Some 5,000 delegates from all parts of the United States and abroad are expected to attend. They include representatives of every major profession and field of endeavor touching upon the welfare of children and youth. Thousands of them are laymen who have been active in their local communities as parents and will bring their individual points of view and experience to the Conference. About 500 of the delegates will themselves be young people.

"The ultimate value of the Mid-century Conference," Mr. Ewing said, "depends upon the success with which the delegates convert their own recommendations into practical benefits for children and young people."

Nation To Observe Human Rights Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Citizens of the United States and probably of many other nations in the world will observe Dec. 10 as United Nations Human Rights Day.

Lovers of liberty throughout the world will reverse this date because it was on Dec. 10, 1948, that the UN General Assembly voted 48 to 0 to pass the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

In approving this document member nations of the UN announced their faith in basic individual liberties for people all over the world. At present the UN is working on approval of a Covenant on Human Rights to be binding as a treaty on nations that approve.

Heading the international Human Rights Day activities is Jaime Terres, Betet, director general of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization).

American citizens will observe this day on the community, local, state, and national levels. Last year, President Truman officially proclaimed Dec. 10 as the annual

Blues Bowl Tonight--W. C. Handy Here For Annual Classic At Melrose Stadium

Tonight, oldest Negro Bowl game in America will be played in Memphis, commemorating and honoring that great gentleman, W. C. Handy, "Father of the Blues."

The Blues Bowl Classic, now in its twelfth year, will be played between the stalwart Booker T. Washington "Warriors", Memphis, and the equally stalwart Booker T. Washington "Hornets" of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Colorful, festive pre-game ceremonies will feature the renowned "Daddy of the Blues," Handy, with melodious renditions of his celebrated compositions.

As the golden trumpet of Handy resounds throughout the stadium, surely the "Old Timers" will recall the beginning of the blues, the tunes they hummed and whistled during their youth; but they will listen in awe with the first strains of the Memphis Blues.

Just as a refresher, it would be well to set down specific data concerning the blues closest to the hearts of local Memphians, the Memphis Blues. It was back in 1909, a very memorable evening, when the immortal folk song was born. Since that happy night, a million hands have gone to town on the Memphis Blues. A million lips have whistled it soft and low over the air waves, a million eyes have swelled up loud in melodramatic Beale street to a croon that struck in the hidden hearts of Africa.

The great man grew from the racial and economic background of the Negro of Beale street, St. Louis, and Lavelle Junction. The shape it took was the inevitable result of the tempo of urban picking and work songs along the levee. At once the smoky dyes of Beale street rise the Memphis Blues to change the tempo of American music.

The Father of its existence, the 77 year old composer, William C. Handy, who set it down to paper and gave it everlasting voice with his golden trumpet.

Aid just to show folks that the Blues were born on Beale street and not New Orleans' Basin street, mammoth copies of a "Birth Certificate of the Blues" more than two feet in length and signed by Handy, will be formally presented to two white Memphians and three Negroes at pre-game ceremonies. The white Memphians are Norman J. Moore, Sr., investigator for the Shelby County Public Defender's Office, and Robert Talley, of the COMMERCIAL APPEAL staff.

Other recipients are T. L. Spencer, chairman of the Chicago participation of the Beale Street Elks in the National Convention last summer; Rev. Dwight (Gatemouth) Moore, who was chosen as "Mr. Beale Street," and T. L. Lumpkins who went along as "The Prince of Beale Street."

The presentation will be made by Lee Winchester, former county attorney and honorary chairman of "The Oldtime White Friends of Professor Handy."

Christmas Party For Disabled Vets-Kennedy

Plans for a Christmas party for patients at Kennedy Veterans hospital, December 15, were announced recently by Anderson Mitchell, president of the Disabled Benefits Club.

Mitchell, himself a paraplegic veteran, coupled the request for financial aid for the project.

The club was organized by disabled Negro veterans who receive compensation from the government. Its aim is to provide financial aid and a Christmas lift for those who receive hospitalization but no compensation.

The party, jointly sponsored by the club and its advisor, Mrs. Alvin Brock of 1617 Carr, will be for about 400 Negro patients at the hospital. Entertainment will be provided by radio station WDIA stars, Nat Williams, "Hot Rod," Hubert, the Tenn. Towners and the Spirit of Memphis Quartet.

Mitchell said, Earl Eighth, president of Dixie Greyhound, is providing buses to take the entertainers to the hospital. Members of the American Legion Post will take food and presents to patients unable to leave their wards.

The club also hopes to give cigarettes, candy and fruit to each patient, and $10 in cash to each of the 20 paralyzed patients who receive no income.

Mitchell asked that any contributions for the club fund should be sent to Mrs. Beck, 1517 Carr. Checks should be made payable to the Disabled Benefits Club.

Farm Living Costs In All-Time High

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Agriculture Department said Friday that the living expenses on U. S. Farms are at the highest point in history.

Farmers' cost of living as of Nov. 15 was almost one per cent higher than the previous record established in July, 1948.

The Department's announcement came on the heels of a report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to the effect that living cost for the nation as a whole broke the all-time high as of Oct. 15.

But according to the Agriculture Department, farmers' living costs on Oct. 15 were lagging one per cent under the all time high of farm living expenses taken separately from the over-all national average.

The record Mid-November farm cost of level marks the ninth straight month during which expenses have moved upward. Indications are that the trend is not yet at an end.

The biggest increase in living costs from Mid-October to Mid-November was in clothing. The department also said that prices for farm products paid for furniture and furnishings, rose substantially too.

Farmers also paid higher prices for building materials. Food costs, however, were about the same in Mid-November as they were a month earlier.

