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill if a majority of the House membership signs it. This would take 217 signatures.

Tenn. Gov. Gives Bibles To Convicts

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - (INS) - Tennessee's young Gov. Frank Clement Wednesday personally inscribed a Bible for each inmate at the state prison in Nashville. The Bibles were purchased from the state's contingency fund and each has a notation on the flyleaf saying that the Bible was bought by Tennessee taxpayers.

The prisoner's name is gold-lettered on the cover and one will eventually be given to each prisoner in the Tennessee penal system who wants one. It is estimated that there are about 6,000 inmates in the state.

Clements refused spot coverage by newsmen saying it was "a sacred situation."

He added that he was not doing it for publicity but in hopes that the gesture might help prisoners give serious thoughts to spiritual aspects of life.

MONTGOMERY BUS SEGREGATION IS RULED UNCONSTITUTIONAL BY COURT

TALLAHASSEE PROTEST GROWS; SUIT IN TENN.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - (INS) - A three-judge federal court ruled segregation on Montgomery city buses unconstitutional Tuesday, and Alabama officials announced an immediate appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The decision was hailed as "a victory for democracy and justice" by the Rev. M. L. King, leader of the six-month protest which has kept virtually all of Montgomery's 50,000 Negroes off city buses.

The Rev. King said however, that the "protest will continue" while the court decides whether to make its ruling effective immediately, or await appeal to the high court.

TALLAHASSEE PICTURE

A boycott of local buses in Tallahassee, Fla., meanwhile, continued to gain supporters Tuesday, and in Memphis, Tenn., a Negro asked to leave a bus when he refused to move to the rear of the vehicle filed suit attacking that

O. Z. Evers, with legal aid from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asked for a three-judge court in Memphis and "speedy" hearing to stop the Memphis Street Railway Co. and the city from enforcing racial segregation.

20-PAGE DECISION

In the 20-page Montgomery decision, two of the three Federal judges held enforced segregation violates the due process and equal protection clauses of the U. S. Constitution. The court invited views on the form its final decree should take, and on whether desegregation should be ordered immediately. The legal briefs are due in two weeks.

Alabama officials said they would appeal the ruling and ask that its effectiveness be postponed, predicting "racial conflict" if the color bars were let down immediately.

APPEAL PLANNED

C. C. Owen, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, said the ruling would be "immediately appealed." He said the court would be urged to delay making the decision effective, pending the appeal, because:

"Any other action would invite racial conflict in this state."

The court, in holding enforced segregation violates the due process and equal protection clauses of the Federal Constitution, invited Negroes who brought the action, and the city, state and bus lines to submit within two weeks "views as to the form of judgment to be entered, and whether such judgment should be stayed pending appeal."

COMPLETE AGREEMENT

The majority opinion said the judges were in "complete agreement" with the verdict of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which held that segregation on buses in South Carolina was violative of constitutional provisions. That case is due for another round in the courts, after the U. S. Supreme Court referred it for further proceedings, without specifically ruling on the question of segregation in public transit systems.

The Montgomery Bus Lines had ordered an end to segregation on its buses when the Supreme Court action in the South Carolina case was held in some quarters to have outlawed segregation in buses. But it was only a gesture. City officials threatened arrest of anyone violating the segregation laws which the court struck down Tuesday. And Negroes continued a boycott against the buses which began months before when a woman passenger was arrested for refusing to move to the rear of the vehicle.

SIMILAR BOYCOTT

A similar boycott of public buses got underway in Tallahassee, Fla., last week, with Negro patrons demanding an end to segregation, more courteous treatment from drivers and Negro drivers on routes predominantly patronized by Negroes. These demands were identical with those made by boycott leaders in Montgomery.

The Alabama Public Service Commission termed Tuesday's decision "a victory for democracy and justice."

Rev. King Says Protest Not Halted

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - (INS) - The leader of Montgomery's boycott of the city's transit system said recently the protest will continue until legal technicalities involved in the dispute over segregation are cleared up.

The Rev. M. L. King, himself jailed and fined in state court for his part in the six-month-old boycott, said he was elated over the decision. He said:

"It is a decision that will be welcomed by all persons of good will both North and South. It represents a victory not merely for the 50,000 Negroes of Montgomery but a victory for democracy and justice."

The Rev. King emphasized that the decision of the three-judge federal court, which held bus segregation illegal, "does not immediately affect the protest." He pointed out the court has not written a final judgment or decided whether to make its ruling effective while the decision is appealed.

"So," the Rev. King said, "the protest will continue until this is cleared up."

"It is certainly our hope," he said, "that the court will not suspend its decree pending an appeal."

"When the matter is finally cleared up it is my greatest hope that both races will evince wise restraints, calm reasonableness without sacrificing basic principles, and recognize the difficulties of adjustment."

'NEW NEGRO' LEADER HONORED - Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., leader of the Montgomery, Ala. bus protest, was honored last week by alumni of Fisk University with a citation for distinguished service and an honorarium of $500. The citation read, "In the Cradle of the Confederacy, you embodied the spirit of the New Negro, seeking equal justice under the law in the democratic tradition and the Christian spirit. You have demonstrated once again to the nation and to the world the tremendous power of moral conviction in a righteous endeavor, and in so doing you have served the cause of liberty and freedom everywhere." Memphis Transit Segregation Hit In Suit Filed Thursday

NEGRO POSTAL EMPLOYEE ASKS STATE TRANSIT SEGREGATION BE DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

BY RAYMOND E. TISNEY

A civil action suit asking that all Tennessee codes requiring segregation of passengers on public transit vehicles be declared "null and void" and in violation of the 14th amendment was filed Tuesday in Federal District Court here by O. Z. Evers, postal employee of 671 Lipford.

Evers was one of two Negroes involved in an April 26 bus incident here.

BULLETIN! CROSS BURNED IN FRONT MR. EVERS' HOME TUES.

Tuesday night, following the filing of the bus segregation suit by Mr. Evers, a cross was burned in front of his home. He was not at home when the incident occurred, but a neighbor reported the incident.

The next day Mr. Evers reported receiving a number of threatening calls and that three ambulances came to his house answering bogus calls that he had been killed.

On April 26, Evers in the company of his next door neighbor G. L. Myers of 675 Lipford, also a postal employee, about 12:30 p. m. boarded a No. 7 "Crosstown" Memphis Street Railway trolley (number 1011) at Lamar and Bellevue and together took a seat near the front.

The bus driver, identified as Warren G. Alexander, asked Evers and Myers to move to the back, pointing out that "the law" required Negroes and whites to be separated.

After they refused to move Evers stated the driver, described by him as "very nice in manner," that he would then have to call the police. He stopped at the fire station on Bellevue near Walker where he apparently called the police.

Shortly after two policemen, later identified as J. A. Rentrow and B. L. Rodgers, boarded the trolley. The officers, according to Evers, gave them the option of moving to the rear or leaving the bus. The two postal employees chose to leave the bus.

The suit filed by Evers thru Atty. H. T. Lockard, president of the Memphis NAACP, asks that (1) a three judge court be set up to hear the case, (2) that a temporary injunction be issued restraining

Cong. Powell Says "Jukebox Culture" Harmful To Nation

RACE RELATIONS DEALINGS ON MORAL, SPIRITUAL PLANE GOOD, SAYS IKE

NEW YORK - (INS) - President Eisenhower said Tuesday that "American Race Relations and Intercultural good-will can be dealt with most effectively on the moral and spiritual plane."

The President, in a message to the national conference of Christians and Jews, called for "Courageous action by the leaders of the three great religious traditions of our country." He called such action "basic to all other steps that must be taken."

Mr. Eisenhower's message was addressed to Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, Minister of the Fifth Ave. Presbyterian Church, New York; Dr. Maurice N. Eisendrath, President of American Hebrew congregations, and the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, of the University of Notre Dame.

The three clergymen are the national co-chairmen of the conference's commission on religious organizations.

Roy Wilkins Says More Negroes To Vote GOP

Roy Wilkins of New York, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a news conference at Jackson, Mississippi, that he believed there will be smaller percentages of Negroes voting for the Democrats than last time.

"I won't say the Negro will come away in droves but instead of voting 70 to 80 per cent Democratic it will slice off this year," he said.

"Of course, the big city machines won't lose the Negro vote where they have had gains afforded them," he continued. "The Negroes in Michigan, for example, are not going to kick Gov. Mennen Williams in the teeth or in New York where Sen. Herbert Lehman (Dem. N. Y.) had done so much for them."

Referring to the newly-created Mississippi organization charged with maintaining the state's sovereignty and opposing "federal encroachment," he said:

"Mississippi now has come up with a secret spy system, no less. Informers are to be paid to report on their neighbors what they are thinking and what they are saying. "Over in Soviet Russia, you know, they had a system of paying children to spy on their parents. We said it was horrible and uncivilized, but here in Mississippi in the

Solon Calls For National Passive Resistance Day

By MARION E. JACKSON

ATLANTA, Ga. - (INS) -

U. S. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell told Morehouse College graduates Tuesday that our "Jukebox Culture," and the efforts of the Eastlands, Byrnes and Talmadge, coupled with armed forces segregation and inaction on civil rights have totally unprepared the United States for world leadership.

He then rapped Alai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver for competing with each other to see which can stay closer to the Southern line on gradualism and moderation.

Congressman Powell, speaking before an overflow crowd on the occasion of the 85th Anniversary commencement said he would meet Saturday in New York with ten or twelve representatives of national organizations to discuss a "National Passive Resistance Program."

He said the call for the meeting was made by A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and Executive Vice President of the AFL-CIO.

Rep. Powell was introduced by President Benjamin E. Mays, who later conferred degrees on 85 graduates. The class was saluted by Kendall Weisger, chairman of the Board of Trustees. Rev. Herbert Sisson, pastor, Druid Hills Methodist Church, delivered the invocation.

Rep. Powell bitterly assailed President Eisenhower's refusal to assume leadership of the current civil rights debate. He said he could see no reason for not utilizing the massive influence of his office to advance the cause of democracy.

PALACE GUARD CAPTIVE

"In 1953-54 Eisenhower gave the finest demonstration on civil rights of any president including Roosevelt and Truman. Since then he has been captured by the police guard. You can't get a single message through today to the president on

Colored Women's Club Pres. Cites Mrs. Parks In Letter

SYMBOL OF FINEST WOMANHOOD SAYS NAACP PRES. IRENE GAINES

Mrs. Rosa Parks of Montgomery, Ala., seamstress who refused to give up a bus seat in Montgomery and thus became a focal point of interest as the spark which set off the now world famous Montgomery bus protest move was cited in an open letter from Mrs. Harris B. (Irene McCoy) Gaines, president of the National Association of Colored Women's Club, Inc., as a "protector, a treasure and a symbol of the finest womanhood."