At the same time, the department said that in Mid-November farmers were receiving the highest price on record for cotton, cottonseed, calves, sheep, lambs and wool.

Higher prices farmers received for those crops forced the index of prices received almost four per cent higher than the Mid-October level.

The index on Nov. 15 stood at 276 per cent of the 1910-14 average. The record for the index is 306.

Dr. Johnson Lauds Gandhi At Bennett College

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(AP)—Dr. Mordcait Johnson, president of Howard university, praised the non-violent methods of the late Mohandas Gandhi here last week in an address before students at Bennett college.

Declaring that the tactics of the late Indian leader were the best kind to win true victories, Dr. Johnson called it "the most constructive approach to better human relations ever devised by man."

Praising Gandhi's stand which led to freedom for India, he said: "This was a war that led somewhere. It was a war carried on without a shot. Gandhi attacked social evil with the dynamite of sweet, quiet, non-conformity."

The Howard president concluded: "Think about Gandhi. His way will become the most important way to handle human relations constructively in this world."

Four persons, including two women and two infant children, lost their lives in their farm home near Holly Springs, Miss., last week. The tragic accident followed the pattern typical of similar one at homes using kerosene. It was pointed out by investigating officers.

Victims were Mrs. Leander Shields, and her two small children; and a visitor in the home, Marie Stinson. Sammie Lee Shields, husband of Mrs. Shields and father of the children, tossed kerosene in an open fire place. Their tenant farm home burned completely before rescue could come.

James "Buster" Carson, former student of Manassas High School, Memphis, states in a letter on Nov. 23 that he is "somewhere in Korea" fighting for his country.

After one year of service he was discharged in the fall of 1947, but remained a civilian only about 10 months before re-enlisting in Sept., 1948. He was sent to Japan sometime last year.

SENTENCE SERMONS

By FRANK CLARENCE LOWRY FOR ANP

ASHAMED OF JESUS?

1. Of all the things that a real Christian must confess, this question proves to be his greatest test.

2. It is an easy thing to follow Christian seclusion and confess allegiance to Him in the church, but quite another thing when Satan in the open makes his brazen approach.

3. It is when he takes you up on a high mountain and offers you every thing around, that is becomes difficult to close your eyes and keep both feet on the ground.

4. But there is but one procedure that will lead a Christian to a safe and happy end; it is when he takes time to be holy and Christ's Holy name defend.

5. Paul was approached from many angles, and at one time easily stopped for gain, but later proclaimed to again saying world that, of the power of the Gospel of Christ, he was not ashamed.

6. He knew that even proud Rome with all of her might and power could not be compared with the power of God embraced in Jesus' Name.

7. He could never forget that memorable day when his false pride and arrogance were about to have full sway, that Christ's miraculous power came down and swept it all away.

8. Who is there then that would think of being ashamed of such a name, in the air, on land or sea, when it is the only name that can give life to the dead and set a weary soul free?

9. But one of the easiest ways Satan has of making men ashamed to confess the name of Jesus, is by enticing them to participate in his worldly pursuits until they become his well-trained recruits.

10. Cocktails, light gambling and common shows as substitutes for the church's open doors, is about the best precooling process he knows.

11. But all of these, plus his worldly gains and fame could not in the slightest degree compare with the might and power in Jesus' Holy Name.

12. Therefore, in commendation of such a Name, and the Gospel it proclaimed, it is no wonder that the mighty Paul should exclaim: "For I am ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek."

Nursery Bowl Gets Endorsement From Civic-Minded Groups

Although the Orange Mound Mound Nursery Bowl classic is played only once a year; the nursery goes on the year round. Civic minded Orange Mound citizens, well wishers of their "pride and joy," express sound views about the success of its existence.

These are the people who stand by the nursery when funds are low and the days look very bleak and dreary. These are the citizens who reach deep into their pockets and always manage to keep the school open for those pre-age children whose mothers must work each day. These are the persons whose hearts are open and veins pulsing when it looks like the end. These are the people who stand together as a wall against invaders and keep it secure for the children and parents who are so dependent upon its being. These are the people who talk the ones who endorse its name.

Charles Coxia of Weona No. 99, 2496 Park Avenue says: "The Nursery Bowl game should be supported as the nursery is important to the community."

Mrs. Lucille Johnson, proprietor of Lucille's Beauty Salon, 2497 Park Avenue, "We must support the Orange Mound Nursery Classic, as working mothers need the assurance that their little ones are being cared for."

S. W. Shaw of Shaw's Sundry and Barbecue Shack, 2349 Park Avenue, "The nursery is one of the best projects in this community."

K and O. Sundry, 2311 Park Avenue, under new management, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Childress, "Although I am new in the community, I am in accord with the Nursery Bowl Classic which benefits Negro children, and I shall visit the nursery as soon as possible."

Townsend Grocery, 1366 Airways, Mr. T. O. Townsend says, "We need more nurseries for Negro children. I wish every success for the Orange Classic."

Dr. W. A. Bission says, "The Orange Mound Day Nursery is a great project and is doing a great work."

Park Avenue Jewelers, Robert Smart, "We need the Orange Mound Nursery to keep the children off the streets. I have watched from my window, and I wish for better facilities for Negro children."

Charles Liquor Store, 2344 Deadrick Street, "We always co-operate with the Orange Mound Classic. The nursery is serving a good purpose out here."

These Majorettes Will High Step For Blues Dad Tonite

"SONGS OF BLACK FOLKS", theme of this year's Blues Bowl Classic which will be played tonight at Melrose Stadium as a tribute to the venerable William C. Handy will be expressed in the varying shades and moods of music composed by Negroes since the days of slavery. There will be the Negro Spirituals, popular numbers, and finally the blues. On the spiritual side of the big show tonight compositions by Miss L. E. Campbell, of the Memphis public schools and nationally known creator of church numbers; but when the music calvacade reaches the blues stage, W. C. Handy will be on hand with his golden trumpet to sound off all the great blues he created while directing a band on Beale St. Singing and playing of the blues will be accentuated and underscored by these four charming majorettes as they high step in front of their respective bands. They are from left, Delores Sherrod, Manassas; Carrie Sharp, Melrose; Elaine Johnson, Hamilton; and Ella Mae Gordon, Booker T. Washington.

Ladies Of Leisure Social Club Holds Harvest Dance

BY MAYE RUTH JOHNSON
The beautiful Foote Home Auditorium located on Mississippi Avenue near Wellington Street, was the scene of a lovely Harvest Dance presented by the Ladies of Leisure Social Club which was organized more than a year ago by the younger group of this city.

This gala affair was held last Thursday night beginning promptly at 11 p. m., and lasting until the wee, wee hours of the morning. More than 250 dance lovers pranced and danced to the sweet Combo music of Tuff Green and his Fiddle. Other visiting clubs seemed to have enjoyed the evening to perfection. The Ladies of Leisure club wishes to thank its many friends who took an interest in attending this affair. Although here was a script charge of $1.00 at the door, the main purpose of the dance was to raise enough money to make a contribution to the Tuberculosis Society which everybody knows is a worthy cause and is badly in need of funds.

Reed shot her through the heart, lungs, and right leg. Taken to John Gaston hospital, she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Inspector Pete Wieberga, head of the Homicide Bureau, said Reed, 56, is being held in city jail on charges of murder and carrying a pistol.

SPORTS OF THE WORLD

By Marion E. Jackson

MIAMI, Fla.—Miami has come up with its own sports FEPC... That is a new deal for minority groups who desire to be active or spectator participants at major sports events.

Thousands of persons from North East and West have been drawn here by sunny skies and warm, lazy winds.

Florida A. and M. inaugurated its series of Orange Blossom classics here in 1947.

SPORTS OFF THE CUFF Stanley Woodward's "Basketball—1951" is on the newsstands.

The odds are against Morris Brown College winning the 1951 BIAA tournament basketball championship.

Athletic directors and coaches will converge on Alabama A. and M. College Friday and Saturday.

Two big games will also hold the attention of the SIAC on December 9 as Morris Brown meets Texas College in Tyler.

NOTES ON SPORTS—Wilberforce State is one of the great names in bowl competition having played promotions in Baltimore, Birmingham, Chicago, Dallas, Wash.

After opening the tour with Millikin, the Steers will tangle with Illinois College at Jacksonville on December 5.

When the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference held its winter meeting in Miami, last year coaches visited Tropical Park, Hialeah and Gulfstream to watch the ponies run.

The Kiwanis Club of Miami had worked hand-in-glove with Florida A. and M. alumni in publishing over the spectacle.

TIPOFF ON SPORTS—One of the great tragedies in sports is the collapse of the joint Negro-white sponsorship of the Orange Blossom Classic.

THE SPORTS GRILL

BY PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The usual rousing gridiron battle is expected in Philadelphia today when Army tangles with Navy for the 51st time since 1890.

Army has won 27 of the 50 games played. Navy 19 1/6 of which were shut-outs and four games were tied.

Yes, the Kaydets and Midshipmen undoubtedly will battle furiously but hardly as furiously as they did in the fourth game of the series back in 1893.

That game was played in Annapolis and by all accounts the boys' tempers were as short as their Gay 90's haircuts were long.

The bitter warfare almost ended football as a sport at West Point. Happily, time soother ruffled feelings and when play was resumed the game was shifted to Franklin Field in Philadelphia.

The annual football struggle has produced sports heroes galore. It also has produced heroes on the battle field from Dennis Michie who played in the first game in 1890 and later gave his life for his country in Cuba during the Spanish-American War down to John Trent, captain of the 1949 Army team, who lost his life the other day while fighting in Korea.

There have been countless hair-raising plays in the long series. In the 1901 game for instance, Harley Daly of Army took the kick-off starting the second half and raced 100 yards for a touchdown.

It was the same year that President Teddy Roosevelt inaugurated the system of changing sides for each half of the game, and succeeding presidents have followed that rule.

The Army scored a top-sided victory in 1903, winning 40-5, a record which stood until last year when Army won, 38-0.

The 1905 game was switched for one year to Princeton, N. J., and ended in a 6-6 tie and a squabble. Trains were late and the last ten minutes of the game had to be cancelled because of Darkness.

There was no Army-Navy game in 1906. Army cancelled the last four games that year after Eugene Byrne, Army tackle, was killed in the game with Harvard.

Navy won the 1910 and 1911 games, 3-0, on fields goals by Jack Dalton, and in 1925 they played a 21-21 tie before a record 110,000 in Chicago.

What will today's game bring?

ATLANTA, Georgia—(SNS)—The Morehouse College Maoroon Tigers will touch off the 1950-51 basketball season in Atlanta, Saturday night, when they match shots with the strong Texas State University cagers, of Houston, Texas.

Tip-off time will be 8 p. m., at the Morehouse Gymnasium.

This will mark the first appearance of the Texas State cagers in the Gate City and local followers of the bouncing ball are anxious to see them in action.

Latest word from the Lone Star State is that Basketball Coach Edward H. Adams and Claude George will floor an array of talented shot-makers.

The congenial Morehouse mentor is building his new hardwood machine around Edward Bruce Phillips, sharp-shooting and high scoring forward of the team which finished last year's pre-tournament grind with a 6-7 won and lost record for a 46.2 percentage.