THE LETTER

Dear Mrs. Rosa Parks: It is with great concern that I learn of the illness of your husband and of your father. This greatly increases the burdens you must bear and adds the worry of heartache to the worries about your mother. I know something about this, for my dear husband was hospitalized during the past winter. You have my deepest sympathy and prayers for the early recovery of your dear ones.

I wonder if you know how much your courage has endeared you to people throughout the country? To have sat firm in that bus seat; to have refused to budge, when you knew that refusal could mean indignity and injury; to have turned down the chance to end the unequal struggle by paying a trivial fine and to have elected, instead,

The Value Of Friends

By Eva Little

When we think for a moment we think of terms of like people, who are willing to share with us their love, friendship, appreciation, and their understandings.

In this time of chaos, we feel that we can not live without friends. We need friends to help us with our various problems of life let them be in many walks of life.

When we think for a moment we can not have friends without having enemies. We can better appreciate our friends when we count on the love our enemies inflict upon us, and evaluate the precious price of friends.

Our blessed master gave us a wonderful demonstration of this wonderful love and friendship when he enjoyed the visit to Mary and Martha's home. He felt that warm reception from these "one Christian women. Martha just couldn't get her house clean enough for Jesus. That was the reason he wanted Mary to help her with the chores. The cooking and serving of meals. She felt that it was too much for her to do alone.

Jesus understood Martha's way of life. He understood Mary's attitude. Mary was concerned more about the spiritual and Jesus praised Mary for having chosen the best part, the part that no one could take from her. This made Martha's eyes become open to the spiritual realm. It is very important in life for us to have wealth, work and keep our homes in first class shape. We struggle hard for honor, political power, we evaluate the material for above the spiritual when we ascend to these heights of material values. We make idol gods out of material values.

Thou shall have no other God before me. Read Deuteronomy 5th chapter. We like Martha, make ourselves most miserable, when we go too far in a material way. We are troubled. Jesus Christ, our greatest friend consoles us with these words. Let not your heart be troubled. Read St. John 14th chapter.

He also tells us to Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all of these things shall be added. St. Matthew 6:33. Jesus is a friend to all. He helped to see that this industrious way of life is honest. Also pointed out to work isn't enough, we must have an adequate faith in God, to make these impossibilities possible.

With all our material wealth, knowledge wisdom and power we cannot it all arise without God's love and faith in our lives.

Jesus also pointed out that to have friends, we must be friends. We must love one another as He has loved you.

Says Religion Provides New Source Of Operation

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (SNS)—Speaking to an overflow audience in the spacious Sanford Hall Auditorium, Yale University trained George D. Kelsey, professor of Christian Ethics at Drew University, told the Sunday, June 4, luncheon crowd at Albany State College, "Religion enlightens and provides a new source of operation."

The distinguished Christian educator continued, "There is no absolute objectivity in evaluating a situation. We always know from a point of view. It is therefore important that that point of view is." He further admonished "guard against the half-view in making an analysis. Union with God insures a high degree of objectivity of reasoning."

"Admiration Of Millions"
Gloria Lockerman Praised In United States Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C. - (NNPA) - Gloria Lockerman of Baltimore, 12-year-old spelling champion, was praised on the Senate floor this week by Senator John Marshall Butler, Republican, of Maryland.

The Senator also praised Andrew Douglas, 12, of Greenwich, Conn., who shared a $64,000 prize Sunday night with Miss Lockerman on the TV show "The $64,000 Challenge."

"Thanks to Miss Lockerman," Senator Butler said, "The Nation recognizes that the championship still resides in Baltimore."

Senator Butler told the Senate that during the past few months Miss Lockerman "has captured the respect and admiration of millions of Americans." He said he considers her "one of the best good will ambassadors Maryland has produced in years."

$64,000 QUESTION

Some months ago Miss Lockerman won the top prize on the TV show "The $64,000 Question" in the category of spelling. More recently she was pitted against Andy as the challenger on "The $64,000 Challenge."

Both the champion and the challenger answered the $64,000 question and they came back Sunday night to break the deadlock, but the sponsors of the show decided that since the two competitors were children they would lay aside the rules and give each a check for $32,000.

DISAPPEARING ART

"These two young experts in the fine old, and I am sorry to say, disappearing art of spelling, week after week have spelled correctly every multi-syllable word tossed at them," Senator Butler said.

It was obvious to those who watched the television show Sunday night, Senator Butler said, that Gloria was disappointed that the sponsors did not permit the match to go on.

When asked whether she was pleased with the decision to declare the match a draw and give each contestant $32,000, Gloria replied: "I do not know, I have been studying so hard."

Senator Butler paid tribute to Miss Lockerman "not only for her spelling proficiency but, equally important, for the well-demeaned way in which she conducted herself at all times, and last but not least for her courage and humble but firm confidence in herself."

At the end of his remarks Senator Butler inserted into the Congressional Record an editorial from the Afro American Newspaper under the heading, "And Still Champion."

The editorial said, in part "Win, lose or draw, Gloria will in reality still be the champ."

"Why? Because she's a healthy, well-rounded girl with excellent spelling ability—not a professional prodigy who reads books on history and political science rather than comic books."

Southern Senators Continue Fight Against Sobeloff

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA)—Southern Senators Monday continued their dilatory tactics aimed at preventing a Senate vote on the nomination of Simon E. Sobeloff, Solicitor General of the United States, as an associate judge of the Fourth United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Senator Olin D. Johnson, Democrat, of South Carolina, who has been one of those causing delay of the hearings on the nomination, testified against Mr. Sobeloff before the full Senate Judiciary Committee behind closed doors.

His testimony was simply another move of Southerners to keep the committee from voting upon the nomination and sending it to the floor for confirmation.

Opposition to Mr. Sobeloff has come mostly from within the Judiciary Committee. The chief objectors have been Senators James O. Eastland, of Mississippi, committee chairman, Johnston, and Strom Thurmond, the Dixiecrat candidate for President in 1948, who recently resigned to seek reelection to the Senate in accordance with a 1954 campaign promise when he was a write-in candidate in opposition to designation of a candidate by the South Carolina Democratic executive committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Burnet R. Maybank.

When President Eisenhower first nominated Mr. Sobeloff last July Eastland, Johnston and Thurmond delayed consideration until after the Congress adjourned by claiming they were seeking more information about the nominee.

After President Eisenhower re-nominated Mr. Sobeloff in January, Eastland, Johnston and Thurmond continued their delaying action.

Their real opposition to Mr. Sobeloff is based on the fact that he argued before the Supreme Court last year the questions of how and when the decisions out-lawing racial segregation in the public schools should be carried out, and the court in its decision of May 31, 1955, very largely followed the argument he made for the United States.

In his testimony Monday, Johnston added nothing new to opposition testimony a subcommittee, headed by Senator Joseph C. O-

Nomination Is Assured Adlai Says

MAHONEY, of Wyoming, has already heard.

According to the statement of the reasons for opposing confirmation of Mr. Sobeloff, which he released after the committee meeting, Johnston advanced two reasons:

1. That President Eisenhower should have picked a South Carolinian, and not a Marylander, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge Morris Soper of Baltimore.

2. That Mr. Sobeloff's philosophy pre-judgment of issues and participation in matters affecting states rights make him wholly unacceptable to the great majority of the people residing in Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina which comprise the Fourth Circuit.

Although Johnston distributed to the press a 16-page mimeographed statement, a notation indicated that only the first four pages had been read to the committee or were intended for release. The other 12 pages concerned a charge that Mr. Sobeloff represented conflicting interests in receivership litigation involving the Baltimore Trust Company.

The O'Mahoney subcommittee fully explored these charges and after Mr. Sobeloff testified concerning them, the subcommittee stood three for confirmation with two members not announcing how they will vote.

Senator O'Mahoney has been ready to have his subcommittee vote formally on the Sobeloff nomination for two weeks, but Johnston has caused a delay by saying he wanted to testify but had to go to South Carolina.

There is no question about a majority of the fully committee favoring the nomination, but Eastland is the chairman and members appear to be in different about attending meetings.

If a vote on the nomination is ever obtained in the committee, it will be sent to the Senate with a favorable report, and the Senate will confirm Mr. Sobeloff. But it appears more and more that Southerners are resorting to delaying tactics and obstruction in committees to prevent action on nominees who have acted favorably on civil rights issue as well as on civil rights legislation.

SAN FRANCISCO (SNS)—Jubilant supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson claimed Wednesday his smashing victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver in Tuesday's California primary election "virtually assures" his presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Stevenson himself, quietly confident, apparently was girding himself for strong opposition at the Chicago convention from New York's Gov. Averell Harriman.

The 1952 standard bearer against President Eisenhower said in Los Angeles he was "more confident than ever" of winning a second chance to go into the November elections against the President.

He told newsmen he considers his position good in the nomination race with California's 68 convention votes bringing his total pledged support at the Chicago convention to 258 1-2—more than a third of the 686 1-2 necessary for nomination.

He added, however "I realize it is still a long way from August. It is possible that other strong candidates may emerge."

Stevenson specifically mentioned Harriman, who will receive the support of nearly all New York's delegates, as one of these "strong candidates."

Stevenson on the basis of latest returns appeared headed for at least the 300,000 vote margin over the Tennessee Senator his campaign managers had predicted.

Returns from 18,815 of California's 24,144 precincts showed: Stevenson 752,314; Kefauver 458,295.

Gloria Lockerman Praised In United States Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C. - (NNPA) - Gloria Lockerman of Baltimore, 12-year-old spelling champion, was praised on the Senate floor this week by Senator John Marshall Butler, Republican, of Maryland.

The Senator also praised Andrew Douglas, 12, of Greenwich, Conn., who shared a $64,000 prize Sunday night with Miss Lockerman on the TV show "The $64,000 Challenge."

"Thanks to Miss Lockerman," Senator Butler said, "The Nation recognizes that the championship still resides in Baltimore."

Senator Butler told the Senate that during the past few months Miss Lockerman "has captured the respect and admiration of millions of Americans." He said he considers her "one of the best good will ambassadors Maryland has produced in years."

$64,000 QUESTION

Some months ago Miss Lockerman won the top prize on the TV show "The $64,000 Question" in the category of spelling. More recently she was pitted against Andy as the challenger on "The $64,000 Challenge."

Both the champion and the challenger answered the $64,000 question and they came back Sunday night to break the deadlock, but the sponsors of the show decided that since the two competitors were children they would lay aside the rules and give each a check for $32,000.

DISAPPEARING ART

"These two young experts in the fine old, and I am sorry to say, disappearing art of spelling, week after week have spelled correctly every multi-syllable word tossed at them," Senator Butler said.

It was obvious to those who watched the television show Sunday night, Senator Butler said, that Gloria was disappointed that the sponsors did not permit the match to go on.

When asked whether she was pleased with the decision to declare the match a draw and give each contestant $32,000, Gloria replied: "I do not know, I have been studying so hard."

Senator Butler paid tribute to Miss Lockerman "not only for her spelling proficiency but, equally important, for the well-demeaned way in which she conducted herself at all times, and last but not least for her courage and humble but firm confidence in herself."

At the end of his remarks Senator Butler inserted into the Congressional Record an editorial from the Afro American Newspaper under the heading, "And Still Champion."

The editorial said, in part "Win, lose or draw, Gloria will in reality still be the champ."

"Why? Because she's a healthy, well-rounded girl with excellent spelling ability—not a professional prodigy who reads books on history and political science rather than comic books."

Delray Tries To Move City From Negroes

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (SNS) - The swank little resort town of Delray Beach took the first step toward severing its Negro section from the rest of the city.

The City Commission, meeting in emergency session, directed City Attorney John H. Adams and Special Counsel John Moore "to take all necessary and required steps" incident to redefining the municipal boundaries.

The Commission said in the resolution that it was taking the action "in order to preserve the health, safety and general welfare of the community."

The resort town, located about 55 miles north of Miami, has been seething with racial tension since a group of Negroes went into court in an effort to gain admission to the city-owned beach and swimming pool.

The Negroes dropped their suit when a member of the City Commission testified in Federal Court that there was no law barring Negroes.

A near riot developed, however, when Negroes attempted to use the beach and the City Commission quickly passed emergency resolutions banning Negroes from the swimming facilities and giving police the power to set up roadblocks and search perious and autos for weapons.

The search power was granted when rumors circulated that Negroes and whites were aiming for a showdown.

LINKS' ANNUAL BENEFIT A TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

Members of Links, Inc., again enjoyed a wave of success when we gave our Benefit (again) at the swanky South Parkway residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sawyer (Helen a Link member). Link members received a deep satisfaction knowing that over 200 friends came early with many staying until late in spite of the cold weather that prevailed on last Saturday evening.

The Sawyer's ultra beautiful landscaped gardens (enclosed by a fine stone wall that is topped by many permanent lights) was transformed into a Far East setting. Houses, like humans, have personalities all of their own. This lavish and much talked about show place takes on that of its owners, the Sawyers, Chew and Helms. One could never give their back gardens (that lends a new kind of summer living) justice in writing. The entire setting was inviting and gave one the chance to completely relax with city garden privacy. The flowers, background, hedges and hollies (as well as the wall planters that border the high wall) led up to the two back terraces... a beautiful setting.

The scene was a colorful one with bright flood lights, hurricane lights along with the wall lights that surrounded the arena shaped area. Guests entered from two tall wrought iron grill work gates. Vender music was placed on a side-back terrace for dancing. There were many interesting games food and prizes that attracted guests all evening. Many chatting in the rumour room that extends into a modern garage that is fully equipped to lend space for games and dancing to the rumpus area and bar room. Another group sat looking out of the living room windows that overlook the back garden. Over 700 prizes (donated by members and given by leading business firms) were given out by President Addie Jones. Prizes included lovely jewelry, a ham, a turkey, a fancy hot-plate, compact, cosmetics, perfume, summer blankets, fancy waste baskets and almost anything one could think of. As late as 3 a. m. You Columnist took two prizes to the John Brinkley's home. One to John and Juanita who left their stabs with me. Many others were as thrilled as the Brinkleys.

The Valley Of Decisions

REV. E. C. TIPPETT
There are multitudes of people who have not yet left the "Valley of Decision." A few expect to be lost to be saved, a decision must be made. This decision is a hard one to make. Multitudes of people are undecided they are therefore standing in the valley unable to decide. This valley is unpleasant, no comfort, to be found no contentment, mind never at rest.

It is not a low place between two hills it is an undecided condition of mind, it is the obstacles and doubt with which the inward man is confronted. The Valley of Decision is the dwelling of the undecided and unpredictable state of existence. An uncertain future why one would live in this state of life is amazing. One request as we read "Come out, make up your mind and move out today. Israel was in a backsliding condition in Joel's day.

Joel declared the judgment of God upon them and then proclaimed the blessing of the future and then cried out, multitudes in the Valley of Decision in every dispensation and general how sad a state. Here we see so many come out on the wrong side, just cannot come back to B. T. U. I've got to see that picture Sunday evening, can't go to it at the wrong time. Continued in next issue.

Big Attendance Expected For Medical Meet

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — The largest delegation in the history of the organization is expected here for the 60th annual meeting of the Old North State Medical Society, June 12-14.

At least 250 persons, physicians, surgeons and pharmacists and their Women Auxiliary, will be on hand for the three-day convention. The estimate was given by Dr. W. T. Armstrong, Rocky Mount, secretary-treasurer of the organization, who spent several days here last week, working on final details. "We have never had as many advance registrations, before," he told reporters on the eve of the confab.

The meeting, slated for the Johnson C. Smith University campus, gets underway with an opening business session on Tuesday evening, June 12, at 8 o'clock. The opening program calls for the annual address by Dr. Rudolph M. Wyche, Charlotte, president of the organization, the selection of the "Doctor of the Year," election of new officers and reports on the national organizations with which the North Carolina group is affiliated.

Scientific sessions are scheduled for Wednesday and will feature papers on the latest developments in the medical profession by leading physicians and surgeons from throughout the State.

The pharmacists and medics will meet jointly on Wednesday afternoon to hear a feature address by Dr. Howard McClaine, dean, School of Pharmacy, Florida A and M University, at Tallahassee. He will be introduced by Y. D. Garrett, Durham, president of the National Pharmaceutical Association.

Masons Deposit $5,000 In Interest Of Business

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—A group of Prince Hall Masons simultaneously, with other Masons and top Shriners over the nation, deposited a check of $5,000 in principal banks over the nation.

The deposit, said Grandmaster John Wesley Dobbs, was in cooperation and support of Negro enterprise over the nation. The fact is that a fund of $127,000 of the Shriners is being made available to Negro-owned and operated banks across the nation, particularly in the south.

The gesture is also in keeping with the financial policy of the Imperial Council Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine under the administration of Booker T. Alexander, Imperial Potentate of Detroit.

The organization has also contributed large sums of money to the Legal Defense Fund and to programs of education in general.

Mr. Alexander of Detroit announced the new plan of handling the finances in a letter to Imperial Council officers. He proclaimed a "Faith in Negro Enterprise Day" calling on Shriners to Believe it, Live it and Support it. The days was set aside as June 1, 1956.

He said that on June 1 the Imperial Council had arranged a depositing of some $60,000 in 12 banks. The deposits are scheduled simultaneously.

Baby H. Bomb To Be Tested

WASHINGTON, — (SNS) — The U. S. was reported ready Saturday to test in the next 10 days a hydrogen warhead light enough to be used on the proposed 1,500-mile guided missile.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson who left Washington Saturday for the Pacific Proving Ground, is expected to witness the precedent-setting test.

Wilson accompanied by his two top nuclear assistants, will be at the test site until June 12 and will view a hydrogen detonation if weather and wind conditions permit.

Meanwhile, a semi-official navy publication predicted that nuclear weapons will never be used in war. The authoritative navy times for June said fear of retaliation will keep the superweapon "on the ground."

Army and Navy experts who have worked on the 1,500-mile missile said that final specifications for the huge rocket cannot be drafted until the hydrogen warhead it is designed to carry has been successfully set off.

The "Jupiter" rocket which Wilson has backed with unlimited funds, is designed for firing either from land or shipboard.

The fact that Wilson was accompanied by Major General Alvin Ray Lueddecke lent strength to reports the Pentagon Chiefs will witness a test of the type of warhead the Air Force has testified will be "light and handy" enough for long range rockets.

Lueddecke is chairman of the Armed Forces special weapons project which was set up to guide special applications such as atomic artillery shells and nuclear warheads for anti-aircraft and other missiles.

Herbert B. Loper, Wilson's assistant for atomic energy is also making the trip.

The Navy Times declared that "talk of winning a war by blasting cities is nonsense," and added, "The great new nuclear weapons will never get off the ground."

The publication continued: "that isn't to say they won't have their

Accepts Negro Workmen On Complete Equality

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The Switchmen's Union of North America has agreed to accept colored switchmen into its membership on a basis of complete equality with white switchmen.

This information was revealed at the 15th annual conference of the Provisional Committee for the Organization of Colored Locomotive Firemen, Switchmen and Breakmen, meeting in Washington last Friday and Saturday.

The decision to let down the racial barriers was decided on in a conference between the Provisional Committee of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and the Switchmen's Union.

The colored switchmen were represented by A. Philip Randolph, international president and B. P. McLaurin, international field organizer of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

As a result of the admission of Negro switchmen into the switchmen's union, one of the "big five" operating railroad unions, the switchmen's Union of North America won the representation election against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which still has color clause in its constitution barring Negro membership on the Central of Georgia Railroad, stated Randolph.

This marks the first time observed Randolph, that one of the "big five" has accepted Negro workers in membership voluntarily without any reservation what-so-ever.

"But," continued Randolph, "if the switchmen's union had not let the membership bars down, we could not have won the representation election on the Central of Georgia since the colored switchmen would not have voted for it."

Randolph pointed out that the next step is to breakdown the membership barrier in the remaining "big five" including engineers, conductors, firemen, and trainmen since the union have so much to do with the determination of wages, working conditions, mileage and even the employment policies of the carriers.

During the two-day conference, the brotherhood had an opportunity to hear Mrs. Rosa Parks, of Montgomery, Ala., whose protest against bus segregation in that city started the Alabama bus boycott. Mrs. Parks spoke informally at a banquet held at the YWCA on Friday night.

Those attending the conference heard M. P. Webster, first international vice-president of the provi-

American Chemical Body Approves Morgan State

BALTIMORE, Md. — Morgan State College has been placed on the approved list of the American Chemical Society, President Martin D. Jenkins announced today.

The action made Morgan the third of the predominantly Negro institutions to receive approval of its program in chemistry from the ACS. The other two are Howard University and Central State College.

In announcing the approval this week, the ACS's Committee on Professional Training, which inspected the college's program last November, complimented the college on "several commendable features" of its program, and simultaneously made recommendations for improvement and further study by the college.