Also striving for berths on the starting five are George Ross, the 1940-50 freshman sensation; Bertram Sears along with the Jackson Brothers, Clifford and Wiley.

Among the reservists expected to see a plenty of action this year are Schelly Lipscomb, Thomas Collier, Bobby Jones, Jose Ananias and William Leggett.

Cornelius Davis, sophomore and graduate of Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, N. C. has been looking good in the daily workouts and may land a berth on the squad.

Also showing promise are Daniel Stephens, St. Emma Military, Roscoe Thompson and B. J. Johnson, Jr., of Atlanta.

Coach Forbes Works Tossers Overtime For 1950-51 Grind

Candidates for the Morehouse basketball team have been working out daily for the past three or four weeks, and since cancellation of a game with the Hampton Pirates, tentatively booked with the Hampton Pirates for December 6, Head Basketball Coach Frank L. Forbes speeded up the tempo of their drills in preparation for the tilt with Texas State.

Chuck Dressen, New Dodger Pilot, Gets Second Major League Chance

By JOHN BARRINGTON

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"It's just like coming home again," said little Chuck Dressen as he signed to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951.

And as much as any baseball player can claim a home anywhere, Brooklyn is "home" to Dressen. As a Dodger coach, Chuck spent most of eight seasons in Brooklyn—longer than he ever stayed put anywhere during a diamond career that began in 1919.

FLASHBACKS IN SPORTS—Charles Walter (Chuck) Dressen, one of the smallest men in baseball, has managed to stick around for more than 30 years because he also is one of the game's most astute and most aggressive figures.

Now, at 52, Little Chuck Dressen gets his second chance to manage a big league club as he "comes home" to Brooklyn.

More than that, Dressen comes close to being the prototype of what most people think of when the word "Dodger" is mentioned. The 52-year-old native of Decatur, Ill., was one of the smallest men in baseball, standing five-feet, six-inches and weighing 140 pounds during his playing career.

On top of that Little Chuck, who originally wanted to be a pitcher but wound up a third baseman, injured his throwing arm at the outset of his major league career. It never was strong thereafter.

In order to stay in baseball, Dressen had to make up in "hustle, aggressiveness and brain-power" what he lacked physically. Add to that his natural color, and you have Mr. Dodger.

As a matter of fact, those same positive qualities enabled Chuck to have a fling at professional football. Back home in Decatur in 1918, he was quarterback of "George Halas' Staleys—the team that later became the Chicago Bears."

Halas played end on that team and Jimmy Conzelman was a half-back. One of the most famous incidents in Dressen's career came in 1933, when Chuck—who was managing Nashville in the Southern Association—was snatched up by the New York Giants as infield insurance for their September drive to the National League pennant.

In the World Series, the Giants met the Washington Senators. Getting into extra innings in the fourth game, the Nats called upon their third-string catcher, Cliff Bolton. A .410 hitter that season as a pinch batter with one out and the bases full.

Manager Bill Terry ordered the Giant infield to play in on the grass, hoping to cut off a run at the plate. Dressen came charging from the dugout.

"No, no, Bill," he told the non-plussed Terry. "Tell them to play back for a double play. I know this guy from when he was at Chattanooga. He can't run."

Terry took his utility infielders' advice, Bolton grounded into a double play, and the Giants eventually won the game and series.

The following July, Larry McPhail remembered the little hustler and called him up to take over the Cincinnati Reds, who were complacently nestled in last place.

By gosh, you ought to know! 1935 and fifth in 1936, but the next season they dropped back to the cellar and Dressen was replaced.

Subsequently, there came his coaching stint with the dodgers, two uncomfortable seasons as a New York Yankee coach ("I'm just a National League at heart," Chuck admitted), and last season a pennant at Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

If there is one thing at which Dressen excels, it is stealing opposition signals. In 1939, Leo Durocher, a notoriously weak hitter, had one of his best batting averages—a surprisingly robust .277.

Said Durocher: "I'm hitting 150 and Dressen is hitting the rest."

Thus it wasn't surprising that Chuck's first announcement as Dodger manager concerned his intention of coaching third base.

That was bad news for opposing batteries. Baseball veterans still recall when Chuck was called upon to coach third in an all-star game.

The question of signals arose. Dressen said blandly: "Use any

19,317 See Rattlers Lose In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, FLA.—Wilberforce State's Green Wave football team surged over Florida A and M College 13-7 by capitalizing on a blocked kick and a timely pass interception to win the 18th Annual Orange Blossom Classic before 19,317 fans Saturday night in the Orange Bowl.

The Greens upset-win over the heavily-favored Rattlers somewhat tarnished Florida A and M's national championship ranking. The Rattlers had won 6, tied 1 prior to this Orange Bowl debacle, but the record-breaking crowd-largest in Orange Blossom Classic history—saw the Oleanos spill Coach A. S. (Jake) Galtier's dream of a perfect season.

It was a bitter pill for the Rattlers to swallow. Since the game was switched to Miami in 1947, Florida A and M has chalked up only a 7-0 win over Hampton Institute in the inaugural game of the Orange Bowl Series. Since then the Rattlers have dropped three in a row by losing to Virginia Union 38-18, in 1948 and North Carolina A and T 20-14 in 1949, and Saturday 13-7 heart-breaker was perhaps the most grievous loss of all.

The Rattlers saw three scoring bids in the first quarter, one that carried to within inches of the goal, nullified by heads-up defensive play on the part of the Greens.

Florida A and M hit paydirt in the second quarter as Halfback Oscar Norman hurdled over a mass of defensive Wilberforce linemen to score from a yard away—Norman then targeted a perfect placement through the uprights.

This 74-yard drive was engineered behind Jasper Saunders, Lymus Burgess and Bernard Stephens. The drive started when Saunders returned a punt to the 26. Leroy Cromartie passed to Robert Mungen, who later to Costa Kittles to move the oval to 42. Oscar Norman ramed his way to the Greens' 48. Saunders then blasted his way to the 13. Three successes smashed by Norman, Burgess and Stephens carried to the 1. It was from this vantage point that Norman scored.

The Green Wave engulfed the Rattlers in the third period. Lymus Burgess tried to get away a quick kick from his own 35. Fred Lewis broke through to block the punt and seeing he could not pick it up because of several Florida Players rushing in on him, adroitly dribbled the oval almost 15 yards before falling on it.

When the Rattlers finally nailed him down the ball was resting on the 21-yard. This was a golden chance for the Wilberforce eleven and they utilized it effectively.

Horace White, a bold-running backfield member, riveted his way to the 16. Sidney Parker made it to the 6 in a couple of goaldward forays. Parker then circumscribed a perfect strike to Paul Clark in the end zone. Adam Scott laced a strike between the uprights and the score was deadlocked.

The clincher came about two minutes later. The Rattlers' Johnny Arnold, a freshman halfback terror who raised havoc with the Greens' line returned the kickoff to the 35.

On the first play Quarterback Alkin Heppburn tried an uncovered pass in the flat which careened the boom of Bill Stewart, 190-pound Wilberforce sophomore, who spun 35-yards unmolested to score. Adam Scott this time missed his try for the extra point, but it made no difference as Wilberforce State hung on doggedly to win.

The Rattlers came out of the 18th Annual Orange Blossom Classic for the best in statistics even though on the short end of the score. The Rattlers threatened

"Big Bertha" Edwards Named Kentucky State Coach

Randy Taylor Ousted In Athletic Shakeup

FRANKFORT, Ky. - In moves designed to strengthen the Athletic Department State College, George (Big Bertha) Edwards has been named head Football Coach to succeed C. Randolph (Randy) Taylor, according to an announcement by President R. B. Atwood. Contract held by Coach Taylor expires at end of current school year. William (Bill) Exum has been named Athletic Director, a post vacant for the past several years, beginning next school year.

James Brown has been named Assistant Basketball Coach for the 1959-60 season. C. Randolph (Randy) Taylor has been retained as Track Coach for the coming season. Edwards comes to the post of Head Coach fully prepared and has had a large background of experience, both as player and coach. In Englewood High School of Chicago he was a five-star man, excelling in five major sports—football, basketball, track, baseball and wrestling. He was All-City, All-Chicago and All-State H.S. tackle. He was on the All-City Baseball Team and was undefeated in wrestling. In his freshman year at Kentucky State College he made the Pittsburgh Courier All-American Team as half back. In his senior year at K. S. C. he was Captain of the team and was named Captain of the All-American Team. He was a member of the team both years Kentucky State won the National Championship. He coached basketball at Russellville, Kentucky, winning 64 titles while losing 11. His team won the district championship twice and the tri-state championship once. He was Head Football Coach at DuSable High School, Chicago, for two years. Since 1947 he has been Backfield Coach at Kentucky State College, his Alma Mater, and Head Baseball Coach since 1950. Edwards is a graduate of Kentucky State College, and expects to receive his Master's Degree in Physical Education this winter from the University of Kentucky. Edwards is married and has three young sons.

William (Bill) Exum is a product of Froebel High School, Gary, Indiana, and was a track and football star at that school. He was on the All-Indiana High School Team, and was state and national high school quarter-miler. At the University of Wisconsin Exum was a star half back on the varsity team.

He has coached at Bethune-Cookman College, Morehouse College and Lincoln University of Missouri. He is Acting Head of the Department of Physical Education at Kentucky State College. He is married and has one son. James Brown is a product of Frankfort, Kentucky, Lincoln University (Pa.) and Columbia University.

He has had outstanding success in coaching basketball, developing several championship teams. He is Executive Secretary of High School Athletics of the State of Kentucky and is Instructor of Chemistry at K. S. C. He is married and has two sons. Fletcher whose Richmond High School teams won three state championships during his coaching tenure there, and whose Kentucky State teams have won several conference championships. His Kentucky State basketballers are now defending champions of the Midwestern Conference.

Beating The Gun

BY ALVIN MOSES

BASKETBALL'S PROBLEM CHILD? ???

NEW YORK—(ANP)— We think that Joe Lopchick, coach of the N. Y. Knickerbockers feels that way about the great colored court sensation, Nathaniel (Sweetwater) Clifton soft-spoken ex-Harlem Globetrotters acquisition. As we often comment here in this space, the lightly referred to "black man's burden" still remains something to be erased but good, from the sports field as well as other brackets of western hemisphere life.

AFRAID TO LET GO

Leonard Scheeter, forthright writer of the N. Y. Post, recently set forth Mr. Lopchick's keen disappointment in Sweetwater's play up to the tussle with the Indianapolis Olympians.

It is alleged that Clifton confessed he has been afraid to "throw his weight around" in the rough NBA due to no other reason than the color of his skin. Quoting the sky-lined courtier, himself, it is this: "I felt that I ought to play a clean game. I didn't think I should be rough. I didn't want—well, you know, being colored I didn't want anyone to have anything to say about the way I played."

All of which has added up to continued lost games by the Knicks and sleepless nights for Lopchick.

Now this is not in the American tradition.

BODY CONTACT GAMES, ROUGH

Nearly all you readers readily understand and sympathize with the Clifton point of view. I stand with coach Lopchick, however, who has said to the nearly seven-foot tall ball handler, "get in there and pitch, letting the chips fall where they will."