Dr. Jenkins said that the action gives a striking example of what can be accomplished with adequate facilities and a competent staff. He said that the approval could not have been secured without the new Calloway Science Hall which provided the college for the first time with adequate facilities for the teaching of chemistry and physics. Calloway Hall was used for instruction for the first time in the fall of 1954.

The Morgan president also said of the action: "It is highly encouraging to know that we have measured up to standards consistent with those of the best chemistry programs in the country, and particularly are we pleased for the benefits which will come to our graduates in this field as a result of the approval. It gives us added incentive to continue to study our program and to continue to work to improve it."

Approval by the ACS, which is subject to regular review by the Committee on Professional Training, means that Morgan students who have majored in chemistry and who have fulfilled the minimum requirements for professional training as adopted by the Society are eligible for membership, senior grade, in the Society within two years following graduation and after two years of experience in the field of chemistry.

'Liberties' Union Urges Protection Of Voting Rights

CAA Officer Opposed For Bias Decree

WASHINGTON (ANP) — Thomas A. Wofford, the junior senator from South Carolina who in his first months in office has become a spokesman for the "southern segregation stand," urged the senate Tuesday to reject the nomination of Charles J. Lowen to be Civil Aeronautics administrator "because he has abused his authority" in withholding federal aid funds for segregated airport facilities.

Lowen is serving as head of the CAA under recess appointment.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) recently announced that Lowen had banned use of airport aid funds for construction of racially segregated facilities.

Wofford, who replaced J. Strom Thurmond as South Carolina senator two months ago, charged that Lowen's denial of federal funds for segregated airport facilities flew in the face of congressional policy. He said that not only had Lowen "exceeded any authority which has been granted or implied by Congress," but that he had acted in defiance of at least a contrary implication by Congress.

SPELLS 'THE BEANS' — William Wallace, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., recently electrified a House Un-American Activities committee hearing in Washington, by declaring that he and 17 other labor leaders falsified their passports in 1951, in order to attend May Day ceremonies in Russia. The group, Wallace explained, hoped to abolish the State department practice of barring passports to Communists and subversives. (Newspress Photo)

Virginia Soldier Given Top Award

FT. EUSTIS, Va. (ANP) — Spec. 3-C Henry Landry, 25 a baker from Dunellen, N. J. was one of three Rt. Elistis soldiers awarded the Soldier's Medal last week for acts of heroism involving personal danger and voluntary risk of life.

Landry and Sgt. Arthur F. Louro, 32, of N. Bedford, Mass., a cook, saved the life of a civilian trapped in a burning dry cleaning plant at near-by Lee Hall.

They received the medals last Tuesday from Brig. Gen. Rush B. Lincoln Jr., commanding general of this Transportation Corp post following a review parade in their honor.

Spec. 3-C David E. Sliagh Jr., 23 of Newberry, S. C., was cited for saving the life of a Korean serviceman who fell from a pontoon bridge into a Korean river.

The soldier's Medal is the nation's highest non-combat award.

Pittsburgh Methodists To Accept Negroes

PITTSBURGH (ANP) — The Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Church last week overwhelmingly voted to accept Negroes into the conference.

The action, taken by delegates at the concluding session of the 131st annual meeting, came on a resolution by the Rev. Edward S. Egan, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist Church in McKeesport.

Conference officials said it was a step toward implementing the action taken at the recent general conference in Minneapolis calling for the abolition of the church's special Negro jurisdiction, which has its own bishops and separate organization.

Wants Federal Law To Protect Negro Citizens

WASHINGTON (ANP) — The protection of Negro voting rights in the south must be guaranteed by new federal legislation, the American Liberties Union stated last week.

"Testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee Friday, Patrick Murphy Murphy, the union's executive director, urged quick passage of an Administration bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee which would safeguard voting rights.

Emphasizing that the right to vote is indispensable to the freedoms guaranteed by the First Amendment, the civil liberties spokesman said that "there is no worse denial or abridgment of that right than interference with its exercise by threat to life or any other form of coercion.

"Therefore, when a state widely and regularly denies or abridges that right — either directly, or indirectly through allowing such interference — it falls in an elementary responsibility to the people, and the federal government must discharge that responsibility to the people."

The union also strongly endorsed other sections of the bill establishing a civil rights section in the Department of Justice and amending the existing laws to allow the bringing of civil suits against persons who threaten denial of civil rights.

The union official pointed out that discrimination on grounds of race, creed and national origin is not only a problem for the whole American nation. It is an age-old and world-wide human problem, and the people of all regions of the United States can indeed be proud of the progress recently made toward finally solving our part of it. But both to increase the support which we need abroad for our leadership of the free nations and to advance justice for its own sake at home, we must rapidly complete our unfinished business.

The spokesman emphasized the necessity of achieving equal treatment for Negroes in the north's public housing developments, as well as in the south's public schools.

"We must achieve equal treatment by the police and the courts for Puerto Ricans in New York, Mexican-Americans in the Southwest, and citizens of Asiatic extraction on the Pacific Coast.

"We must achieve equal treatment for American Indians in their negotiations with the Department of the Interior, and for Jews in their access to medical schools and hotels."

Prince Hall Masons Give $100,000 To Defense Fund

BOSTON, Mass. — The Prince Hall Masons have contributed more than $100,000 during the past five years to help the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. find the right formula in stamping out racial segregation and discrimination in American life and to conserve the right of Negroes to enjoy the full benefits of first class citizenship.

Thurgood Marshall, Director-Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, revealed the total amount of contributions in a report made last week to the Grand Masters Conference, Prince Hall Affiliation, held here from May 2 through 12.

Mr. Marshall disclosed that the $100,000 in donations was made possible through a resolution passed by the Grand Masters Conference in Denver, Colo., May, 1951. The resolution called for the establishment of the Prince Hall Masons Legal Research Department of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund. The Department was established the same year and since then has been supported by contributions from 22 individual Prince Hall jurisdictions. Mr. Marshall said their 1955 donations amounted to $21,000.

All of the money contributed has been devoted exclusively to basic research in connection with current litigation, legal techniques and implementation projects. The Legal Defense Fund told the Grand Masters.

New License Tag Sale Setup "Working Out Fine"

BY HARRY TRIMBORN
International News Service

County tax collectors in Georgia think the state's new license tag sale setup has worked out fine — except for the not-so-small matter of the money involved.

Tax officials of DeKalb and Bibb counties among others believe that the state's new system of "farming out" the sale of tags from the state level to the counties has proved to be a boon to both the motorists and the counties.

The new setup went into effect for the first time this year under a law passed by the last General Assembly. Previously, license tags were sold only at the capital.

Despite its conceded advantages the new system is not entirely to the liking of all the counties. A growing controversy centers around a feature of the new law which provides for a 25-cent "commission" to county tax collectors for each plate sold.

T. J. Moore, head of the DeKalb county license tag department and Bibb County Tax Commissioner Dan D. Dunwoody, think the 25-cent figure is too low.

Dunwoody says his county will ask the next General Assembly to boost the fee to 50-cents per plate. Moore doesn't know how much of an increase DeKalb County will ask for, but thinks it will be "substantially" higher than the going rate.

State Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams did not care to comment on the issue, explaining that his job is an administrative one and that policy matters are up to the legislature. Williams, however, did say:

"There might be some inequities in compensation income of the counties which need adjustment."

Moore's main objection to the 25-cent fee is that it cannot cover the additional cost incurred by the counties in handling the sale of tags.

"We've had to install several pieces of expensive tabulating machinery and add additional personnel to handle the new setup," Moore said.

The DeKalb County official said that approximately 75,000 tags were sold in the county so far this year, which would net the tax commissioner some $18,750.

2 Millions In Improvements For College

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Board of Trustees of A. and T. College last week approved requests of the College administration for proposed permanent improvements costing slightly more than two-million dollars.

The suggested improvements are to be submitted formally to State officials late next month to be considered for the 1957-1959 biennium budget.

The recommendations were a part of the annual report presented by W. Armoth T. Gibbs, president of the college, who assumed the post last December following the death of the late Dr. F. D. Bradford. The report indicated a substantial increase in enrollment during the past year and the president stated that prospects for a further increase beginning with the coming fall were bright.

The report was described as "impressive" by one board member who stated that the report was well received by the Board and the president was commended for the fine work accomplished during the short time he has held the post.

The group passed a resolution requesting the city of Greensboro to close several streets on the college property on North Campus purchased several years ago. The proposal, if adopted, would permit the college to use more adequately the space for further expansion.

The committee on personnel had its report approved which listed the faculty and staff members reappointed for the next school year. Included in the approval was the naming of I. C. Dowdy as dean of the School of Education and General Studies. He has served as acting dean since shortly after Gibbs was elevated to the presidency.

Presbyterians Call For End To Segregation

PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — The 10th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. has called on employers, school officials, homesteaders and politicians to work for total elimination of segregation in this country.

Adopting a report of its committee on special education and action at the concluding session Wednesday, the assembly recommended that:

(1) Businessmen take all necessary steps to "break the pattern of discrimination" in employment.

(2) Christians preparing to sell their homes keep foremost in their minds "the need of minority families for equal housing opportunities and adequate housing, and make their houses available to all qualified purchasers regardless of race.

(3) Politicians work for the removal of the poll tax and other restrictions which prevent many American citizens from exercising their legal rights.

"Nowhere in this land" said the report, "can Negroes and to a lesser extent other minority persons escape the indignity of segregation or discrimination in one form or another."

The report took note of southern opposition to the U. S. Supreme Court's desegregation ruling and recommended that federal aid to education be confined exclusively to tax-supported public schools.

Benson Announces Rates For Soil Bank Program

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today announced the national average rates which will be used in determining payments which can be earned by corn, cotton, wheat, and rice farmers who participate in the 1956-crop Soil Bank program, after entering into agreements with their local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees. Rates for peanuts and tobacco will be announced later.

Under the Acreage Reserve part of the program, farmers in areas where crops are not too far advanced will be able to earn payments in connection with their 1956 crops of corn, wheat, cotton (both upland and extra long staple), peanuts, rice, and most types of tobacco. They can qualify for the payments by putting land into the Acreage Reserve, and thus reducing their acreage of the crop below the established allotment or base acreage in the case of corn for the farm.

"The rates and conditions we are announcing today apply to 1956 production only," said Secretary Benson in discussing the announcement. "It is late in the season that we are moving with all possible speed to make the Soil Bank available for those farmers who can participate this year, in line with the expressed intent of Congress. In a sense, we are going to the field with a special program designed to meet the time emergency. Before next year's crops are planted, including fall planting of grain this year, we will have an opportunity to review and study all provisions in more detail. Such changes as are found to be desirable will be made and announced before the 1957 Soil Bank is under way."