A retiring Clifton, one virtually on the "pardon-my-glove" side, a "palace" who paradoxically enough "rides a hard-upon-him" turns a $15,000 asset into a team liability.

It's the same sort of "Negrophobia" Jackie Robinson and other colored amateurs and professionals faced, that Sweetwater ponders over. Basketball is a game of body contact. It is contested today with race horse endurance and speed from whistle to whistle. American kids even back in my early youth always brushed against each other. We were knocked down and smilingly got up. After flicking off the dirt, we plunged on into the thick of the play—brushing white-colored opponent with no foul play whatsoever in our hearts.

the Blues Bowl Classic as well as other noteworthy events. Revival of band music in the local high school may be greatly accredited to Prof. McDaniel, who came to Memphis about ten years ago to take over the assignment of organizing a band at Washington High School following a successful career in Tupelo, Miss., with his prep school bands. For several years he trained students in band music at Booker Washington and Manassas. The coming of Prof. M. T. Garrett, West Virginia State College graduate, marked the beginning of a new era of band music for the northside school. Prof. Greene, native Memphis youth, and LeMoyné graduate, had already established a reputation as an orchestra leader before joining the faculty staff at Melrose on a few weeks ago.

The four bands of the Memphis school system made lasting impressions during the West Tennessee Educational Congress in Jackson, Tenn., last month.

LINCOLN UPSETS HOWARD: The Lincoln University Lions of Oxford, Pa., went into the forty-fifth renewal of the oldest Negro intercollegiate football series which dates back to 1894. A ten-point underdog, Lincoln scored twice in the last five minutes to beat Howard 21 to 20, and end the latter's four-game winning streak. Howard's T-tackle Harold Davidson of Yonkers, N. Y., smashes through to score the Bisons second touchdown. On the play, running interference is Alonzo Williams (17). Lincoln halfback and team Capt. LOS ANGELES—(ANP)— The city of Los Angeles last week honored Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Nobel Peace Prize winner for 1950, by placing his picture on all transportation passes. The photograph of the famed United Nations leader was purchased by riders of the Los Angeles Transit Lines. It appeared in the left hand corner.

Use of Dr. Bunche's picture was the idea of Mrs. Ethel A. Dunn, local civic and church leader. Calvin Bailey etched the likeness to Dr. Bunche, copying it from a recent portrait.

Passes went on sale the night of Saturday, Nov. 25 and remained on sale throughout the week. Mrs. Dunn worked alone in influencing the transit officials to use the picture of the noted diplomat.

Colorful Ceremonies At 3rd Nursery Bowl, Melrose Stadium

PRE-GAME AND HALF-TIME ceremonies brought the third annual Nursery Bowl football classic to a new high in interest and enthusiasm last Thursday night, November 30th in Melrose Stadium. Coronation of the Nursery Queen, performance by two prep school bands with their strutting majorettes, raffling off tickets to determine winner of television set, presentation of the beautiful Paul The Tailor Trophy to the winning team coupled with brief remarks by visiting personalities were combined to make for a night of stirring events.

In top scene, Paul Vescovo, owner of Paul The Tailor Clothing Store, Beale and South Third, presents the handsome and large trophy. Gathered around the young Beale Street merchant who has become popular with Negroes for his cooperative efforts are three grid players of Melrose Golden Wildcats, host team in the Nursery Bowl, and two members of Lincoln High School, East St. Louis, Illinois, guest team. Included among players are Melrose's football Captain Selmo Jones, and Co-Captain Arthur Boga. The trophy went to Melrose for its decisive 38 to 19 victory over Lincoln High.

Bottom scene: Nursery Bowl Queen Clemmie Bosley adds her regal splendor to this setting of pre-school aged youngsters attending the Orange Mound Nursery. ## Louis Wants To Fight Again While He's Still In Shape

CHICAGO, Illinois — Joe Louis, who overcame his old age and his opponent's youth to win a 10-round decision over Cesar Brion, lay on a dressing table Wednesday night and said he wants to fight again as soon as possible while "I'm still in shape."

That shape was not good enough to kayo the courageous Argentine who hurt his hand in the second round but the one time world champion said he was satisfied to win the unanimous decision. Louis said:

"I want two or three more fights to get into the proper condition and then if I'm in good enough shape I'll think about fighting Ezzard Charles again."

"I wasn't tired at the end of the 10 rounds but my timing was way off during the fight. I couldn't get any combination of punches going."

The long reigning ex-world champion described Brion as a "good and tough boy." But he said the 23-year-old larruping Latin did not hurt him at any time.

Through an interpreter, Brion said he never was hurt much but remarked:

"This was the toughest fight I ever had."

Ray Arcel, veteran trainer who has sent 13 men out to fight the Brown Bomber, said he thought his latest charge gave a good account of himself but was "a little awed by the name Joe Louis."

Brion and his trainers claimed he would have made a better showing in a longer fight because he was slow to start.

Louis banged the 23-year-old South American with a Jack Hammer Jab from the very first round and until Brion's nose looked like a ripe cherry and his face a hideous left-over red mask from Halloween.

Joe was credited with seven of the ten rounds. He lost only the fourth and the ninth by small margins. The sixth was even.

Midway in the second round Louis began his familiar stalk. He shuffled forward with deadpan seriousness, and the incredible picture seemed like a flashback movie of the 1930's.

A moment earlier, Joe toyed with his opponent just as he could have 13 years ago when he was champion and Brion a 10-year-old child.

A right by Brion, however, landed on Louis' jaw. The sting angered Old Joe and his rage suddenly turned him into the Brown Bomber of old. He staggered Brion with a volley of lefts and rights. But the young fellow from south of the border backtracked quickly. Shufflin' Joe just could not move in fast enough for the coup de grace.

Louis shot a straight left to Brion's jaw in the fifth and Brion's knees started to buckle like those of a well-bent cowboy. Again Joe was unable to catch the retreating Brion.

These were Louis' only chances for a knockout. Brion bobbed and weaved most of the remaining rounds and bore in close to Louis' chest to avoid any sleep inducing blows.

Yuletide Revue At Handy Theatre December 14th

With the major and minor league baseball meetings now being held around the country as well as our own Negro American league sessions—it's time to also hit the bases with our own Negro Delta Baseball School. We really hit the bases with the inauguration of this great school last season, which afforded all Negro baseball prospects an opportunity to display talents and also a chance to move into Negro- or organized baseball.

Naturally, your author being one of the founders of the Delta Baseball School, is bubbling over with pride over last season's accomplishments and the many chances we gave our own Negro youth to join the great National Pastime. Take for instance, Joe Henry, who turned into a great "Joe" at second base for the Memphis Red Sox; Ollie Brantley, the promising young right-hander, who flashed as one of my leading hurlers in our march to the first Negro American League Championship in more than 10 years. And we can't forget Satch McGowan, another portside moundman who had a sizzling reason with the famed New York Black Yankees and Johnny Washington, speedy shortstop of the New Yorkers, and who also is one of our own Memphians. All of these diamond performers are alumni members of the first annual Delta Negro School which opened in Greenville, Mississippi last season and the second annual DNS will officially get under way on March 1, 1951. Additional plans and information will be announced through THE MEMPHIS WORLD in the future.

In getting off the bases for a minute, we would like to doff our caps to Marry Brescia, Red Sox publicity director, and our associate in the organization of the first baseball school to be organized for Negro-

Truth May Cause Trouble

The search for truth is the greatest activity of human beings but it is often shackled by the tendency of individuals to become wedded to convictions that become dearer than truth itself.

Let us assume, for example, that some citizen makes a great discovery, hitherto unknown to men and women. It is epochal, we assume, and the thinker announces it to the world.

One would expect human beings to receive the information with open minds, test it by logic and experience and then embrace it with enthusiasm. Unfortunately, that is not the way of the world.

Here is what would be likely to happen: Some people would think that it might interfere with their business profits. They would denounce the discoverer as a Communist, immediately.

Others would see in the enunciated principle some challenge to their established positions in economics, sociology, religion, or other fields. They would pounce upon the thinker with all the glee of a dog chasing a rabbit.

So the process would go for decades before the truth would find itself welcome on the globe.

Readers may think this is far-fetched. They should read what happened in earlier ages to the great men who attempted to lead the minds of men along new paths of truth, in the field of science or religion. They should remember that human nature has not changed very much in the ages since man began to walk the earth.

Now there is nothing to be gained by denouncing human beings for being foolish. All that any individual can do, for himself or herself, is to resolve to be open-minded, to eagerly await the revelations that are yet to come and to stand ready, upon proper occasion, to discard the fondled half-truth for the truth that is eventually destined to make men free.

DON'T LET DEATH TAKE YOUR HOLIDAY

"Don't Let Death Take YOUR Holiday!"
George E. Miller, President of the Tennessee Safety Council, today issued this warning to the motoring and walking public as part of the Council's December 3rd campaign.
Don't Forget The Yuletide Revue At Handy's Dec. 14th

Merle M. Director of Public Safety for the city of Oak Ridge, explained today.

Contributing in no small part to this brand of annual highway murder," Mr. Miller said, "is the havoc caused by the drinking driver! In 1946, for instance, the National Safety Council estimated that about 5,000 fatal traffic accidents in the nation involved a driver who had been drinking!"
"The fact that drinking impairs driving skill to a dangerous degree," the Council President stated "has, of course, been long known. A recent study of this subject in Sweden, for example, substantiated our suspicions that the consumption of three or four bottles of beer will lessen the driving skill of an expert driver by about 25 to 30 per cent. And we don't have to go to Sweden to find those same results!"

The best policy for insuring an enjoyable, safe holiday season the Council President said, is by driving with one thought firmly in mind: that the man who has been drinking lowers his chances of survival to ridiculous odds the moment he takes a steering wheel in hand.

Mr. Miller urged all citizens of Tennessee to cooperate with the Jaycees and the Tennessee Safety Council in an all-out effort to make the roads and streets safer during December and the holiday season. He urged all public officials and law enforcement officers to strive for better enforcement of traffic laws for the safety of all those who must drive or walk.

tended its cotton wastes. The agriculture department said that export licenses now are required for exports of all types of cotton wastes. An official said the measure was taken to "prevent expansion" of overseas shipments, not to curtail them.

An export allocation of 15 million pounds was established for cotton card strips, comb wastes and all other soft wastes for the period between Dec. 1, 1950 and March 31, 1951.

Export licenses are required for hard wastes, consisting of yarns and threads, including wiping, but no specific export quota was established.

I SAW HATE

In this curious world of ours, with so many of us confused with the newspapers, radios, commentators, magazines and propaganda being disseminated by the various pressure groups, attempting to mold public opinion and confuse the issues, so many lose sight of the fact that the only ISM that counts is AMERICANISM.

The Negro problem has been exploited in the good old USA by many, many people, particularly politicians, and in many instances individuals, who, in trying to win favor with the colored people, claim to be their friends, and yet, when not in their presence, talk out of the side of their mouths, in an entirely different strain.