All of the honorees either have reached or will reach this year 65, the automatic retirement age at Howard.

Dr. Mordcai W. Johnson, University president, presided at the program.

Patterson To Meet Jackson Friday Night

By International News Service
A sneak preview of the new heavyweight champion of the world in action may be seen Friday when Floyd Patterson and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson slug it out in a 12-round title elimination bout.

Brooklyn's Patterson, 21-year-old "Wonder Boy" of boxing, hailed as the fastest puncher since Joe Louis, will meet the 24-year-old Far Rockaway, N. Y. puncher the most unpredictable and unorthodox heavyweight in years, in scheduled 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden (NBC).

The winner will probably fight September for the crown vacated by Rocky Marciano.

The fifth-ranking Patterson has not been tested thoroughly against top flight heavyweights but he impressed greatly. The six-foot-192 Olympic champion has won 16 straight fights with a running string of 11 straight knockouts. He lost only one of his 30 fights (with 21 knockouts)—a debatable one to ex-heavyweight king Joe Maxim.

Jackson, ranked number two behind Archie Moore, has been in with the best heavyweights. The 6-foot-2 windmill with the 80-inch reach—he will have an edge of eight inches in that department—twice defeated ex-champ Ezzard Charles, kayoed Dan Bucceroni, Tex Layne and Charley Norkus. He beat contender Bob Baker and kayoed Johnny Williams this year to bring his record to 27-4-1, with 13 knockouts.

Two ranking middleweights, Bob Boyd (No. 4) of Chicago and Milo Savage (No. 5) of Salt Lake City, Utah, collide in Wednesday night's offering (ABC) from the Chicago Stadium.

Another middleweight match Monday night at the St. Nicholas arena (DuMont) pairs Tex Gonzalez of East Orange, N. J., and Hardy Smallwood of Brooklyn.

Henry Aaron Shakes Early Season Slump

CHICAGO (ANP) — A couple of weeks ago, Hank Aaron, 24-year-old outfielder for the Milwaukee Braves, promised that he would shake his early season slump (induced, he said, because of frequent postponements of games) and move into contention for the National League batting leadership.

Aaron has made good his word. His consistent hitting in that two-week period has raised his batting average from a lowly figure around the 200 mark to an impressive .332 (as of last Thursday morning), tying him for fifth place in the NL's batting derby.

Aaron's teammate, Billy Brutes continues to remain among the batting elite. He was hitting .350 and continued to lead the league in triples with 7.

Brutes, incidentally, figured in a big hubbub in the Memorial Day doubleheader between the Braves and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The fireworks started after Brutes was hit on the head by a pitch thrown by Roy Meyer, the Cubs' hot-headed right hander. Meyer, before pitching to Brutes, had been tagged for consecutive home runs by Ed Matthews, Aaron and Bobby Thompson.

Brutes and the pitcher tangled near the mound. Both were banished for the afternoon.

Brooks Lawrence was the only undefeated hurler in the majors among the regular moundmen. The strong-armed of the Cincinnati Reds notched his sixth victory of the season against the Chicago Cubs. The Redlegs won, 10 to 4.

Don Newcombe, in stopping the red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates with a 10-to-1 victory, chalked up his seventh win of the season. He has lost three. Newk also moved into the leaders among strikeouts. He was tied for fourth in the NL with 29.

In the American League, Harry Simpson continues his timely clouting for the Kansas City Athletics batted in column with 32. His lefthanded bat was fourth in the team. Hector Lopez had 29 to remain among the leaders.

Among other major league leaders were:

Willie Mays, New York Giants' centerfielder, leading the majors in stolen bases (11), and second in triples (6); Ernie Banks, Chicago Cubs' shortstop, tied for fifth in NL's RBIs (25) and tied for third in home runs (11); Frank Robinson, Cincinnati outfielder, fifth in NL in runs scored (27); Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, tied for third with Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh outfielder and another player in NL stolen bases (4), and Clemente, tied for fifth in doubles (7).

Jackie Robinson, incidentally, returned to the position in which he broke into the majors—first base. The move was made by Manager Walter Alton of the Dodgers in an effort to get more punch into the world champions' lineup. The regular first sacker, Oll Hodges, was shifted to the outfield.

HANDY JOE—Ex-heavyweight boxing champ, Joe Louis (right), shows that he still knows what to do with his hands, even in his current vocation of wrestling. Although Joe didn't throw opponent Jim Bernard out of the ring during their recent match in Detroit, the Brown Bomber nevertheless went on to win. When questioned about his decision to continue wrestling, despite howls of protest, Louis said simply: "It ain't stealing." (Newspress Photo)

PREDICTING NEXT HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP, A DIFFICULT JOB

Predicting who will be the next heavyweight champion of boxing is a difficult matter, for many reasons. So many ifs enter into the calculation that one does not venture out too far on the issue.

There are, for instance, a couple of tests coming up which could considerably change the heavyweight picture—such as it is. Archie Moore, the No. 1 heavyweight contender, faces a problem in having to scale down to 175 pounds to defend his light heavyweight laurels against Yolande Pompey in London, June 5. Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson, the No. 2 heavyweight challenger, faces an acid test in his 12-round elimination bout with young Floyd Patterson in New York's Madison Square Garden, June 8.

To remain in title contention, both must win. Moore because at this stage of the game he can't afford a loss to someone in his own division and seriously challenge in the heavier division; Jackson, because he's some the limit under present conditions and a loss to Patterson would definitely eliminate him.

There are other fellows who are so angling for title consideration, but for the time being at least it doesn't seem feasible to consider them as likely candidates to succeed to the championship. Hauling Bob Baker and Johnny Holman have already been eliminated and others like Johnny Summerlin, Wilco Pastrano, Harold Carter, Bob afterfield and Heinz Neuhans are not serious contenders.

Moore figures to win over Pompey, despite the Britisher's youth and reported stamina.

SPORTS GRILL

NEW YORK (INS) — Ren into Fat Max the bookie in his favorite Broadway bistro.

He held up a warning palm and said: "I know you're going to tell me I was a sucker to lay 100 to 1 against Pittsburgh before the season starts. Okay. But you were a bigger sucker not to take a little at that price. Fact is, not a single guy risks a buck on the Cubs."

Max roared with delight over his feeble pun, and invited us to join him.

Archie Moore Wins TKO Over Yolande Pompey

By JOE THOMAS
LONDON (INS) — Ancient Archie Moore, making what may have been his last light heavyweight title defense, retained the championship Tuesday night with a tenth-round technical knockout of Yolande Pompey at London's Harringay Arena.

Referee Jack Hart stopped the scheduled 15-round bout midway through the tenth after Pompey had been knocked down three times. He took nine counts and the third time was felled for eight.

Old Archie, who aspires to the larger honor of occupying Rocky Marciano's vacated heavyweight throne, was a 4 to 1 favorite despite his admitted 39 years and what has come to be a continual Thaisle against excess poundage.

He spent the last several hours before the official weigh-in "resting" in a Turkish Bath and finally reached the scales with half a pound to spare. He weighed 174 1/2 to Pompey's 171 1/4.

Until the eighth round it seemed that Moore, spotting his foe from Trinidad at least a dozen years might have more on his hands than he bargained for. He was lethargic and drew frequent boos as he continued himself with defending against the aggressive Pompey.

Johnny Saxton Jailed, Freed After Brawl

NEW YORK (ANP) — Johnny Saxton, welterweight boxing champion, last week was jailed and later released on bond following a street fight in which the Brooklyn cutie swapped punches with two waiters from nearby Forest Hills Inn.

Saxton, 25, and Wade Nance, 29, and Samuel Wyatt, 34, all were booked on assault charges and held for arraignment in Queens' Felony Court, following the altercation. Saxton, after spending a good part of the day in jail Saturday, finally was released on $1,000 bond. Police gave this description of the duel:

Saxton was driving down 76th Ave. early Saturday morning when he came to a double-parked car driven by Wyatt, blocking his path. Johnny honked his horn in an attempt to get Wyatt to move the car and an argument followed.

Suddenly Saxton emerged from his auto wielding a baseball bat and pounded Wyatt and Nance who was in the car with his friend. The two had been driving home from work at the inn.

During the tussle Nance reached into Wyatt's car and seized a lug wrench. He proceeded to pound Saxton with it.

Shortly after Saxton fled to his home. From there he called police and reported that he had been assaulted by two men who tried to rob him. Nance and Wyatt also had called police and complained that they had been assaulted.

Police rounded up all three and took them to the hospital for treatment. Wyatt had a wound in the forearm which required 26 stitches. Nance was treated for cuts and bruises. Saxton did not require treatment.

Then they were put in a paddy league divided into three parts. He puts the Dodgers and Braves about on a par at the top, then the pirates, St. Louis and Cincinnati in the next group, with the New York Giants, Philadelphia and the Chicago Cubs bringing up the rear.

"Right now," he said, "you got to figure the first five got a real good chance to make it and the last three—the Giants, Phils and Cubs—might wake up and do much better."

We asked him for his current slate and he obliged as follows:

Dodgers 5 to 2, Braves 3 to 1, Pirates, Cards and Reds each 4 to 1, Giants and Phils each 10 to 1 and Cubs 20 to 1.

"The way I see it," he explained, "The Pirates maybe be playing a little over their heads. They got some swell pitching and Dale Long and Frank Thomas been hitting but I think they're still a year away from the top."

Max is always high on the Cardinals but he would be much higher if they had another Vincenzo Benito Mizell. He thinks the Reds are a real menace because of their long ball hitters and their improved pitching. As for the Giants, he says:

"They're much better than they're looked so far. Willie Mays ain't been hitting and the pitching's been sour. But they'll get straight out in time."

He expects the Phils to get going eventually, but probably too late as they did last year. And the Cubs? He shrugged. "Well they got Gene Baker and Ernie Banks, period."

"The Braves," he declared, "are a solid club which has everything. The question is have they enough to beat out the Dodgers."

"Maybe they have but I still must string with the Dodgers and I think that they'll get moving fast when Roy Campanella, Carl Furillo, Oll Hodges and Jackie Robinson begin to hit like they always have."

Britisher Loses In 10th Round At Harringay Arena

In the fourth round Archie suddenly came to life, backing Yolande against the ropes with good combinations that had the challenger in trouble although he didn't go down. But Moore resumed his defensive role once again to the displeasure of the crowd until he opened up in the eighth with a two-handed attack.

Were Daffy But Not Dumb

BY PAT ROBINSON
NEW YORK (INS) — Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, and the writer were cutting up old catches not long ago and recalling the days (1926) when he was a Brooklyn rookie under old Wilbert Robinson and we were a much younger sports writer.

Those were the days, Al recalled. "When the Dodgers were known as the Daffiness boys but while we may have been screwballs in our actions on and off the field, we certainly weren't dumb."

"Some of those old Dodgers have retired to a life like Dazzy Vance, some are wealthy business men like Clark, and some like myself, Paul Richard and Fred Thompson are still doing all right in the game."

Thompson is now vice president in charge of the Dodger farm system and as witty as he always was. When he repeated Lopez' comment, Fresno chirped:

"Al is right about the catches, like himself, and outfielders being screwballs, but never second basemen."

Need we say that Fresno was a second baseman? Then paraphrasing general MacArthur, Fresno added:

"Dodgers are like old soldiers. They never die, they just grow nut-wagon and driven to police headquarters for photographing and fingerprinting. They were then put back into the paddy wagon and transported to court. The wagon broke down, however, and so they missed court. All three were ordered to appear in court Sunday.

Saxton was involved in another court incident in 1964. He was sentenced to serve 15 days in jail for ignoring a speeding ticket and 11 parking tickets in New York. However, the day after he won the welterweight championship from Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia, Chief Magistrate John M. Murtzagh suspended the sentence.

The late Uncle Wilbert Robinson was the prefect manager for the Daffy Dodgers and it was he who one day remarked "Even the sports writers traveling with this club are nuts."

P. S. We must admit we were one of those sports writers.

Birmingham's Ullman Boasts Scintillating Track Aces

BY MARION E. JACKSON
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (SNS) — Coaches talent-hunting for track stars, please note. Birmingham's Ullman High has the speediest runners in the Deep South. Stop-off here!

Morehouse College-trained Coach Pearson, lone Maroon Tiger coach in the Jefferson County area city and county schools, has fashioned out of the rawbone flesh of the coal and steel pits here minutemen of time capable of holding their own against the best of the preps.

Ullman won three relays at the 30th Annual Tuskegee Relays in winning the one mile, two mile and medley relays. These speedsters swept the same events in 1955.

Coach Pearson's truck teams are the talk of the Slagtown where only two other Morehouse graduates work in the Birmingham Public School System, but they are not connected with athletics. They are Griffin Dav, principal of Tuskegee Elementary School and Delmar G. Winston, Parker High instructor.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Coaching clinics in the U. S. are no sure harbinger of summer as college commencements are to the exodus of spring. For throughout the summer months of June, July and August these athletic enlightenment sessions will draw legions of learners to the ivy-cloistered halls to hear a galaxy of winning mentors who spill out the secrets which pushed them to giddy heights last autumn. There is little elation from Negro coaches who are embittered by being tossed aside at these get-togethers.

Football clinics are scheduled at Florida A. and M., Prairie View, Southern and Virginia State. Not a single one of these institutions has signed a Negro as a consultant and behind the scenes the deed has engendered a great deal of bitterness.

This columnist asked one of the sponsors of a successful coaching clinic why no Negro was ever invited as a consultant. He answered quickly and without batting an eye. "They don't know anything!" And this may sum it up why teaching personnel at three all-Negro colleges is as follows:

Florida A&M's will have June 11-16: Ara Parseghian, Northwestern U.; Paul Dietzel, Louisiana State; Bob Woodruff, University of Florida; Chuck Maubier, Kansas; Tom Nugent, Florida State U.; Phog Allen, Kansas; Gromer Jones, Oklahoma; Frank Broyles, Georgia Tech, and Ray Graves, Georgia Tech, to complete its all-white staff.

Southern University has an all-white football clinic staff in Gromer Jones, line coach Oklahoma and Frank Broyles of Georgia Tech, but has followed the integration processes in inviting John (Buck) O'Neil as baseball consultant, Johnny McLendon, basketball consultant, and Gilbert Crutcher, track coach, Manuel High, Denver.

Virginia State has an all-white football staff in Ara Parseghian, Northwestern; Comer Jones, Oklahoma; and Branch McCracken, head basketball coach, Indiana.

No one depicts that Parseghian, Jones, Broyles, Graves, etc., are not tremendously competent coaches with national reputation and glittering successes in New Year's Day bowl competition, but unanswered is the puzzle which hovers over the head of the Negro coach. Has he reached full maturity as an organizer, executive, teacher, administrator, planner, and builder of daring ideas to be exploited on the playing fields?

If so, then little or no recognition has been given the Negro coach who while not playing in the big time competition has contributed many spectacular ideas to the coaching sciences.

Roy Hamilton Is Stricken

NEW YORK (ANP) — The fabulous crooner, young Roy Hamilton, last week was confined in New York Hospital for an indefinite period. It was learned from a close source that he is being treated for tuberculosis in its early stage. It followed pneumonia.

He will be cured all right, but he won't be able to sing for months," a spokesman stated.

Young Hamilton was discovered about two years ago by a Newark disc jockey, the 26-year-old former amateur boxer from the New Jersey metropolis was singing at minor night clubs. He subsequently made a rapid climb. He became the favorite of bobby soxers and his recordings hit No. 1 spot in the nation and sold millions of records.

Finances will hardly be a problem for the former amateur boxer who became the baritone idol of teenagers. He estimates that his income "has been somewhere between $150,000 and $200,000 gross."

He considers his biggest success "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Webb Tide." The latter sold over a million.

Hank Armstrong Better Following Bout With Stroke

LOS ANGELES - (ANP) - Henry Armstrong, the ring's only triple champion, last Sunday was reported recovering from a stroke which had hospitalized him at Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Armstrong, who was first reported as being "not mentally clear," was described Sunday as improved.

He suffered a convulsive seizure in his home last Saturday, following a digestive disorder.

Sunday, Armstrong was well enough to receive visitors, including his wife.

A physician at County General gave the following explanation of Armstrong's condition:

"There is no indication of brain or nervous system damage. In other words, Armstrong is not punch drunk."

However, Armstrong will undergo several days of medical tests before leaving the hospital.

Now an ordained minister, the Rev. Armstrong has, of late, been active in youth and prayer movements here. Once reported in financial straits, he tried his hand at salesmanship for a department store, and ran a boxing gym here.

Known in his ring days as "Homicide Hank" because of his windmill punching, Armstrong won the featherweight championship from Pete Sarron in New York City on a sixth round KO on Oct. 28, 1937. He defeated Barney Ross to annex the welterweight title on May 31, 1938, and won the lightweight title from Lou Ambers Aug. 17 of the same year. He retired from the ring in the early 1940s after losing to Ray Robinson and Fritzie Zivic.

Powell's Sec. To Serve Seven Months In Jail

NEW YORK - (INS) - A seven-months prison sentence and a $9,000 fine were imposed Monday on Mrs. Hatlie Freeman Dodson, 46, a secretary to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D) N. Y., for income tax evasion.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman in assessing the penalty, acknowledged he had been troubled in reaching a decision. It would have been more severe, he told Mrs. Dodson, except for her "impeccable record."

"It is hardly likely that a woman of her executive ability would have been as slovenly in her personal affairs as she pretends."

"If you believe her assertion she received and retained her Congressional salary, the seriousness and brazenness of the tax evasion becomes more marked."

Mrs. Dodson was convicted of evading $5,000 in income taxes and retaining $2,000 she received in illegal refunds during 1948-52.

At the trial, there was testimony that Rep. Powell received some of the rebates as "kickbacks" but Judge Kaufman said that was not a consideration in the sentence.

Two "Firsts" At D. C. Methodist Conference

WASHINGTON - (ANP) - The Washington Methodist Conference of The Methodist Church meeting in Ebenezer Church here last week recorded two "firsts" of historical significance.

Mrs. Emma P. Hill, a former supply pastor in the conference, having served in the St. Mary's County Laurel Parish and as a social worker in Asbury Church here, became the first woman to be admitted into conference membership.

She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Simms. She and her parents formed a unique ministerial trio for several years. The Rev. Mr. Simms has been pastor at Brandywine, Md., charge for 17 years. Mrs. Simms reported to be the first woman to be ordained an elder in the Methodist Church, has been pastor at Ritchie, Md., for 15 years. Mrs. Hill was assigned to the pastorate of St. Luke charge in Prince George County, Maryland.

The second "first" of the Washington Conference's 93rd session was the appointment of the Rev. Julius S. Carol, Jr., associate pastor of Sharp Street Church in Baltimore where his brother, the Rev. Edward G. Carol is the pastor. This is the first such brother combination known in Methodist history.

An accomplished musician and an associate in the American Guild of Organists, the Rev. Mr. Julius S. Carol, who is the elder of the two brothers, was organist at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, for many years. The father of the Carolls, the Rev. Julius S. Carol, Sr., was for many years a leading pastor in the Washington Conference.

Case On Interference With Federal Agents Before Court

BY LOUIS LAUTIER
Washington Correspondent, Atlanta Daily World and NNPA News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C. - (NNPA) - A Supreme Court review is sought of a case which grew out of a search of a club by Internal Revenue agents for evidence of a numbers game operation by persons who had not obtained gamblers' occupation tax stamps.

The review was asked Tuesday by Adell C. Carter, alias Ponto, and Mrs. Bonnie Mae Mathis, who were found guilty by a jury in the Federal District Court at Macon, Ga., of forcible obstruction and interference with a federal officer in the performance of his duty.

The case arose from a search internal revenue agents made of the Lancers Club a "juke joint," in East Macon, seeking evidence of lottery operations by persons who had not obtained gamblers' occupation tax stamps.

While the search was going on, several persons were arrested when they entered the club carrying brown bags which were found to contain money and numbers slips.

The driver of an automobile arrived shortly before Carter drove up. Carter stopped on the club's parking lot and as the car's horn was blown, somebody shouted "There's Ponto."

One of the agents, Brack Poe, knew the nickname was Carter's. An informer had also told Poe that Ponto was in the numbers racket.

Poe raced outside directly to Carter's car. He opened the car door and announced that he was a federal officer. He saw on the rear seat a black box.

Ponto told Poe: "If you're a federal officer show me your badge." But before Poe could get his badge out of his trousers' pocket, Ponto started the car.

Neither in nor out of the car, with the door slightly open, one foot on the floor, he hand on the back of the front seat and the other on the vent shield, Poe managed to hang on.

To Poe's repeated insistence that he was a federal officer, Ponto gave the same answer: "Show me your badge."