As an individual, living here in the good ole South, in Tennessee, for many long years, I have always felt that I have acclaimed myself to the southern viewpoint, that in every respect the Negro is justly entitled to the Freedom of speech, Freedom of Religion, and Freedom of OPPORTUNITY, and let it go at that, without stressing too much, a collateral issue as to the right or wrongs of segregation, feeling that perhaps the Negro, in the splendor of his own race, would in most instances prefer to be left alone and to prefer the association of his own people, when coming to social matters rather than be thrust in the presence of those who may have any anti social ideas on the subject, and thusly, in the South, not to make too much of an issue of same.

However, it had never dawned upon me, that with the variance in degree, of the attitudes of different persons that there would be ones who were psychologically or mentally sick to the point, that they would have a degree of hatred as to almost amount to a phobia.

In the last several days, I have had the fortunate or unfortunate experience to have been drawn into a political argument with a man, who has spoken so forcefully and with such extreme terms, so far as the colored race is concerned, that I thought it might be enlightening to bring this to the fore, so that those intelligent members of your people might understand that such sick mentally people, (who are not classified legally as crazy but merely eccentric or opinionated, have to be dealt with in some reasonable manner to offset the prejudicial and damaging statements that they may be spreading.

This man, in substance, in his warped views, stated that the ultimate purpose of the NAACP and other similar Negro organizations was, to create sexual relationships between the colored and the white people, so as to break down the bars of the races, and that all other matters were merely collateral and leading up to same.

That all of the various magazines such as LIFE, TIME, SATURDAY EVENING POST, and others, were acting as disseminating agents in the encouraging of this doctrine. He lauded Westbrook Pegler to the skies, and that the most fitting language so far as Eleanor Roosevelt was concerned, stating that she was the principal exponent of this doctrine, publicly being seen and embracing some of your people, and that he would devote a great deal of his time and money, printing pamphlets against these periodicals and others, encouraging segregation.

In my own simple way, I told him that it was my opinion that Mrs. Roosevelt was one of the greatest women that America had ever produced and that, in her outstanding position on the United Nations, that she spoke for the women of America, and her statements and actions, of her liberal attitude, were reflected to the other nations in the U. N., and helped in the democratic attitude of the other many nations of the earth, taking into consideration that the colored population of the world is approximately 60 per cent or better, and that if we were ever to have a global war, or a war with Russia, that good will would be of a limitless value to us, in gaining their assistance.

I further attempted to bring out the fact that with the tremendous colored population that exists in America today, her actions and thoughts, exclusively of being her own personal views, also affected the feelings of the colored people in America in knowing that their brother Americans of the white race have a respectful and tolerant attitude towards them, in all matters.

We all know that there are people here in this country, some of them represent foreign interests, that would take the poor and unfortunate, and those who are in the lower group, of your economic scale, and try to exploit their feelings and thoughts by making derogatory remarks about the treatment of the Negro in this country to draw them into their own cause.

This is the same plan that is being used all over the world by Russia and her agents in China, France, and many other countries, to gain members to join their ranks, and delude these simple people, into believing that it is to the race's best interests, to destroy all that our people fought so hard for to create the ideals and principles.

How unfortunate, therefore, that bigots and crackpots, in their raging deluded outbursts, serve the very interests that they decry, when they willfully go out and create disharmony and hatred amongst all of our people.

This message is written in the sincere hope that when any of the colored people are approached by questionable characters and the seeds of dissension may be attempted to be sputtered amongst them, that they have the courage and intelligence to tell their pastor, or report the matter to the FBI, or tell their local newspaper about same, so that they may be discovered and the proper measures taken to eliminate these destructive acts.

The record of the leading members of your race, in war or peace, speaks for itself. Any man who would spread anti-race propaganda, whether against the colored or the white, does a disservice to his country and is not truly at heart a good American.

Men of the character such as Westbrook Pegler and others like future eating on carrion, have been harping day after day on the great and honored former president, Franklin D. Roosevelt (who has done more to advance the spirit of liberalism to the colored people than any man except Abraham Lincoln), and has been attacking him and everything that he has built up, knowing in his perverted mind, that the dead cannot answer the many charges and outrageous statements that he has issued, to sully his name. Only a mental coward, who would wish to flaunt his papers, for the sake of sensationalism and getting large sums for his poisonous outpourings, would have the temerity to take such steps. Let your people take courage and answer to the newspapers and magazine pouring out such filth, and vocally decry and protest at the defiling of this man's good name and his family.

I sincerely hope that the colored people will take heart and disregard the actions of a few cranks and earnestly feel, that by and large, the masses of the people, in the South as well as the rest of the country, feel for the betterment of the colored race, and wish to do all that can be done to advance their standing in their communities and as a people as an individual, wherever they may be, and amity amongst the various groups and minorities.

Perhaps some expression of your people, either an answer to this article and to the other media of publications would be a good thing, and of constructive value.

P. S. I forgot to mention when I got through he called me a Communist and I laughed at him. With best wishes, I am

Uproar Results In Jamaica Over Emperor Selassie

By WILBERT E. HEMMING
KINGSTON, Jamaica—(ANP)—
Pastor R. C. Lawson, head of the Ethiopian World Federation in New York and of a church congregation there, touched off a freak pandemonium in Jamaica's Duke Street Progressive Hall last week, when he told a backward bearded cult of "Rastafarians" that Ethiopia's "Emperor Haile Selassie is not God."

They wear long unsharpened and flowing unshaved beards. Members of the cult subject Bishop Lawson to a rapid fire of questions among them. "Is Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia and conquering lion of Judah, God?"
"No," replied the pastor. "The emperor himself prays to Almighty God, three times daily."
Vainly, the Bishop appealed for quietude. The brethren became belligerous. Later when semblance of order was restored, an attempt was made to examine some of the prospective immigrants. But the cult was still indignant at the reproach of their "faith." So the meeting was brought to an abrupt end.