In the meantime, Mrs. Mathis, who was merely riding in the car with her three children, holding her infant-child in her arms, tried to push Poe's arm and hand away from his grip on the back of the front seat.

Ponto, during the ride, reached back, got the box, threw it out of the car, and then slowed down. Poe reached into his trousers' pocket, got his badge and showed it to Ponto. Ponto then slowed down.

Carter and Mrs. Mathis contend that since they had no reason to know that a person dressed in civilian sports clothes was a federal officer, they had the right to flee and were under no duty to give Poe a safe ride and could act to shake off the intruder.

They also contend that federal officers had no search warrant to search Carter's car, no warrant for Carter's arrest, and no crime was being committed in the officers' presence sufficient to justify an arrest without a warrant.

The Fifth United States Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans affirmed the convictions. It held that Ponto and Mrs. Mathis knew Poe was a federal officer and that there was no opportunity for the federal officers to obtain a search warrant for the car because the car "would have been long gone" if they had sought to obtain a search warrant.

Suit Held Up; Word "Negro" Not Written

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. - (INS) - A suit by three Negroes seeking equal rights with white players in use of the Fort Lauderdale Municipal Gold Course hit a snag Wednesday in Federal Court.

Fort Lauderdale city attorney Julian Ross objected to the suit pointing out that the complaint "does not allege whether they (the plaintiffs) are Negroes, or that they 'are being discriminated against on account of color.'"

Judge Emmet C. Chote ruled that the plaintiffs would have to point out in their suit that they are Negroes and that they are being excluded because of color.

WASHINGTON - (ANP) - The United States Embassy at Haiti has notified the State Department that some arrests have taken place there in connection with political strife during the past two weeks.

The embassy said some of the persons arrested may have been among the publishers of small opposition newspapers, but the embassy does not have names of any newsmen arrested.

Neither has the embassy heard confirmation of reports that prisoners had been tortured, a State Department spokesman said.

Does Stevenson's Victory In California Constitute A Trend?

The battle for ballots between Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver for the Democratic nomination has swept through the "Golden Gate" of the great west.

In the face of conditions, the question now in order—is, does the situation definitely constitute a trend for Adlai Stevenson?

Even though it be assumed that the Stevenson victory was nearly two to one, when reduced to a last analysis the facts would disclose that in the face of a combined total of strength between Stevenson and Kefauver, there is nothing the Stevenson backers can rely upon as indicative of an overall national victory.

In the first place, Stevenson has a long way to go. It is understood that the compromise on the segregation issue, as contrasted over against the liberal views of Kefauver, which are in whispering distance of those of Adlai Stevenson in the last presidential campaign, makes Stevenson a more formidable favorable to recapture and hold together the Solid South. This Stevenson's backers would have him do. When the other side of the picture is turned on Kefauver because of his liberal views on the segregation question, more favorable to the powerful Negro and liberal adherents of the party, there may be a decidedly different picture when the votes are counted at the Democratic convention in Chicago.

The indications that Stevenson is more favored in the deep South where segregation has been superimposed into campaigns, might not work so well in those sections dependent largely upon the liberal and Negro vote, in many places the determining factors in elections.

So, the jubilation evident among the Stevenson backers because of the victory he piled up in California over Kefauver, might await such time as when the whole situation is cleared through those sections of the country commanding the pivotal balance.

The Montgomery Bus Decision

Once again the Federal Courts have denied the validity and the justice of the "separate but equal" doctrine of the nineteenth century. What is "separate" in terms of the basic human rights of an individual, can never be "equal." Persons are not "things," and the separation of persons by law, tradition, intimidation or any coercive force whatever is prima facie evidence of an implied inequality. A few days ago, a three-judge panel in a United States Federal Court sitting in Montgomery, once again said "NO" to a plea that citizens in this free nation be segregated or otherwise inconvenienced because of the color of their skin.

In the case in question, the panel in a 2-1 decision ruled that segregation on the city buses in Montgomery violates the Federal Constitution. Anticipating an appeal by city and state officials, the panel gave the opposing attorneys two weeks in which to submit written suggestions on how the anti-segregation order should be entered, and whether a stay of its effect should be granted pending an appeal.

The Montgomery decision was logical and just. It is consistent with the historic decision of May 17, 1954, in which the United States Supreme Court unanimously ruled that the "separate but equal" doctrine in education must give way to a more humane and therefore more just interpretation of man's proper relation to his fellowman. Segregation, said the Supreme Court, is per se unjust. It has no place in public education. By extension, we suggest that it has no place at all in our society which can be justified by the Constitution under which we live, or by the Great Commandment by which we are finally judged.

The recent decision outlawing segregation on the Montgomery buses was to be expected by all who believe the Courts of the land place principle and integrity above emotion and provincialism. Even though there was a dissenting opinion by one of the three judges who reviewed the case, there were few people, even among the pro-segregationists, who honestly expected a decision different from that the Court rendered. The separation of American citizens on the basis of race or color is legally passe.

To persist in trying to retain legal segregation in any field is unrealistic and costly—in terms of money, and in terms of interracial goodwill and understanding. The best interests of all the people would be served if the spirit of the Supreme Court's 1954 decision would be accepted as a guide in all pertinent situations. Thusly could the endless and expensive litigation be discontinued, and all concerned would again have time and energy and incentive to turn attention to other problems which we can ill-afford to neglect any longer.

Combine Education With Religion, Borders Says

DURHAM, N. C. — Dr. William Holmes Borders, pastor of Wheat Street Baptist Church Atlanta, Ga., urged some 337 candidates for degrees at North Carolina College's 46th baccalaureate sermon Sunday, to combine their education and religion. Such a combination, he said, would serve humanity and help to solve pressing racial problems.

He spoke at 4:30 p. m. in the Men's Gymnasium where Tuesday's finals audience heard the annual commencement address delivered by Dr. Carl W. Biglow, professor of education at Columbia University.

Rev. Borders said the American Negro has progressed from slavery to a position as "the thermometer of American democracy," and that because of world pressure the American white man must come to terms with the Negro on this basis. In meeting the challenge, the speaker said, the Negro must "hold his own sense of humor, respect each other as children of civil rights."

Rep. Powell said the Democrats have no place in their party for civil rights and because of this "I won't even go to the convention."

Segregation in the armed services was singled out by Rep. Powell for condemnation. He exhibited copies of official documents "smuggled out" by Negroes and whites who don't want the army moving back to the Jim Crow days.

"White and Negro soldiers sent these official documents which I sent on to the Pentagon two years and even two weeks ago — the Pentagon has said there is no official segregation. There is segregation in the army."

He showed the audience copies of orders issued at Fort Bliss, Texas, Fort Dix, New York, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, and the guided missile center which showed official orders for "Caucasians Only."

A GREAT COLOSSUS.

Segregation was labeled as a problem. He described our foreign policy as that of a "great colossus with one foot at Fort Knox and the other at Oak Ridge."

Rep. Powell warned "No Niagara of dollars will buy people on our side. How can we terrify people with our nuclear weapons when the average life span of an Indian is 29 years old."

"From now on World Wars are obsolete. World War is finished. The next World War will be won with ideas. The greatest commander of Communism is Eastland. The Southern Manifesto is a Communist Manifesto that Karl Marx could not have conceived himself."

Rep. Powell declared that "there is no force on earth that can bring back the world in which we were born" in assailing the efforts of the Eastlands, Byrnes and Tammany to halt the forward march of democracy.

The New York solon then charged the United States with being "totally unprepared—for world leadership because of the blight of mediocrity which has become the cult of mediocrity."

Rep. Powell attacked Stevenson and Kefauver and accused them of competing with each other to see which can stay closer to the moderation line and whether we go back to the old rules of bigotry and intolerance.

DEFACTO LEADERSHIP

"Because of our Jukebox culture we have become mechanical instruments of a de facto leadership which spreads the old anthems of exploitation, colonialism, and racism which the darker people of the world totally rejected at the Bandung Conference. Because of this policy America is in trouble and is in danger of becoming a second class power."

Not a single dynamic leader has emerged in the United States to stem the surge of Communism because of the racial failures of our Western culture. Communism is succeeding in capturing the minds of the world because democracy is in default. Colonialism and racism as a result must go because we can not exist as an island in this world.

"The United States egged on by the theory while makes right ignores Wendell Wilkie's dream of one world. Now we not only have Eastland in the South but Eastlandites throughout the nation urging moderation, gradualism and go slow."

"Moderation is a duty word means a man who stands in the middle of the road and does not move. When a man runs a traffic light he is arrested and when he lands too long in front of a traffic light without moving he is also arrested. The new culture of the Eastlandites says go slow means stop, to stop at least means go."

"There is nothing in the U. S. Supreme Court decision which says go slow but the decree does emphasize 'with all deliberate speed.'"

Rep. Powell declared those who could label us extremists for seeking compliance with the Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation. He said "All of a sudden we are extremists the Supreme Court brought the years when legal segregation was the law of the land are being called extremists. Now through the legal processes of the court who have reversed our second class citizenship and won first class citizenship they call us extremists. We obeyed. They say flout, flout, flout and defy and flout are the extremists."

"We are somebody today. We are the voice of conscience. For the voice of conscience is dead in our land. We are no longer fighting for civil rights for ourselves for it has gone beyond the fight for the Negro but has spread into a fight to save America. If we can not get America cleaned up, dressed up, starched up before the eyes of the world — then America is finished. For our foreign policy is no longer written on the banks of the Potomac but in Montgomery, Ala. It is the Negro people and their white allies who are doing their best to give the United States a good name. The people in Montgomery by walking are doing more to give the United States a sense of honor than any senator in the nation's capital."

Rep. Powell called for a National Association of Common People. In stating "We are no longer fighting for colored people alone, but for the Negro, Indians—who are America's disgrace—but the Mexicans who have third class citizenship in the Southwest as well as the Japanese, Jew and the Italian. This makes integration and interracial a must. Therefore we must integrate our interracial culture in much the fashion that we did our religion which is not Negro religion, we are Christians."

"We must work to make our churches neither Negro nor white but God's church."

senting opinion by Judge Lynn "great and learned." Judge Lynn reaffirmed the long-standing "separate but equal" legal doctrine—which was upset by the U. S. Supreme Court in the school segregation cases.

"The majority opinion" Owen said "seeks to overturn the separate-but-equal doctrine which has been consistently followed since 1849."

MOTOR BUSES

The 20-page decision relates specifically to "motor buses" in the city of Montgomery and its police jurisdiction, apparently making it necessary for separate legal actions to make the effect of the decision applicable in other jurisdictions.

Until the Supreme Court's school segregation decision, rulings of the high court generally were accepted as legal precedent, and applicable in any similar set of circumstances. The South generally, however, has refused to accept the school ruling as applying anywhere but in the specific areas where the action was brought, making suits in each school district in the deep South region necessary before the ruling could effectively raise the traditional color line.

"Any other remedy would be attended by such uncertainties and delays as to deny substantive relief would involve a multiplicity of suits and cause further irreparable injury, damage and inconvenience," the suit declared.

The five cited sections of Title 65 of the Tennessee Codes require transit segregation in the state Section 1704 declares: "portions of car to be set apart and designated for each race." Section 1705 requires "printed signs to indicate cars or parts of cars for each race." Section 1706 gives the conductor the right to "increase or diminish space for either race or require change of seats." "Refusal of passengers, to take seats assigned by conductor and designated for their race or to leave car" is a misdemeanor carrying a maximum fine of $25 according to Section 1707. "Failure to set apart portions of car for each race" is also a misdemeanor carrying a maximum $25 fine according to Section 1708.

Commissioner of Public Service John T. (Buddy) Dwyer, the three other city commissioners, Mayor Orville, Police Chief J. C. Macdonald, the two policemen, the bus driver and the Memphis Street Railway Co. are named as defendants in the suit.

Assisting Atty. Lockard will be Robert Carter and Thurgood Marshall of the National NAACP legal staff.

to appeal on the fundamental issue of equality right on up to the United States Supreme Court — these actions have won for you — these actions are great for our people. From the time of Hagar and Esther and the mother of King Solomon down to Phyllis Wheatley and Harriet Tubman and Sojourner Truth, the lot of our sisters has been in the extreme. But no nobler, no more unselfish, no more courageous women have ever lived than those in this vital and deathless tradition.

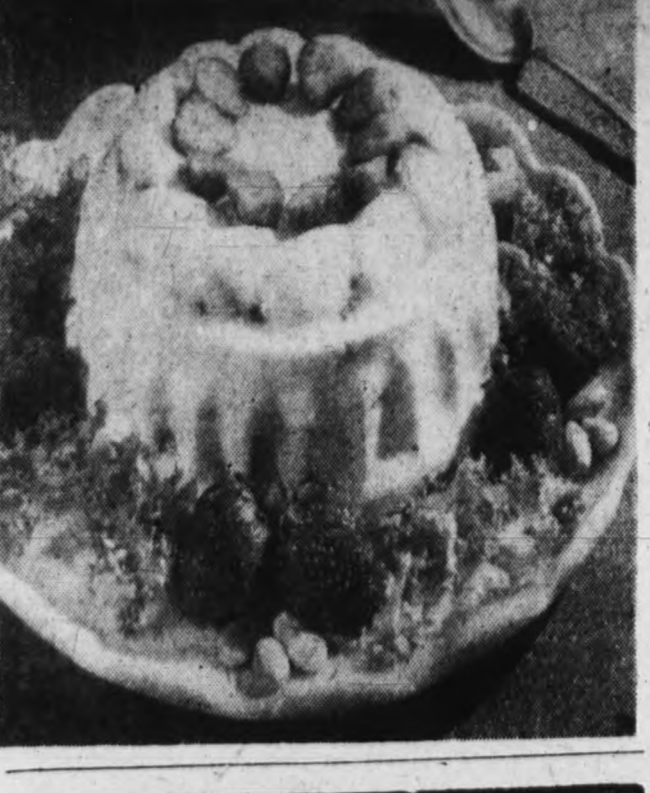

It gives me the greatest happiness to see how well you carry their banner. All of our members are deeply indebted to you for the personal sacrifices you have made, and the risks you have taken, for all of us. May God's blessing be with you, and all of you in Montgomery, as you advance the cause of equality and justice and brotherhood.

With your sweet strength and courage and devotion to all things good—to principle, to our people and all people—you have become in this struggle a protector, a treasure and a symbol of the finest womanhood. Greetings to you, and much love!

AN UNUSUAL SUGGESTION

Oklahoma City, Okla. — Dr. Harold Beddoe, Virginia medical examiner, speaking to a meeting of law enforcement officers, suggested that dentists should be persuaded to inscribe the wearer's initials inside the upper plate of dentures. Beddoe explained that this would be an almost foolproof method of identification of persons burned to death, murdered or otherwise unidentifiable as dentures rarely were destroyed in such circumstances.

THE QUICKSILVER POOL

By Phyllis A. Whitney

NEWLY married Lora accompanied her husband, Wade Tyler, to his family home on Staten Island after nursing him back to health from a serious wound he received while fighting as a Union soldier. She meets Wade's autocratic mother, Amanda Tyler, and Jimmy, son of Wade and his dead first wife, Virginia. Amid the growing tension between Wade's mother and Lora the bride learns that Virginia died by drowning in a pond near the Tyler home. Lora finds Wade mourning for Virginia and asks him to tell her what she was like. After learning more of Wade's earlier life, Lora promises Jimmy a surprise for Christmas. The surprise is a puppy despite the opposition of Wade's mother to having pets in the house. Lora makes the acquaintance of Mrs. Morgan Channing and begins to learn of the relationship between her and the Tylers.

CHAPTER TEN

LORA could find no words when Mrs. Channing revealed that her "gardener" was her father. She made an effort to recover from her surprise and moved again toward the door. But Mrs. Channing turned back.

"Wait a moment!" she cried, and went swiftly toward the end wall of the drawing room where the portrait hung, her black skirts rustling over her wide hoop.

A long green cord with a tassel on the end hung down along one side of the picture. Mrs. Channing reached for it and as she pulled, the velvet draperies parted to reveal the entire portrait. The artist had painted a second woman who sat in a low chair, looking up at the figure in yellow. The second girl wore pale green and she was young and pretty, but with none of the arresting quality of Morgan Channing.

"My sister," Mrs. Channing said.

Lora was too startled to speak. This was Wade's wife; the woman who had come first in his life, the woman he wanted her to resemble. She stared in fascination at the sweet, young face of the girl in pale green. Virginia had light hair with a golden touch to the ringlets about her face. She held an embroidery hoop in her small hands with the needle poised above it, as if she had just paused to look up at her sister.

"I was never very fond of her," Mrs. Channing said carelessly. "She was a silly, rather insipid little thing I never understood what Wade saw in her." The challenging gaze shifted suddenly from the portrait and fixed Lora candidly. "You are nothing at all like Virginia. How did Wade come to get over his great love?"

The suddenness of the question shocked an equally candid answer from Lora. "He wants to think I am like her," she admitted.

Mrs. Channing's unrestrained laugh rang out again. "This may be amusing to watch! Considering your behavior over this puppy. Wade could be in for a jolt one of these days."

"Not if I can help it," said Lora stiffly. Suddenly she wanted to get away from this woman and this room. But Mrs. Channing would not release her so easily. She walked to the door with Lora and opened it.

"We are going to be friends," she said confidently. "I have offended you now. But you'll forgive me in time. You will forgive because you see as direct as I am. Come see me again when that mausoleum becomes too much for you."

"Wade—Serena Lord is giving a party on Christmas even and we are invited. It's to be a dance and late supper." She held the note out to him.

He shook his head. "Naturally, we cannot go."

"But why not?" she asked in surprise. A party and dance at Serena's sounded exciting and lively. A sudden desire for gaiety surged up in her.

"After all," Wade said, "there is a period of mourning to be observed for your father. And I have not felt like indulging in frivolity myself for a long while."

"Papa didn't believe in mourning," Lora told him quickly. "He never wanted me to wear black or go around with a long tace."

She went to him, put light hands on his arm, gently pleading. His eyes softened and he bent to press his cheek against hers.

"You are a wheedling one," he said. "But you have forgotten that I cannot dance, thanks to my leg."

"I won't dance either," she promised. "I'll sit beside you and we'll watch all the bright things that are happening, together. It will be wonderful just to dress up and—"

"Dress up?" he repeated. "But, my dear, you have no gown that would be suitable to wear. Christmas eve is almost upon us and I understand a seamstress cannot be had at this time."

For just a moment her hopes fell. Then she lifted her chin in a gesture of determination.

"I have the material now—that lovely garnet satin which is intended for a party gown. I can make the dress myself. I know just the style I would like. Please let me, Wade."

Lora could not wait to be off to her own room, where she could spread out the rich material on her bed, fanning the shine, the feel, the very smell of it. There was something heady about the scent of new material. She would make herself ever possessed. She would be a credit to Wade at the party, and that would please him, be good for them both.

At dinner Wade mentioned the party casually and Mrs. Tyler expressed some disapproval, but not opposition. Plainly she did not like the idea that Lora meant to make the gown herself, but she was surprisingly moderate in her remarks. But later she hailed Lora to her room and said, "You are still an outsider in this house. A stranger. You have not even begun to integrate yourself with our manner of life. It even seems to me that you are a stranger to my son. I do not

Lawyer Pays Tribute To Hampton Founder

HAMPTON, Va. — (Special) — The main address during the 40th Reunion Banquet of the National Hampton Alumni Association Sunday, June 3, was delivered by Robert Lee Brockenburr, '06, on the subject, "The Hampton-Trained Man: His Mission: His Destiny."

The speaker, a distinguished attorney who has practiced law continuously since his admission to the Bar of the Supreme Court of Indiana in early 1910, paid tribute to General Armstrong, founder of H. T., and particularly to his irascible optimism which "recognized no impossibility when good was the goal." And in his spirit, he called on all, who have lived, worked and aspired together at Hampton — "this demonstration of practicality of the Christian religion and democracy" — to live up to their "responsibility to labor unceasingly for universal first class citizenship in America. But, he admonished, "the spirit of citizenship not only requires us to fight for our rights," but also "to perform our duties."

Relating his experience as an Alternate Delegate to the Tenth Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations in late 1955, Mr. Brockenburr told of the crosscut of civilizations, mankind itself, who met and debated and made decisions in honorable compromise.

The speaker then asked for the further extension of Hampton Institute's demonstration "how good.

Council Of Churches Sending Literary Experts To Africa

NEW YORK - (ANP) - The National Council of Churches announced this week that it would send a team of five experts to Africa this summer to begin a new literary program.

The emphasis, it was noted, would be on the development of African leaders who would in turn teach their fellow Africans how to read. The Council hopes to establish self-perpetuating literary schools operated by the African themselves.

Tanganyika, Kenya, the Belgian Congo, Huanda-Urundi, Egypt, and the Sudan will be the countries where the experts will spend three months in each country.

The languages to be used by the experts in their literary campaign will be Swahili, Irambi and Remi.
